CALLS VETO OF POSTAL CLERKS' SALARY BILL BY PRESIDENT COOLIDGE MEANEST TO COME OUT OF WHITE HOUSE.

MAYOR CURLEY, IN ADDRESS AT LAWRENCE, BITTERLY SCORES AS MOST UNJUST THE ACT WHICH DENIED TO A PATIENT, LOYAL GROUP OF CITIZENS AND THEIR FAMILIES A FAIR, LIVING, AND SAVING WAGE.

Mayor Curley, speaking before the postoffice employees at Lawrence June 15, bitterly scored President Coolidge for failure to grant to letter carriers the increase in pay provided for in bill passed by Congress. He said in part:

I know of no body of workers, public or private, that come into more intimate touch with the American people than the employees of the United States Postal Service. Day after day, year in and year out, the heavy-laden letter carrier comes to our homes and offices, smiling and cheerful, bringing us the letters and the news that affect our fate and fortunes, our business and happiness. No class of men in the public service is better known. Everybody knows the long hours and constant labor of the letter carrier; in all and every kind of weather he comes to our doors laden like a pack horse; everybody is his friend and he is everybody's friend. The little children hail him and the frisking dogs run to him; he is the best known man in every neighborhood in the broad republic from city street to country pike; his name is legion; useful, regular, constant, he is part and parcel of our daily life; there are 300,000 of him scattered up and down the United States and there are 120,000,000 people interested in him, and concerned about his work and welfare. Everybody knows this plodding, cheery man in gray, who tramps from door to door. He is a fine combination of physical strength, mental intelligence and constant courtesy. To the majority of our democracy he is the United States Government, for he is the only visible representative of it they come in contact with; they respect him and like him; they wish him well and want him well treated, for the letter carrier is a man of the people.

All through the broad land the people have gone to their representatives in Congress and said to them, "The letter carrier is the most poorly paid man in the government service; he is hard put to it to keep his home and raise his family in decency and self-respect and we want our representative to remedy this neglect and provide for him as a rich and powerful government should provide for its useful and worthy servants."

The people asked for it; Congress translated this wide public demand into the legislation called the Kelly-Edge Bill and passed it by handsome majorities with Senate and House; and in the teeth of a popular mandate President Calvin Coolidge vetoed the bill, and instead of the bread that was asked for the letter carrier and his little ones he gave them a stone.

It is one of the meanest and most unjust vetoes that has come out of the White House in years; it is another of those financial injustices inflicted on the plain people upon which President Coolidge has sought to build up a sham reputation for patriotism and political courage in the name of a cold and calculating economy. The application of the peculiar thrift of the President is variable; for letter carriers, disabled veterans, widows and orphans and those who have no influence or weight in banks and stock exchanges it becomes political penury; it fades away when it is in contact with protected industries, bogus welfare and educational schemes, international banking demands and the urgent needs of greasy grafters and powerful plunderers.

Translated into plain language Coolidge economy means "Millions for the rich and powerful, not one cent for the common people, who merely work and serve." Let us examine this bill, its purpose, and its strangulation by the cool, calculating Coolidge veto.

The Kelly-Edge Bill was widely advertised as an increase of salary for some 300,000 postal employees, the average increase being set at $300. What the bill was really intended to do was to readjust the salaries of the postal employees, so that every dollar paid them by the government would be a real dollar worth 100 cents. When these salaries were fixed in other days the dollar was worth 100 cents; but while the face of the dollar is still 100 cents, its purchasing power is only 69 cents. And what you can buy for your dollar is its real value. The food, clothing and shelter that cost a dollar in 1914 when the war started, cost $1.43 today, and the purpose of the Kelly-Edge Bill was to give the postal em-

CHICAGO POSTAL CLERKS, IN LETTER TO MAYOR CURLEY, SCORE LODGE FOR COLDNESS IN MATTER OF PAY BILL.

Mayor Curley received the following communication on June 19:

CHICAGO, June 17, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—We wish on behalf of the 3,700 members of Local No. 1, and the 350,000 postal employees throughout the country to express our sincere thanks to you for the noble spirit you manifested in extending the key of welcome to that grand old warrior and champion of the cause of the working man and the brave patriotic defenders of our country, the Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge.

We believe the same chilly feeling from which he suffered and the lack of regard for the welfare and comfort of more than a million dependent wives and children was the cause of the defeat of our pay increase bill.

Yours sincerely,

CHICAGO POST OFFICE CLERKS' UNION,
LOCAL NO. 1, NATIONAL FEDERATION OF POST OFFICE CLERKS.

CARL G. TAFLE,
P. S. McHUGH,

STRIKE ON CITY WORK ENDS.

Following a day of conference at City Hall Thursday and with contractors, Secretary Johnson of the Building Trades Council informed Mayor Curley that the strike on many city contracts, which has been in operation for a week, have ended and the men returned to work Friday morning.

The basis of settlement is an agreement that the prevailing wage shall be paid on all future contracts, for teamsters, laborers and mechanics, and that contractors now at work on jobs for the city shall observe the union schedules.

The strike has caused much embarrassment to the various city departments, but upon all contracts where there is a specific time limit the time will be extended as necessary.

Mayor Curley has addressed the department heads as follows:

"As a result of conference held with the representatives of the Building Trades Council of the A. F. of L., an agreement was reached by which all future contracts awarded by municipal departments shall contain a provision that the prevailing rate of wages be paid, not only to teamsters and mechanics but also to laborers.

BUNKER HILL DAY EXHIBITION AT THE BOSTON PUBLIC LIBRARY.

To commemorate the anniversary of Bunker Hill Day, there was arranged in the Barton Room at the Boston Public Library an exhibition of manuscripts, documents and broadsides relating to the battle.

The resolution of the Committee of Safety to Defend the Hill—drawn up two days before the battle, at the headquarters in Cambridge—was perhaps the most interesting among the exhibited papers. "Whereas it appears of Importance to the Safety of this Colony, that possession of the Hill called Bunker's Hill in Charlestown, be securely kept, and defended; . . . therefore Resolved Unanimously that it be recommended to the Council of War, that the above mentioned Bunker's Hill be maintained by sufficient force being posted there . . ." runs the manuscript, in the hand writing of J. Ward, secretary of the committee.

A letter by Gen. Israel Putnam, written on the morning of the day of the battle, was the next piece in the exhibition case. The general notifies the Committee on Supplies at Watertown of the sending to them of "Eighteen Barrels of powder which he received from the Gov. & Council of Connecticut for the use of the Army . . ." etc. This letter belongs to the Chamberlain autograph collection of the library. Bound in the volume are many original notes by Col. William Prescott, who shared the command at Bunker Hill with General Putnam. Some of these little notes were written during the actual fight containing orders or asking for more guns and powder.

Among the printed documents the broadside published by Francis Bailey at Lancaster, on the 26th of June, 1775, was of the greatest interest. "By an made to this department for information regarding the public baths and gymnasiums maintained by the city, and with regard to municipal indoor concerts and band concerts; also information relative to Mt. Hope, Evergreen, Fairview and other public cemeteries owned by the City of Boston.

To THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE, 15 Beacon street, for information relative to the operation of the schools of the city.

To THE SCHOOLHOUSE COMMISSIONERS, Room 1007, City Hall Annex, for information as to the construction and repair of school buildings.

To THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS, Room 1001, City Hall Annex, for information regarding the licensing of persons having charge or control of the work of construction, alteration, removal or tearing down of buildings.

To THE WIRE DIVISION OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT, Fire Department Headquarters, 60 Bristol street, for all information relative to the erection of poles, the building of conduits, the installation of all overhead and underground construction and electrical apparatus, as well as for general information relative to the entire division. To Room 906, City Hall Annex, for permits for the installing of wires and electrical apparatus within buildings in the City of Boston, and for the payment of fees incident to the granting of the privileges above named, and which must be paid in advance.

Express arrived at Philadelphia on Saturday evening, last we have the following account of the battle at Charlestown . . ." begins the narrative. The account was taken, and told in terse, crisp language, by Elijah Hide, of Lebanon, who "was a spectator on Winter's Hill, during the whole action."

A large "Sketch of the Action," with the positions of the British and the Revolutionary forces, and of their ships and batteries, gave a vivid idea of the strategic events of the day. It contains the maps of the whole peninsula and seems to be drawn with technical accuracy. There is perhaps room for doubt as to its historical accuracy. The sketch was published in England and speaks of "his Majesty's troops" in distinction to the "Rebels." But an engraving published in the "Pennsylvania Magazine," two months after the battle, shows "to the subscribers the Correct View of the late Battle at Charlestown. . . ." The engraving with its simple drawing of the hills, the troops, frigates, cannons, etc., is exceedingly charming.

Of the literary publications of the day—now on exhibition—"The Battle of Bunker Hill, a dramatic piece of five acts, in heroic measure," is the rarest. The drama was written "By a gentleman of Maryland" (Hugh Henry Brackenridge), and was printed and sold by Robert Bell, in Philadelphia, 1776. John Daly Burk's "Bunker Hill; or, the death of General Warren, an historic tragedy," is of later date. It was published in 1797, by Greenleaf in New York.

It is, perhaps, worth while to point once more to the origin of the name of "Bunker." James Froude, the eminent English historian, mentioned once to a friend that when at Boston he had not been able to find anyone who could tell him how the hill received its name.

FLAG DAY TIME FOR COUNTRY TO TAKE STOCK OF ITS PATRIOTISM.

MAYOR CURLEY RECALLS TO BOSTON CITIZENS THE FACT THAT OLD GLORY IS DEDICATED TO PRINCIPLES OF EQUALITY AND DESTRUCTION OF OLD DIVINE RIGHT THEORY.

In his Flag Day address on Boston Common, Mayor Curley spoke as follows:

Boston has furnished in every crisis examples of courage and of patriotism that have been an inspiration to every portion of the United States and to the people of the whole world over, but I question if during her long history a better example of courage and of patriotism has ever been furnished than you good women and men have provided today by your presence here despite the inclement weather. I wish there were some method by which we might transfer to the seat of our government some of that courage, some of that self-reliance, some of that patriotism which you good women and men exemplify here today. Flag Day, made sacred and observable through the auspices of the B. P. O. E., will today be observed in every portion of America where a lodge of Elks may be found.

The story of the American Flag and the history of the American Republic will be told and retold and no story written by men in the last nineteen centuries will approach in interest or inspiration the story of our flag and the story of our country. After all it represents something more than the self-sacrifice of the women and men, less than three million in number, through whose service the American Republic became a reality and the American flag became something to conjure with in the history of the long, toilsome and the bloody, uphill march of humanity, covering a period of 1800 years of struggle and sacrifice by good women and men for the creation of government dedicated to the principle of equality, dedicated to the liberation of the individual and the destruction of the old divine right theory. Just so long, my friends, as the world is constituted as at present, despite our present friendly foreign relations, and as long as the world is made up of republics and of monarchies, just so long as it is necessary to preserve this republic and perpetuate the privileges which we have enjoyed and the heritage we are the custodians of we must so safeguard our national integrity that it will be possible to transfer to posterity the rights, privileges and heritages that are ours through the sacrifice of those who have gone before.

Flag Day is a time, as the business man would say, to take an account of stock and when we do so we are shocked at the conditions that confront us. As Americans, charged with the grave responsibility of preserving our national heritage intact, we have before us the spectacle of our national governing body adjourning without action on the vital question of national defence; and we have before us the amazing spectacle of a nation, proud of its education, refinement, intelligence and wealth becoming a party to a disarmament program that promises to leave America defenceless. How are you going to rectify it? There is no way to change it, except by a change in the control of affairs of our government nationally. The 5-5-3 trade was right in principle, it was alluring in theory, but how about its practical operation? At the close of the World War there was only one nation in the whole world in a position to carry on a major program of naval defence, America. The only solvent nation in the world was our own America; and yet we agreed to restrict our ships of war until there should be a more even distribution among the powers. What has happened? You recall when the news came during the Spanish-American War that Admiral Dewey had sunk the Spanish fleet without the loss of a single American ship, we all cheered and threw our hats in the air. How many of you realize that on neither Spanish ship nor Spanish fortification that day in Manila Bay was there a single gun that had a range within one mile of the range of the guns on Dewey's fleet. It wasn't a battle. It was a potting exhibition. Dewey stood beyond the three mile range of the Spanish guns and destroyed them without fear of injury. The 5-5-3 trade is simply another potting exhibition. Great Britain today has a range of a mile further on her battleship guns than America, and what Dewey did at Manila Great Britain could do tomorrow to us. Congress knew this, but it adjourned without carrying through the battle cruiser program that would have created equality between the nations and protected the rights of America.

How about the nation across the water to whose defence we rushed during the World War, our sister republic? She was honorable so far as stripping ships was concerned, but she began a program of aeroplane armament that gives her the mastery of the air today with 100 planes to every one in the possession of America.

You remember a short while ago a beautiful ship looking like a huge cigar, sailed over our city,—the "Shenandoah." Did you ever stop to think that if the "Shenandoah" had five tons of luxite, or five tons of T. N. T. and dropped either into the heart of a city that it could absolutely annihilate Boston, New York, or any other community on the Atlantic seaboard.

What else have we done? We have prohibited the Japanese to come in here. They have been building aeroplanes; they have ten to our one, and their naval superiority over America is unquestioned. It is all right to tell any one to go way back and sit down—provided you have the strength to compel compliance. We are like a blind man in the midst of a forest. We are groping around without sense of direction, without objective. We are without a constructive program that will safeguard the most precious heritage of the whole world, the American Republic and the American flag. It is about time for a change.

Switzerland taught us a lesson during the recent World War. It is only a small country and has not a very large population but for a period of 100 years there has not been a cowardly bully among all the nations of Europe that dared invade little Switzerland. And why? Every man of military age knows not only how to shoulder a gun but how to use it.

The sooner we learn in America how to fire a gun the more certain is our heritage.

We have got an interesting situation in America. We have the Bolsheviks and Reds of the Northwest, who want to destroy all means of National defence, who pledge themselves to peace on earth at any price and good will to all except America. We have another element, a very powerful religious organization, which like the Quakers of old, don't believe in fighting anybody; but the time always comes in the life of a man when he must fight whether it is with a nation or a finance commission. When the time does arrive we should be prepared. What are we doing? These good men here who are in the uniform of Uncle Sam have dedicated their lives to the service of their country and their government. After years of intensive military training, service and experience, what is their future to be? Never more than $7,000 a year, never sufficient money to own a home of their own, never anything but the knowledge that they are rendering a service money cannot buy to the best land in the whole world—America and the stars and stripes. They are entitled to an encouragement and support as loyal as they give. We have got the American army down to the vanishing point. There are less men in the American army than there are officers in the Mexican army. We have so reduced and hamstringed the American navy that today it is not much more potent than the swan-boats on the Frog Pond. A pretty nice situation. What can we do? The citizen soldiery system of Switzerland is declared to be the best example of intelligent military thought and organization for national defence. From our public high schools of Boston we turn out ten thousand pupils a year, with the number increasing as we go on, unless we abandon the custom and tradition; with ten times that number from the city of New York, four times that number from the city of Chicago, three times that number from Philadelphia, and an equal number from Cleveland and Detroit, six American cities can turn out 70,000 men with a year's military training and discipline from our public high schools, and if we send those boys into the federal training camps at the end of their school study, building them up physically and morally, teaching them habits of discipline and good citizenship, and if we adopt that plan and program in every city and town of the nation, in ten years we will have a reserve of ten million well-trained Americans, familiar with the facts of history, appreciative of the blessings enjoyed by them as Americans, eager and ready, if the necessity arises, to make the supreme sacrifice for the preservation of all that is humanly worth while that exists under and is symbolized by the best flag in the whole world, the stars and stripes.

VETO OF POSTAL CLERK'S SALARY BILL.

ployees a square deal and not to pay them in 69-cent dollars. By calling the measure a raise in salaries instead of an adjustment of values, the President attempted to deceive the American public and transform a piece of chicanery and word-juggling into economy and patriotism. Let us illustrate this matter so that anybody and everybody can understand the purpose of the bill and the purpose of the President.

The salaries to be adjusted by the Kelly-Edge Bill range from $1,400 to $2,000 a year, from $27 to $39 a week, on paper. Reckoned in the actual value of its purchasing power and in 69-cent dollars, the $1,400 salary becomes $966; the $1,500 drops to $1,035; the $1,700 to $1,173 and the $2,000 becomes $1,380; and written in terms of weekly wages these salaries become $18.60, $20, $22.50 and $26.50. These are the actual values; they represent what the 69-cent dollar means in the grocer and butcher shop; in the office of the landlord and the clothing dealer.

Will any self-respecting American citizen say that the scale of wages, paid by the richest government on earth to the most useful and hard-working employees in its service, is just, equitable and in harmony with the rates prevailing in private employment? Can we expect public servants receiving such starvation wages to maintain their homes and families in decency and comfort? And yet when the people of America and the Congress of the United States undertake to correct this crying evil and to do simple justice to them, the President of the United States denies it and condemns an army of 300,000 employees and their families to standards of wage and work that no private employer would dare to pay and no government concerned for the national honor should.

This in the sacred name of economy, an economy that has neither the heart of mercy nor the bowels of compassion, an economy whose temple is in Wall street, and whose high priests are in the stock exchanges. The thrift that is sheer meanness cannot be transformed into even a shadow of patriotism or a shred of courage; it has pure unadulterated meanness, only that; and the veto is as cold and callous as its author.

Meantime we must contain our souls in patience, until the days of November when vetoes can answer vetoes, and the American citizen who loves decency and fair play—and there are 300,000 of them in the postal service—can register his opinion of the economy that spells dishonor and betrayal. In November we can decide many things. We can then say unmistakably what is courage and what is patriotism. We can then tell the world of America what forces and influences are to be dominant and decisive in this republic; the voice of the people and the action of Congress, or the hand guided and directed by those who serve the brazen god of mammon and the twisted god of thrift, by them who are the industrial sweaters of children, the degraders of labor and the pinchers of bellies. In November the mandate of the people can rid us of Postmaster General New, the discarded politician repudiated by indignant Indiana, rehabilitated by President Harding and retained by President Coolidge in a cabinet he has lacked the conscience to rebuke and the courage to restrain; yet New, joining hands with the forces of reaction and bogus economy, was persuasive enough to dash the hopes and happiness of 300,000 of his employees.

The shallow sophistry of the Presidential veto, its pharisaical appeal to those who place cash above conscience and money above man, the hypocrisy that makes ingratitude and injustice do duty for honor and patriotism, are apparent to all. The President in his anxiety to pose as economist, patriot and hero has ignored the verdict of the United States Department of Labor, which after thorough investigation has reported that the average American family consists of five persons and that it cannot be maintained in comfort and decency on less than $2,500 a year; and this sum is less than any salary contained in the Kelly-Edge Bill. But what are the comfort and decency of an American home and family to a candidate on the edge of an election, anxious to establish a reputation for courage, patriotism, and economy? November will readjust his views.

From the personal life experiences of President Coolidge one might expect to find a more human and kindly outlook on the conditions of his fellows. The man who has passed by luck and accident from the leanness of a Vermont hill town and the overalls and milking pail of a farmer's boy to the fatness of the White House and the spats and silk hat of a President, must have learned in the journey from obscurity to acclaim something of the anxieties and difficulties that beset the road of underpaid postal employees, disabled veterans, poverty-stricken widows and orphans, and that great helpless army he has sacrificed by his vetoes and the shabby shrine of a shabby economy. Apparently he has learned nothing; the sorrows and trials of other and less fortunate men and women do not touch his heart; he has spurned the flesh and blood of warm humanity to serve other interests as cold as selfish; and made the deprivation and discomfort of millions of homes and families the price of his own aggrandizement.

A great wrong has been done to an army of useful and patriotic public servants by President Coolidge; he has denied them justice and consideration and he has added insult to injury by attempting to exhibit them as raiders of the public treasury. The remedy, or shall I say the punishment, for the disservice lies in the hands of the postal service employees and their friends, the citizens of the United States, who can and will register their opinion of the presidential acts in the ballot boxes next November.

It is impossible to avoid making these vetoes political questions, even though they are primarily administrative and economic; but do not lose sight of the expenditures hidden from view and eliminated from public discussion in considering the stress laid by Mr. Coolidge's friends on the economic significance of his acts. He has signed and permitted to go into effect bills that are a sheer waste of public money and which are practically handed over to professional philanthropists and uplifters, educators and reformers, bogus farmers and plain grafters, to waste on enterprises that are as needless as they are noxious. This class of people, who meddle and man-handle, war and waste and hang like flies on the national sugar barrel are close to his heart; but those who have served and sacrificed for this republic in peace and war, who are undervalued and underpaid, whose poverty is as palpable as the ingratitude of the government is apparent, are denied and derided, sacrificed and slandered that a reputation for election purposes may be manufactured.

Your own self-respect and manhood, your duty to your family and home, the good name of the country and the service urge you to organize and work, to appeal to your friends, to the conscience of America, that you may go to the polls in November, in unity and strength to teach to our temporary rulers the lesson that all politicians, big and little, high and low, must learn sooner or later, that public opinion cannot be defied with safety, that public honor cannot be smirched with impunity and that public duty cannot be neglected and denied without penalty.

A presidential reputation for courage, patriotism, thrift and financial vigilance may be established on humbug, hypocrisy and false pretence, but it will be a very fragile reputation, one that will stand very little wear and tear. As the immortal Lincoln has so shrewdly said, "You may fool some of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all the people all the time."

Yours is a work of education and enlightenment, to establish your good name and the justice of your case; and to show the enemies of your just demands to the country in their true light.

Go to it. Begin today.

MAYOR CURLEY INVITES PITTSFIELD ELKS TO SHOW COUNTRY USEFULNESS DURING BOSTON CONVENTION.

TELLS THEM LATCH-STRING OF CITY IS OUT TO THEM AND A WARM HOSPITABLE GREETING AWAITS ALL GUESTS DURING GREAT ASSEMBLY NEXT MONTH.

Mayor Curley speaking before the Pittsfield Lodge of Elks on June 15 said in part:

Now that the great noiseless, well-oiled, time-clocked, chloroformed Cleveland Convention has folded its tents like the Arabs and silently stolen away from mere man and Americanism, it is a genuine pleasure to come to such a gathering as this where the ennobling spirit of humanity, brotherhood, friendship and kindness dominate, and the dignity of manhood, the worth of democracy, and where the grandeur of Americanism are never forgotten.

Up here in the atmosphere of the eternal Berkshire Hills, far from the tawdry ideals of the department store, the creeds of the mill magnate and the hokum of the financier, and in the company of men and brethren, a man may breathe freely, speak the truth that is in him, invite his soul and acclaim with confidence and sincerity the everlasting principles which the order of Elks preaches and practices, principles which have made life worth living, civilization worth conserving, and America worth preserving.

The principles of life and conduct which the Order of Elks professes, teaches and has constantly lived up to, constitute a code that appeals to every right-thinking, right-living man in whom the milk of human kindness is found; and because within its ranks and in its lodge rooms, equality, democracy and comradeship grow and flourish like sturdy oaks, it has become a typical American society, as great in numbers as it is in good works, which has demonstrated its right to live and last.

There are certain creeds of conscience and conduct that move and mark the heart and mind of the world and its civilization; they belong to all religions and to no religion; they represent the standards which all men agree on but which all men do not live up to; and they visualize a code of human relationship that embraces certain social fundamentals without which human association is impossible.

These fundamentals the Fathers of the republic sought to translate into the teaching of America if not into its laws; and these fundamentals, the binding cement of civilization—equality of treatment and opportunity, the brotherhood of men, the helping hand, the kindly word, duty to our fellow man, restraint of the strong, protection of the weak, fidelity to good causes, patriotism, respect for law and order, good government, the dignity of citizenship, liberty of action and opinion, and all that body we call Americanism. These things constitute the creed and code, the preaching and the practice of the Elks, the fundamentals they have never deviated from, the essentials they have sustained in peace and war by word and work; and because the order has translated its creed into practical activities, it has grown mightily into the esteem of the nation and the respect of the generations.

It is a proud honor today to be an Elk; the order has made its influence felt throughout the length and breadth of the land. The evidence of the sincerity of its principles is written in its benevolences, in the institutions it has established for the benefit of humanity, in its hospitals and asylums; in the constant stream of helpfulness flowing silently and healingly from the individual lodges; in its devotion to men and country in peace and war; and in that glorious roster of its members who have served and sacrificed that democracy might live, human liberty be preserved, America safeguarded and government of the people, for the people, by the people, be perpetuated on earth.

Every American community is made better and sweeter by the presence of a lodge of Elks in its midst, for that meeting place of men and brethren is a center of influence for good. There men meet in fellowship and kindness, under the blazing lights to plan the betterment of their fellows and preach the gospel of the helping hand. There none meet in darkness and disguise to preach hatred and intolerance, to plot and plan the injury of their neighbors and the curtailment of their rights and liberties; for every lodge of Elks is a vignette of the United States, where its Constitution is honored, its laws obeyed, its principles practiced and its spirit applauded. In a word wherever there is a lodge of Elks there is the United States of America; wherever an Exalted Ruler calls a meeting to order he speaks to a body of Americans loyal to God and Country and devoted to the Flag and Constitution. A great gathering of Elks from the four quarters of the republic will be held in Boston in the first week of July. It is fitting that this convention of a typically American order should be held in the cradle of American liberty, and as it gives promise to be the high tide of the progress of the fraternity, it is the duty of every loyal Elk to be in Boston to add to the success and glory of the week.

The latch-string of the ancient capital of Massachusetts will hang outward; all roads will lead to the old city; Boston has much to offer to every pilgrim seeking her hospitable environs; her monuments and associations can stir the heart of him who loves his country and would look over the scenes of its birth and cradling; the hospitality of Boston is proverbial and unailing; and as Mayor of the city and an Elk in good standing I can pledge you a warm welcome. Come to us in those pleasant days of summer, when nature is at her best and the beauty of hill and vale and sea and shore is a thing to see and an experience to carry away that will never fade from your hearts.

Come and show America in Boston the spectacle of a great and useful American fraternity in convention assembled, whose work and welfare carry in them the promise of safety and stability to our country.

TENANTS MAY REMAIN TILL FALL.

Tenants in the approximately 200 business buildings and dwellings to be affected by the projected Court-Cambridge streets widening probably will not be asked to vacate their respective premises before next fall, it developed at a public hearing by the Street Commissioners Thursday.

No opposition to the undertaking was voiced in the hearing, conducted by Chairman John Noyes. Answering a question of Representative John I. Fitzgerald, Public Works Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke affirmed that work on the subterranean conduits of one kind and another might be started this summer, but that families and business concerns in buildings to be sliced will not be called upon to quit the premises until afterward. Mr. Rourke said the start will be made in the Scollay square end of the job.

The Street Commissioners must, within ninety days of June 6, have the arrangements completed for settlements with various properties affected, the settlements to be approved by the Mayor. A resurvey of all properties involved must be made.

CALLS FOR TRUE ALLEGIANCE AND GREATER LOYALTY TO THE AMERICAN FLAG.

MAYOR CURLEY DELIVERS THRILLING ADDRESS BEFORE LEOMINSTER LODGE OF ELKS DURING CELEBRATION OF FLAG DAY EXERCISES.

This is Flag Day, a day set apart to commemorate the adoption of our national banner and celebrate its glory and inspiration.

The Stars and Stripes, whose silken folds salute the American skies from a hundred thousand staffs today, is the symbol of the nation, the insignia of its power and authority, the emblem that brings to our minds a vision of the republic's greatness and to our hearts a new dedication to its service. At home or abroad the sight of that flag of beauty with its significant stars and stripes is to every American an assurance of peace and protection, of freedom and faith, of safety and security, and as it waves in the free air of heaven it wakes in the breast the loyalty of the citizen and the pride in our country and its glorious mission on earth; and its bravery and beauty are a call to patriotic duty and devotion.

Nevertheless with all its appeal, with all its associations, with all the heroic deeds it recalls, and the historic memories it revives, we must not forget that the flag of our country, the Stars and Stripes, is after all only a sign, a symbol, an emblem of something greater, higher, nobler—the United States of America, the greatest republic on earth, the fairest effort made by men to bring justice, humanity, equality and freedom to the race, and frame it in a scheme of human government. In honoring the flag, in our insistence that it shall be treated with respect by all our citizens on all occasions because of its symbolism and significance, in demanding that it be treated with a usage commensurate with the pride and power, the dignity and decorum it represents, we must remember that back of the flag is the fatherland—the nation. The Stars and Stripes is a symbol of our country and not a synonym for it. The flag and the fatherland march down the years together; and while we honor the flag and hail it with patriotic emotion, our duty and devotion, our sacrifice and service, must be given to the republic, to the land that has given to the world government of the people, by the people, for the people. This is an age of unrest, an age marked by much shallowness and superficiality; of much talking and little thinking; and here in this magnificent country of ours there is too easy an acceptance of the shadow for the substance, of the promise for the performance and a growing habit of evading the realities and responsibilities of our citizenship and the obligations we owe to good government. It is not sufficient answer to the call to public duty, to the need of maintaining good government, and the correction of the evils that creep into public administration, to wave the Stars and Stripes, to hail it and cheer it, and to shelter ourselves in its folds, while evils afflict the government it is the emblem of. Patriotism is a work of conscience and conduct that calls for service and sacrifice that will keep our country free from peril and disaster in peace and war. Flag-flapping, shouting, cheers and unthinking emotions do not constitute patriotism. No land was ever saved by the lungs and tongues of its people; and when people convince themselves that shouting is the whole duty of American citizens the flag ceases to be an emblem of honor; and the country is in danger.

Every rightly constituted American loves and honors the flag of his country; it has been in the forefront of all his country's triumphs; it has emerged from disaster and defeat when they have come, without stain or dishonor; and the suffering and sacrifice of the long years of the nation's life have endeared it to the American heart. To love and honor the flag is a passion of every American worth his salt; and because of this consuming passion he is open to the arts and crafts of the traitors and rascals in the American community, who degrade and dishonor our beautiful symbol of Americanism by flaunting the American flag, behind whose ambush they plot the destruction of American liberty, the perversion of American principle, the nullification of the American Constitution and the end of that peace, justice and equality that have made our country what it is. This is one of the great evils that grows out of the conduct that makes the worship of the flag the supreme duty of an American, instead of making the respect and honor we give the Stars and Stripes subordinate to the preservation of our government and its principles, which is the first duty of the real patriot.

It is well to remember that in the 141 years of this republic's existence there have been only ten years of warfare, foreign and domestic, and 131 years of peace. War as a rule comes unexpectedly, like a flash of lightning from the skies; and while untoward events have led up to war, the Declaration itself has come suddenly and has usually found us unprepared; and that false economy which put off the day of preparation and that delusive folly that seeks to convince us that war will never come again, have combined in all our history to increase the horrors of war and multiply the waste of human life and treasure when the battle is on.

War is the horror of national life; peace is the normal condition of the country's days; and because we have found no way yet to avoid war, the common sense of America demands that we put the sentimentalism and theory of visionaries and dreamers behind us and by serious and practical measures prepare ourselves for the inevitable. America loves peace; conscious of its strength, power and resources of men and money it seeks quarrel with no nation; and for the honor of the land and flag it meets the weak with justice and consideration and the powerful with confidence and dignity; but it has learned that the country that is rich and peaceful and unprepared is never safe from the encroachments of the powers that are predatory and prepared and seeking imperial domination.

Brief as the years of war have been in the life of the nation they have placed a heavy burden on the years of peace. The waste of war has arrested the onward march of the nation; it has crippled industry, handicapped commerce, multiplied misery and made life harder for every man and woman in the republic; and the practical and sensible thing to do is to so prepare ourselves in peace that the powers that prey will hesitate long before they strike.

Flag waving is folly when it becomes a substitute for practical patriotism; it is treason when it is made an excuse to cover up weakness and unpreparedness.

If we want our country made safe from damage and our flag to fly in honor and security, let us do the work that will make these conditions possible in these days of peace. Are there any who did not view with swelling pride the parade of our schoolboy soldiers the other day; marching with the pride of Napoleon's grenadiers through our peaceful streets, trained in the military virtues of order, discipline and obedience, in the habits that are the foundations of good citizenship and physical vigor. There are 10,000 schoolboys in Boston who receive a year's military training; New York has 70,000; Chicago, 30,000; Philadelphia, 40,000; in four cities of the north 150,000 boys learning the enduring lessons of respect for law and authority and reverence for country and flag. Supplement this military school discipline with a month's intensive training in our national army camps and making due allowance for mishaps, we can in ten years have a potential army of four million young, vigorous, intelligent, trained Americans ready to rally to the flag when the call of the country comes, ready to march and meet our country's foes wherever they come from. Here at our hands is the soundest of plans for national preparation, inexpensive but valuable, the building up of an ever increasing army of defenders for our hour of danger, an army of intelligent citizens, physically fit, law-abiding, loyal, efficient, ready for every national emergency, prepared to serve the republic in peace and war. Therein lies the solution of the major problem of preparedness and the answer to the questions that disturb the wisest minds. Multiply the military school system of Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Detroit and St. Louis, apply it to every city and town in America and unite it with the intensive national military camp training and an army of willing, worthwhile men, is scattered throughout the republic waiting the call to service—the peaceful call of business or the bloody call of battle.

One battalion of these young, clear-eyed, schoolboy soldiers is worth a million sheet-clad bogus patriots, prowling in the darkness of the night; the boys marching in the sunlight behind the flag are patriotism incarnate; the prowlers of the night desecrating the flag are concrete treason.

Today we have treasonable and disruptive societies and organizations who preach doctrines subversive to the stability and honor of the United States and they maintain their propaganda and practices in the very shadow of the flag and claiming to be the defenders of that glorious emblem. The armies of treason and dissension must not be permitted to protect their infamy by the use and in the name of the national symbol and when we find such it is our duty to our country to take down the stars and stripes and cleanse it by beating from its silken fabric the vermin hiding in its folds.

We must never permit the flag of our country to be made the rallying place of sham patriotism or the emblem of treason and betrayal. Under that beautiful flag the brave and true have served and sacrificed, fought and died; it has been even as a pillar of smoke by day and of flame by night to the armies of freedom. It was consecrated by the labor and wisdom of Washington and his heroic soldiers; it was held aloft by Lincoln and the armies of liberation in the battles that freed the slave and preserved the union; it fluttered in the flame and smoke of the titanic World War and was borne in triumph from Chateau Belleau to the Argonne; and it has become to all the world and its people, par excellence, the symbol of free government and free people.

Honor and salute the flag of America; keep it sweet and clean from the soil and stain of the secret plotter, the slinking conspirator, and the nocturnal traitor. Hold it aloft in the light of the sun and proclaim it the oriflamme of liberty, equality and good government; and add to its honor and acclaim by adding to the honor, greatness and fame of the republic whose emblem it is.

Honor the American flag and bring it the unbought honor of the world by making the honor of the American Republic secure and stainless by our service and devotion. As long as that splendid flag waves over a country conceived in liberty and dedicated to government of the people, for the people, by the people, administered in the spirit of the Fathers and sustained in the loyalty and honor of its citizens, the Stars and Stripes will salute the heavens in honor, secure in the faith of its people.

The American flag is one to follow, to fight for, to fall for if need be, for it symbolizes in its folds and its history a record of work well done for the liberation of a world from age-old wrong, the rescue of a race from the oppressions of kings and conquerors, the severing of a people from the corrosions of feudal systems and the degradations of hereditary rule; with its unfolding to the free skies of America that glorious flag told to the earth that a new dispensation had come to men, which was the flower and fruit of the seed sowed on the mount of Calvary, when He died who came to liberate the souls of men.

Salute the flag of America, the symbol of liberty. Hail it and honor it, and so live in loyalty and serve in allegiance that none can stain or dishonor it.

URGES WAKEFIELD CITIZENS TO KEEP REPUBLIC POWERFUL, PROGRESSIVE, PEACEFUL AND PROSPEROUS.

MAYOR CURLEY DELIVERS THRILLING AND INSPIRING ADDRESS BEFORE THE WAKEFIELD LODGE OF ELKS AT FLAG DAY EXERCISES.

Mayor Curley delivered the following address before the Wakefield Lodge of Elks on Saturday, June 14:

It is a great pleasure to be here as the guest of the Wakefield Lodge of Elks on this day set apart to the cause of history by America's foremost patriotic organization in our day, the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

This great organization, numbering nearly two million men in America, will today in every section of the country, sheltered by the most inspiring emblem that ever animated a people in the world's history, the flag of our common country, hold exercises similar in character and purpose to those which prompts the assemblage here of the women and men of Wakefield on this day. This organization, which prior to the World War was largely a social and semi-fraternal organization, was as a consequence of the war and the opportunity for service it presented, transformed into a great organization for the common good of America and for the promotion of those broader and more human relations, so necessary in a cosmopolitan country like ours, whose ideals of service and sacrifice are symbolized by the flag of our common country. Wherever a Lodge of Elks assembles, upon whose altar draped by the flag of our common country rests the Bible, there gathers an organization dedicated to God and country, with a constitution as broad, inspiring and as replete with promise as the Constitution of the nation itself, with its guarantee of the rights of a membership open to all men without regard to race or creed. I wonder if we fully realize just the importance that attaches to this particular organization and the part it has played in the history of our country during the last half-century?

I am reminded of the part it has played by the presence here in such goodly numbers for this late day, the survivors of that once great host numbering nearly three million who responded to the call of the great Emancipator—Abraham Lincoln. The men of the G. A. R. were the material force that made possible the creation in America of the B. P. O. E. The close of the Civil War found feeling of the most bitter character engendered by the greatest internecine struggle ever waged in the history of the world. It found the northern mother with bitterness in her heart because of the loss of a son or father or husband as a consequence of the war. It saw the southern mother equally bitter not only because of the loss of kin and kind but because of the waste and destruction sustained through a war waged on southern fields. Some great force was needed in America to bring these divided elements together, to promote a spirit of peace and fraternity, a spirit to which religion should bring understanding and the patience and generosity to heal and sweeten the life of the nation. Inspired by the principle of the second commandment, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," under the leadership of that God-given father of Elksdom, Brother Vivian, this great organization found its place, in the American Republic; and for nearly a half-century, hand in hand with the G. A. R., it has sown the seeds of patriotism and service. Today throughout America under its administration and through its instrumentality and influence Americans in every city and town are assembled to do homage to the flag of our common country and recount the tales that national emblem recalls; to sow the seeds of a broader and a better Americanism, and a nobler brotherhood in this land of ours. Few organizations in any land have been animated by a loftier purposes or higher ideals than the B. P. O. E.; and coming to this town of Wakefield to speak to this splendid gathering I was peculiarly touched not only by the spirit of those splendid old heroes and patriots who marched today in the parade of the Elks, but by the assemblage on yonder common of the future men of America, the high school boys of Wakefield. The monument raised to commemorate the patriotism of those who gave four years to the service of the country and who, and in such numbers, made the supreme sacrifice that the Union might be preserved, that the principles of the Declaration of Independence, liberty and equality, might become realities and the common heritage of all who live under the American flag, through whose service and sacrifice—that shaft is a constant reminder of them—a tremendous struggle was brought to a triumphant close without the loss of a state to the union or star of the flag. We assemble here, therefore, to consider the past, measure the present and visualize the future. What of the past? Ride through the town of Wakefield and we see the past written in the patriotism and the citizenship of its people who have named in honor of one of the greatest sons of the French Republic one of their thoroughfares, Lafayette street. The name of Lafayette recalls the days of trial more than 145 years ago when the American flag first saluted the sun in the throes of the nation's birth. From the skilled hands of Betsy Ross came that emblem of the nation, destined to be the greatest in the world, into the making of which went the tears of a devoted woman, tears for the boys who carried it in the fire and flame of battle. Its story is part of the epic of the long, toilsome, uphill and bloody march of humanity.

LIBRARIAN BELDEN IS PRESENTED WITH CASA DI DANTE MEDAL.

Charles F. D. Belden, director of Boston Public Library, has been presented the Casa di Dante medal. The award was made by Senator Corrado Ricci and the Council of the Casa di Dante in Rome in recognition of the importance of the Dante collection in the Public Library and as a token of appreciation of the lively interest taken by the director in promoting the study of the great Italian poet and Italian literature in America.

The Boston Public Library has on its shelves about 1,000 works by or about Dante of which approximately 500 are in Italian and the remainder in other languages. Of these thousand items a third or more consist of editions of Dante's works, complete or separate, in the original Italian or Latin, or in translations.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

COMPREHENSIVE CITY PLANNING IS SPREADING ALL OVER THE COUNTRY.

REPORT BY MISS ELISABETH M. HERLIHY OF BOSTON PLANNING BOARD AS, RESULT OF TRIP TO CALIFORNIA CONFERENCE SHOWS BOSTON IS KEEPING UP WITH PROCESSION. INVESTING MONEY IN CIVIC IMPROVEMENTS WITH VISIONARY DETERMINATION BY MUNICIPALITIES MANIFESTED EVERYWHERE.

Miss Elisabeth M. Herlihy has made the following report to Mayor Curley concerning her trip to the California Conference on City Planning:

Boston, June 18, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR, In compliance with the provisions of chapter 274 of the Acts of 1914, I submit herewith report in connection with my attendance at the sixteenth annual conference on city planning which was held in Los Angeles, Cal., April 7, 8, 9 and 10, 1924, which I had the privilege of attending as the representative of the Planning Board of the City of Boston.

The itinerary arranged for the Eastern delegates provided for stop-overs at a number of cities en route, so that opportunity was afforded to observe the spread of the city planning movement throughout the entire country. While it is obviously impossible to give a complete résumé of the activities underway in each locality, space, time and inability all combining to prevent, a few of the outstanding features will be touched upon briefly.

The dominant topic of discussion in every city was ways and means of working out an adequate and effective zoning law and ordinance. Zoning is an accomplished fact in approximately two hundred and fifty cities and towns throughout the country today affording protection for more than one quarter of the entire population. It is safe to say that plans are being studied at the present time for twice as many more, thus leaving at the most but a very small percentage of our citizens subject to haphazard development and unregulated growth.

Comprehensive street plans, civic centers, harbor development, recreational activities, regional planning and billboards were all emphasized in observation and in discussion. In the presidential address given at one of the sessions of the conference, it was reported that in at least forty cities street widenings or extensions had been executed or adopted during the last year or two, in almost every case being carried out as an integral part of the city planning program. While admitting that some of these plans might have been carried out any way, they are undoubtedly given impetus and direction through their relation to the broader program.

In Memphis, Tenn., with a population of 175,000 people, an opportunity was given to see a comprehensive street plan, prepared by Mr. Harland Bartholomew of St. Louis in 1921, in actual working operation. A zoning plan has been in effect for fifteen months; a bond issue of $17,500,000 has been authorized for public improvements, including pumping station, municipal building, streets and terminals, school buildings, etc., some of which are completed and others underway; while 3,500 houses are said to have been built in 1923. A 40 per cent increase in population is estimated in the next twenty-five years, and a corresponding increase in civic development and prestige.

New Orleans points with pride to its group of buildings about Jackson square, built in 1792, as the earliest civic center in America. While every effort is being made by the people of New Orleans to perpetuate their various historical landmarks, they are at the same time meeting present day problems and looking ahead to the future with a courage, a vision and an optimism that must bring results. With a population of 400,000 people, located on the banks of the Mississippi river, 110 miles inland from the Gulf of Mexico, New Orleans still lays claim to being the second port of the nation in value of commodities and tonnage of foreign trade.

More than $40,000,000 has been spent on developing the public wharves along the river front and in building the inner harbor navigation canal. This canal is five and one half miles in length, crossing the city and connecting the Mississippi river with Lake Pontchartrain, an arm of the Gulf of Mexico. The canal will be developed into a spacious inner harbor and will eventually, it is expected, shorten by about one half the distance to the sea.

Houston, Tex., located fifty miles inland, has a similar project in its ship channel to the Gulf of Mexico, of sufficient depth and width to accommodate the largest vessels calling at ports of the Gulf. The fact that this channel cost more than $25,000,000 is entirely lost sight of in the much more important fact that the increase in tonnage for 1922, as compared with 1919, was 355 per cent. This marvelous growth was specifically emphasized by the fact that not a bale of cotton was exported from Houston previous to 1919, while elaborate preparations were being made to celebrate, on the day following the visit of the City Planning delegation, the shipment of the millionth bale in the first eight months of the season of 1923-24. This port development has been accompanied by an increase in population of from 16,513 in 1880, to 195,000 in 1923, less than a fifty year interval. New building construction and other improvements authorized June 1, 1923, many of the projects being already underway, total $36,450,000. In home building alone, nearly three thousand permits were issued for the twelve month period ending April 30, 1923, by far the larger portion of which was for single-family houses. While this remarkable growth may not be directly due to the construction of the ship channel and the corresponding port development, it must be admitted that it has taken place long parallel lines, and has certainly been largely influenced by Houston's demonstrated right to recognition in the commercial world.

The development of San Diego has been in accordance with a plan proposed by Mr. John Nolen, of Cambridge, Mass., in 1908. Mr. Nolen has been again engaged to bring this plan up to date, with particular emphasis upon certain harbor and waterfront features.

The question of harbor terminals and their approaches was emphasized at one of the sessions of the conference by Mr. Charles J. Cobden, newly appointed president of the Board of Harbor Commissioners of Los Angeles, who declared that the tendency at the present time appeared to be decidedly toward the unification of rail and harbor terminals, together with municipal or state control. The discussion of this subject was led by Mr. M. O'Shaughnessy, city engineer of San Francisco.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy's name is inseparably linked with the Hetch Hetchy water and power project built by the city and county of San Francisco, said to be of greater magnitude than any similar systems in the United States, except those of New York and Boston. To finance this project a $45,000,000 issue of 4½ per cent bonds was authorized by the voters of San Francisco in 1910. The principal reservoir site is 168 miles distant from San Francisco and the project is designed to furnish 400,000,000 gallons of water daily to 4,000,000 people.

Our visit to San Francisco was significant in that it was also the eighteenth anniversary of the fire which swept the city, burning all the downtown business buildings and destroying a large part of the dwellings of its inhabitants, entailing a property loss of $350,000,000. The work of reconstruction shows an increase of nearly one hundred and fifty per cent in the assessed valuation of property, which includes, in addition to the Hetch Hetchy water project and other features, a municipal railway with sixty miles of trackage, representing an investment of $7,250,000; more than $20,000,000 in new street pavements; the development of a sewerage system in accordance with a comprehensive plan embracing the entire city; new schools, hospitals, tunnels and playgrounds, and a group of public buildings forming a civic center which has challenged the admiration of the country.

This civic center covering approximately twenty acres of land includes a city hall, an auditorium, a library, a state building and a plaza, representing a total expense of more than $11,000,000.

Almost equally well known is the civic center in Denver, Colo., where sixteen acres of land are devoted to a group of public buildings erected and proposed. While much yet remains to be done in building operations, the development thus far represents an investment of approximately $3,225,000.

Pasadena, Cal., founded in 1874, is at the present time observing its golden jubilee. Although its business growth and industrial development has been in many respects remarkable, Pasadena is primarily a city of homes. The year 1923 is expected to stand out conspicuously for a double achievement, the adoption of a city plan and zoning ordinance and provision of the sum of $3,500,000 for the creation of a civic center which is regarded as "The Heart of the City Plan." Three buildings will be included in this group, a city hall, a municipal auditorium and a library, together with the necessary approaches and area for appropriate setting. In addition Pasadena has a municipal stadium that seats more than fifty thousand people and a citizenry that has responded with promptness and unanimity to a "practical vision of a planned city; a city in which a civic center, an art center, a park system, a boulevard system and a transportation system should contribute an economic and artistic whole.

Colorado Springs, also settled fifty years ago, has erected a new city hall and a municipal auditorium. In addition to the value of these auditoriums from a utilitarian and from an aesthetic viewpoint, in every instance it is claimed that they are a paying proposition, the revenue received from rental being more than sufficient to offset interest and maintenance expense.

The city of Los Angeles, measured by its population figures, is making unprecedented progress. Starting with approximately one hundred thousand people a quarter of a century ago, the million mark has been easily passed and the end is by no means in sight. This is in a measure accounted for by the annexations which have taken place as the result of circumstances. The big problem on the Pacific Coast today is a sufficient water supply, a situation which has been met by Los Angeles in the construction of a great aqueduct to the Sierra Nevada Mountains, approximately two hundred and thirty miles to the north. The charter provisions specify that the water shall not be furnished outside the city limits, and inasmuch as the smaller communities are not in a position to finance a similar project of their own, a vote of annexation naturally follows. Although its present water supply is sufficient to take care of a population of three million people, Los Angeles is already looking forward to some day being compelled to traverse the entire distance to the Colorado river for its water supply in order to keep pace with its rapidly growing population.

Los Angeles has also gone so far as to annex a harbor by running a "shoe string" one half mile in length through unincorporated territory to San Pedro where the growth of the port in the tonnage and value of goods passing through since 1920 has been remarkable.

Los Angeles is already thinking in regional terms with regard to those problems which make of the district a composite unit rather than a series of disconnected communities.

Forty-two cities and more than fifty unincorporated towns are included in its metropolitan area and a regional planning commission is already functioning with the idea of welding these separate municipalities into a unity of metropolitan consciousness; a realization of the magnitude of the task of adequate planning for the future and a willingness to work together that will carry forward to a successful completion a great and fundamental problem.

One of the most complete transportation surveys ever projected by any municipality is about to be undertaken by Los Angeles city and county, acting jointly. Experts have been engaged with the idea of providing a working program for a period of at least twenty-five years covering the entire metropolitan district and indicating an expenditure of probably $700,000,000. The survey which will be predicated upon a population of three million people will first determine the capabilities of the present transportation systems and the demands made upon them by the public, to be followed by recommendations relative to every kind of transportation facility available, or desired, including subways, elevated roads, open cuts, motor bus and stage lines, and main traffic arteries leading from Los Angeles to the surrounding municipalities. Fifty thousand dollars has been pledged to the survey work which will cover a period of eight months.

The plan of Chicago, prepared in 1909, by Daniel H. Burnham and Edward H. Bennett, has pointed the way for millions of dollars worth of public improvements. Conspicuous among these is Michigan Boulevard, which when complete will mean a waterfront drive of approximately thirty miles; the electrification of railroad lines already underway, and the construction of a new Illinois Central Railroad station fronting on Grant Park, and in harmony with the Art Museum building at present located there.

Chicago's zoning plan was adopted in April, 1923. Of the other cities visited, Memphis, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Pasadena have adopted zoning plans. Denver's plan is partially prepared. New Orleans, Houston, San Diego and Colorado Springs have the matter under consideration pending the appropriation of necessary funds.

Another practically universal topic of discussion was the billboard situation. A type prevailing in Houston was possessed of three dimensions, width, length and depth, with life-size figures, scenery, etc., protected by a screen in front and illuminated at night. The extent to which billboards have developed throughout the country, however, in the absence of regulation with regard to size, location and appearance, has brought about a revulsion of feeling on the part of the public which has been reflected in the action of the advertisers themselves, until at the present time nearly a score of companies have pledged themselves to abandon highway billboards that mar the scenery and obstruct the public view.

The extent to which public golf courses are being recognized as a necessary factor of recreational work was also noticeable in every city visited. Although this phase of municipal activity was not formally discussed, it is a fact that public golf courses have been adopted in more than one hundred municipalities throughout the country as part of their recreational program.

Not the least impressive feature of the entire trip was the hospitality extended to the visiting delegates by city governments, civic organizations and individuals. Their greeting was more than perfunctory; they gave of themselves and of their communities freely and graciously. While it is to be hoped that the interchange of ideas will be mutually profitable, it is entirely certain that the courtesies extended and received developed a cordial spirit of appreciation and good will.

The few facts recorded here by no means represent the extent of my observations. A copy of the program of the conference is attached; an itemized statement of my expenses has been filed with the City Auditor, and as the last required duty in connection with the trip, this brief statement of city planning activities throughout the country is submitted. No attempt has been made to record features other than those which came under my own observation and which impressed themselves upon my mind as having some bearing either in comparison with, or by contrast to, specific problems in our own municipality.

Respectfully submitted,

E. M. HERLIHY,
Secretary.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts, awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Paving Service).

Upon June 21 the Mayor approved a contract with Louis Neceto for the construction of artificial sidewalks. A communication from Joseph Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

BOSTON, June 19, 1924.

To the Mayor of Boston:

Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Louis Noceti, 179 Herman street, Winthrop, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; secondly, the expense of construction being divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon June 23 the Mayor approved a contract with W. F. Esterhill for the construction of artificial sidewalks. A communication from Joseph Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

To the Mayor of Boston:

Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalk in the public streets, without advertising, to W. F. Esterhill, 106 Buttonwood street, Dorchester, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; secondly, the expense of construction is divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

Upon June 7 the Mayor approved a contract with Thomas O'Connor & Co. for the construction of two additional class rooms in the Theodore Roosevelt Intermediate School. A communication from Thomas P. Glynn of the Schoolhouse Department was as follows:

BOSTON, June 5, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests the approval of your Honor, under the provisions of chapter 486, section 30 of the Acts of 1909, to awarding a contract, without advertising, to Thomas O'Connor & Co., Kendall square, Cambridge, for the construction of two additional class rooms to the Theodore Roosevelt Intermediate School, Roxbury district, the cost of said work to exceed one thousand (1,000) dollars.

The reason for making this request is as follows: The Theodore Roosevelt Intermediate School was erected by Thomas O'Connor & Co., having been completed in October, 1923. The School Committee has now requested the construction of these two additional rooms which they wish to have ready for occupancy at the reopening of the schools in September. The Board feels that this work will be facilitated by the employment of the same contractor as on the original building, and therefore requests the approval of your Honor as above stated.

Respectfully yours,

THOMAS P. GLYNN,
Chairman.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

Upon June 13 the Mayor approved a contract with the Linscott Motor Company for furnishing the Public Works Department, Paving Service, three Reo speedwagons. A communication from Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract to the Linscott Motor Company, without advertising, for furnishing to the Public Works Department, Paving Service, three Reo speedwagons equipped with Metro cab, 1½ yard dump bodies and wood hydraulic hoists, painted and lettered as required, at $2,250 each.

Superintendent of Supplies.

Upon June 14 the Mayor approved a contract with the Noyes-Buick Company for furnishing apparatus to the Fire Department. A communication from Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

BOSTON, June 18, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without advertising, to the Noyes-Buick Company for furnishing to the Fire Department, one Model K-41 GMC 2-ton chassis, equipped with electric lights, generator, battery, high tension magneto, 36 by 5 front and 36 by 8 rear Goodrich semi-pneumatic tires, Metropolitan all weather cab, and body of same dimensions as one now in use in the Fire Alarm Branch with exception that it is to be 6 inches lower, to be painted Fire Department red and lettered according to our specifications, at $4,381.

Several concerns were requested to submit prices on this truck and equipment, and I have selected the G. M. C. truck on account of the fact that we have G. M. C. trucks now in use in the Public Works Department, and they have given complete satisfaction.

The price submitted by the Noyes-Buick Company on a registered two-ton truck was lower than that of the other concerns. As this truck is needed at once, and no advantage would be gained by publicly advertising for same I feel that the best interests of the city will be served by granting this permission.

Respectfully yours,

FRANK P. ROCK,
Superintendent of Supplies.

SPEECH AT WAKEFIELD.

It is more than the silken emblem of a people's progress, of a nation's greatness. It is the oriflamme of the most glorious chapter of that story of nearly 1,800 years of struggle on the part of good women and good men in every land on earth for the creation of a government in which the supreme test of fitness should be the character of the individual, and his unchallenged right to liberty and equality of opportunity. When Thomas Jefferson wrote the word "equality" into the Declaration of Independence, and it later was incorporated into the Constitution and the Bill of Rights and the right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness was guaranteed to all men without regard to race, creed or color, there was created a magnet powerful enough to draw to the weak and struggling republic of the past Revolutionary days the pure womanhood and the hardy manhood of every land in the entire world; and because of the knowledge that in America the old Divine Right theories thereof no longer existed, and that no man had a God-given right to rule other men without their approval or consent men sought and still seek our shores. It took eight long, weary years to establish that ideal and making of it a reality; it took four long, weary years as these brave heroes here can testify to make a reality of the right of equality withheld to Americans because of the accident of birth.

Then came the hour when that flag first saw the light of day carried on sea by these men whose deed and daring Americans still conjure with. But for the courage and character of the men who gave to the world the American Republic, the movement for human liberty would have died before aborning.

Then came that day at Valley Forge, when the Father of our country watched the decrease in the ranks of the army and nightly prayed for the success of that movement. To Washington, at Valley Forge, where the trail of the army might be traced by the bleeding feet of his soldiers, ragged and shoeless, when desertions were common, when dissension was rife, came that great man that Wakefield honors by naming one of its thoroughfares after, the Marquis Lafayette, and the pledge of French aid and alliance which gave courage, hope and determination to America and made possible the dissipation of the gloom of Valley Forge and the radiant sun of Yorktown. During the recent World War a like condition obtained. The armies of the Allied soldiery had experienced no thrill of victory for a period of over three years. America was pictured as a nation devoid of unity, so cosmopolitan in character, so divided by racial and religious lines as to render impossible a united America. The Central Empires believed that the men in America, the peace soldiery of the world, would resent conscription. There was and always has been something repulsive in the word conscription, taking from the mother her son, from the wife her husband and from the widow her only boy, yet the time came in the life of America, under the leadership of Woodrow Wilson, when the selective draft system was adopted and was accepted by the American people as the fairest and most democratic method of securing an army. Only those were called to serve who were physically and mentally fit, and ten million men responded. Of course there were whispers that America would not answer the national call, but there was no bloodshed, no riot. Then it became the duty of America to conscript the railroads so that they might for the national service and carry to the seaboard supplies for all the people of the Allied countries. It was necessary for America to build a bridge of ships from America to France and it was built. It was necessary that some one man take charge of the Atlantic transport service and the man was found; a single transport was lost. It became imperative that American finance the needs of the warring world and the savings of the people backed the credit of the nation and saved the situation.

In May, 1918, American troops occupied the third line trenches of the battle-front and veteran European strategists hoped in a year to train them to fighting efficiency. Later in that month the advancing enemy carried the first and second lines of defence, driving the seasoned allied soldiers before them; the third line became the front line and as the cry went up "The Boches are coming," the order for retreat was given. The American commander replied, "There is no such word as retreat in the American Soldier's Manual. We are here to advance and advance we will."

That was the spirit of the American soldier and freeman. They had come to France to fight and win and end the war and they never stayed their conquering advance until the enemy cried truce and signed the armistice and the war was won. Seventy thousand white crosses standing in the fields and forests of France and Flanders, the thousands who crowd our hospitals and institutions maimed in body and mind, oblivious to friends and relatives and loved ones, the battered battalions hidden in homes, their usefulness destroyed, the many ignored and forgotten by the land they served, the debt of billions and the huge burden of taxation—these constitute the price America has paid for her fidelity to democracy and humanity.

No people can pay too high for the preservation of its ideals and principles and the security of its government; and the lessons taught by the World War must not be forgotten, nor should those who gave us victory with honor be neglected. It has been said that "Everybody's business is nobody's business"; yet the Government of America is the business of the nation and everybody's business is the business of every individual citizen, his personal business; and only as we make it our personal business and insist that the vital business of the country, the things that make its progress and prosperity possible and its stability a certainty, shall be separated from the peculiarly political affairs of the land and be no longer the football of partisanship. The trade industry, commerce and transportation of America are business matters not political; the safeguarding of the republic from foreign invasion and domestic disturbance is a national duty not a partisan obligation; and only as we realize these distinctions, make the public business our personal business, and insist that attachment to a party must be subordinated to devotion to our country and its paramount interests, can we hope to keep our beloved republic powerful, progressive, peaceful, prosperous, honored abroad, secure at home, able to meet every obligation, neglecting no duty, and marching into the future with the love, loyalty and allegiance of its citizens.

No chain is stronger than its weakest link; no stream rises higher than its source. The American citizen is the link in the national chain, the source of the national stream; and as we train and guide his intelligence, strengthen his devotion, safeguard his rights and privileges and quicken his sense of civic duty and political, so shall we best serve and preserve this Republic.

PRINTING DEPARTMENT CAN NOW BOAST OF TRUCK EQUAL TO ITS NEEDS AND AS GOOD AS ANY OTHER BRANCH OF CITY SERVICE.

WITH CONSENT OF MAYOR CURLEY, MAJOR WILLIAM J. CASEY, SUPERINTENDENT, HAS PURCHASED HANDSOME REO TRUCK FOR PLANT'S USE.

NEW REO SPEED TRUCK NOW THE PRIDE OF CITY PRINTING DEPARTMENT PURCHASED TO TAKE CARE OF INCREASED BUSINESS.

Boston's municipal printing plant has secured a present from the city. It is in the form of a new truck. This is the third truck secured by the department in eight years. The other two were products of the Ford Plant and served the city well. Owing to the fact that because of increasing business the old truck was disintegrating rapidly it was thought best to replace it.

Accordingly, Major William J. Casey, superintendent of the plant, secured consent of the Mayor to buy one and the above car was secured from the Reo concern. It was built on plans devised by Major Casey, looking to caring for the increased business of the plant. Due largely to the granting to women of the right to vote the business of the plant has jumped more than one hundred per cent, the voting lists and police lists adding as much as this to the work. The work in other features also has increased so that it is only a question of time when another truck will be needed. All the Printing Department are proud of the acquisition.

AUTHORITY TO DO WORK.

The Mayor has approved the request of the Public Works Department for authority to relay granite block pavement, grout joints, in Warren street, Charlestown, from Park street to Thompson square, with division force, without advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $10,000.

Also repair macadam roadway in Chelsea street, East Boston, from Saratoga street to Chelsea Bridge, with division force, without advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $6,000.

Also to repair macadam roadway in Day square, East Boston, with division force, without advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $2,000.

Also to relay granite block pavement, grout joints, in Park street, Charlestown, from City square across Henley street, with division force, without advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $4,000.

MAYOR CURLEY WELCOMES SHOE AND LEATHER MEN TO BOSTON FOR ANNUAL FAIR.

MAYOR CURLEY HAS EXTENDED THE FOLLOWING WELCOME TO THE SHOE AND LEATHER TRADE UPON THE OCCASION OF THE OPENING OF THE ANNUAL SHOE AND LEATHER FAIR, MONDAY, JULY 14:

CITY OF BOSTON,
OFFICE OF THE MAYOR.

To the Shoe and Leather Trade:

It has been exceedingly gratifying to me to note the gradual expansion and success of the Shoe and Leather Exposition and Style Revue held annually in the City of Boston under official manufacturers' auspices. This diversified market fair has proved a most valuable method of acquainting the American public with the merits and usefulness of a great and distinctly national industry; for the great impetus that transformed the humble work of the shoe maker into a vast and expanding industry to meet the increasing necessities of the world, had its origin in the inventive genius and mechanical ingenuity of America, and notably of New England.

I trust the coming exposition, to be held in this city in the week of July 14, may be as successful in attendance and results as those in previous years; and I can assure you of a cordial welcome in behalf of the City of Boston.

Yours very truly,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

FIRE DEPARTMENT TO AID CITY YOUNGSTERS TO KEEP COOL. MAYOR CURLEY REMEMBERS THEM.

Boston youngsters who can't go to the beaches for a cool swim during the hot weather this summer will get the next best thing to it — a cool shower within a few blocks of their homes.

Fire Commissioner Theodore Glynn, at the direction of Mayor Curley, has issued orders to the department through Chief John O. Tabor to prepare the Fire Department sprinklers for service.

During the hot weather the firemen will go to various hydrants in different sections of the city and set up the sprinklers. The firemen seem to know where the children gather or vice versa as they never fail to have half a hundred joyous youngsters paddling about under the stream of water wherever they go.

Most of the showers will be in the congested sections of the city where the children have little or no chance to see a beach from one end of the summer to the other and the "kiddies" will be on the watch for the first appearance of the firemen.

The sprinklers used will be the ones purchased more than a year ago by the city for this purpose and which were used last year with great success.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.]

CITY PLANNING BOARD TO SELL NEW ZONING LAW.

The Mayor has received the following communication from Chairman Frederick H. Fay of the City Planning Board:

BOSTON, June 24, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—The City Planning Board has on hand a limited number of copies of the zoning law for the City of Boston, together with maps showing the classification in the different districts of the city. In order to regulate the distribution of these pamphlets until such time as the law is incorporated in the volume containing the building law issued by the Building Department, the City Planning Board believe that a charge proportionate to the cost should be made for each copy.

At a meeting of the City Planning Board on Monday, June 23, it was accordingly:

Voted, That with the approval of his Honor the Mayor, copies of the zoning law for the City of Boston, together with the accompanying maps, shall be sold by the City Planning Board on the basis of $1 for each complete set; 50 cents for each separate copy of the law, and 10 cents for each separate map, the proceeds from such sale to be credited to general revenue, City Planning Board.

Respectfully yours,

FREDERIC H. FAY,
Chairman.

PUBLIC LIBRARY EXHIBITION OF CHURCH MUSIC.

An exhibition designed to show the evolution of church music is now on view at the Boston Public Library. Manuscripts, facsimiles and printed scores reveal the course of music notation through the ages. From the earliest known Christian hymn with notation indicated by letters of the Greek alphabet, dating from the third century, recently discovered on a papyrus roll in Egypt; through the manuscripts of the middle ages, noted with neums which look like shorthand and which reminded the singers of the tunes they knew by heart; through the square-note music of the Renaissance, with beautiful illuminations, all stages of notation can be seen down to our own day.

Songs of the Crusaders and liturgical music of historical cathedrals and monasteries; psalms of the Roundheads, hymns of the French Huguenots and Puritans of New England are all to be seen here. The first book printed in America, the "Bay Psalms Book," is shown together with Wesley's collection of hymns, the first original hymns printed in America in English. Then come James Lyon's "Urania" and the works of Billings, whose quaint "By the Rovers of Watertown" gives an insight into musical activities of Revolutionary days. Samuel Adams sang in the choir with Billings and Paul Revere engraved the plates for his books.

Bostonians who know the Holden organ in the Old State House will be amused to see pictures of organs in foreign museums and churches. Indeed a walk through the exhibition is equivalent to the survey of many a European museum and one gets almost the same thrill that rewards the Egyptian excavator. Here is a picture of the Montpellier manuscript which gives the key to the notation of the neums in the same way that the Rosetta stone was the key to the Egyptian hieroglyphics.

The exhibition is of interest to the general public as well as to the student. The Victor Herbert exhibition which has attracted so much attention is still on view.

BOSTON'S INDEPENDENCE DAY CELEBRATION BEST EVER HELD BY CITY IN HISTORY.

FLAG RAISING, ORATORY AT COMMON, OLD STATE HOUSE AND OLD SOUTH MEETING HOUSE. PAGEANT, SPORTS, FIREWORKS HELPED TO ENTERTAIN THOUSANDS.

Boston's Fourth of July celebration this year was better and bigger than ever; for in addition to the celebration in the center of the city, fifteen committees in various sections and wards also had celebrations on the city playgrounds.

From early in the morning until late at night there was something going on, including oratory to fireworks, free ice cream and a pageant of nationalities.

The official opening of the city celebration was at 9.30 a. m. when Mayor Curley raised the national colors and the municipal flag on the staff on Boston Common.

Mayor Curley, with his guests and the committee in charge of the day's celebration, escorted by a detachment of marines and bluejackets and a band from the United States ship "Utah," and a color guard from the Boston Latin School cadets, started from City Hall at 9 a. m. and proceeded to the Common by way of School and Tremont streets.

The program at the Common included music by the band, an introduction by Edward L. Curran, chairman on this occasion, an address by Mayor Curley, the raising of the colors, the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner," and the return march to the Old State House by way of Tremont street, Scollay square and Court street.

At the Old State House, at 10 o'clock, Joseph F. Donoghue, a student at the English High School, in colonial dress, read the Declaration of Independence from the same balcony from which it was read in 1776. The program included selections by the band, an introduction by Henry J. D. Small, a brief address by the Mayor, and the reading of the Declaration of Independence, followed by "America," sung by the audience.

At the Old South Meeting House the Independence Day oration was delivered by Rev. Dudley Hays Ferrell, A. M., Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, A. F. and A. M. Mayor Curley was presented as presiding officer by John J. Keenan, chairman of the general committee in charge of the day's celebration.

Rev. L. Toma, C. S. C. B., of the Church of the Sacred Heart, North square, delivered the invocation, the audience sang "America" and the Declaration of Independence was read for the second time by Joseph F. Donoghue of the English High School. After the oration the exercises ended with "The Star-Spangled Banner." This also ended the morning's celebration.

The general committee in charge of the entire celebration, beside the chairmen already mentioned, includes Frederic C. Bauer, Harry N. Guterman, Frank Leveroni, Joseph A. F. O'Neil, Charles P. Putnam, John J. Sawtelle, John A. Scanga and Louis Watson, with ex-officio members, John B. Archibald and E. B. Mero, president and secretary of the Citizens' Public Celebrations Association.

A pageant, "The Pied Piper," featured the afternoon celebration at Frog Pond on the Common at 3.45 to 5.15 p. m.

This was the third annual event of this character and was arranged by the Boston Social Union; it included as participants children from the various settlements of the city. The pageant was written by Miss Imogene Hogie Putnam and was directed by her. Wilfred F. Kelley was chairman in charge of this event on the day's program.

At 5.30 p. m. the colors ceremony took place again at the flagstaff as the flag was taken down for the day. A living flag was formed by 700 school children from the Mission Church School, organized for the occasion by Rev. John O'Leary, C. S. S. R., rector of the church and Sister Mary John, principal of the school.

Capt. Edward F. O'Dowd acted as director and the formation of the flag was immediately followed by the evening military ceremony, conducted by a battalion and a band from the United States Army, with a salute to the colors by a field artillery detachment. The ceremony was followed by a review of the troops present.

The evening celebration consisted of a community demonstration on the slopes of Monument Hill, from 8 to 10 p. m. It was the thirteenth event of this kind in the history of the city, and was more elaborate than that of last year. Special effects were arranged in the illumination of the fountain in the center of the pond, an electrical display and amplifying apparatus so that the words of the speakers were audible all over the Common.

Several groups took part in it, representing the cosmopolitan character of the present population of Boston, with group and solo dancing, mass singing, music by a band stationed on a special stage, and a finale appropriate to the day.

Mayor Curley made an address. Exalted Ruler James G. McFarland of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks was the special guest of honor and also spoke. Frank Chouteau Brown was chairman of the committee in charge of the spectacle. It closed with a display of fireworks on the athletic field at 10 p. m.

In addition to this official all-day celebration of July Fourth there were a number of private or municipally conducted events. At 10 a. m. there was an athletic carnival on Boston Common with handicap events, open to registered amateurs. Medals were awarded in each event. The meet was held under the sanction of the N. E. A. A. U., James H. Phelan, chairman.

At 9 a. m. on the Charles River Basin, there was a rowing regatta, under the auspices of the New England Rowing Association; at 11 a. m. yacht races off City Point under the auspices of the Yacht Racing Union of Massachusetts, and at 2.30 p. m. swimming races on the Charles River basin at the foot of Chestnut street, with events for both men and women, including New England A. A. U. championships.

The district celebrations in fifteen sections of the city under local committees were in charge of the following chairmen: East Boston, Michael A. Laurano; Forest Hills, Daniel A. Donahue; West Roxbury, Richard J. Cronin; Metropolitan Hill, William J. McAuliffe; North End, Nicholas Cefalo; South Boston, Hector McInnes; Neponset, Matthew Cummings; Brighton-Allston, Francis A. McLaughlin; Jamaica Plain, Mrs. Katharine A. Sullivan; Roslindale, John W. Reth; Roxbury, Patrick J. Sullivan; South End, Patrick J. Melody; West End, John Farley; Dorchester, Michael J. Norton; Hyde Park, Frank L. Kelley.

Band concerts were rendered during the afternoon and evening in the following centers: Marine Park, South Boston, 2.30 p. m.; North End Park, 3 p. m.; Forest Hills, 3.30 p. m.; Wood Island Park, East Boston, 3 p. m.; in the evening, uniformly at 8 o'clock, at Orient Heights, East Boston; Everett square, Hyde Park; Wilson Park, Brighton; Smith Park, Brighton; Ronan Park, Dorchester; Franklin Field; Billings Field, West Roxbury; Blackstone square, South End; Mission Hill Playground; at Ruggles and Cabot streets, Roxbury; at Dunmore and Magazine streets, Roxbury; at Neponset Playground, at Metropolitan Hill, at Jamaica Pond, and at Fallon Field, Washington street, Roslindale.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 558.

The resignation of Patrolman James J. Stacey of Division 20 having been presented, it is hereby accepted, to take effect Friday, June 27, 1924, at 7.45 o'clock a. m.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 559.

A trial board consisting of Captains Grant, Goff and Gallivan, having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman Michael J. Farron of Division 5, charging him with neglect of duty, has reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty. In accordance with which, it is hereby ordered that the said Patrolman Michael J. Farron perform one hundred and five hours' punishment duty.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 560.

The commanding officers of Divisions 11 and 13 have brought to my attention the following excellent pieces of police work performed by officers in their several divisions:

I. At about eight o'clock in the evening of March 27, 1924, Patrolman Patrick J. Crowley of Division 11, learning that there was a fire in the three-family dwelling at 45 Corona street, at once repaired to the building, arriving there before the fire apparatus had appeared. Having been told that every one was out of the house, he went into the first suite and opened the windows and as he was coming out, met a woman who told him that her baby was still in the suite on the first floor.

Although the smoke had become very dense, Patrolman Crowley at once returned to the suite and groping his way into the bedroom, found the child lying face down in its crib. The officer, with great presence of mind, tore down a window curtain, and wrapping it around the child, brought it out in safety to its grateful mother. Had it not been for the officer's prompt action, the child would undoubtedly have been suffocated.

It has given me great pleasure to learn of this brave act on the part of Patrolman Crowley, and I heartily commend him not only for his courage but for his quickness of thought and action which enabled him to save the life of this little child.

II. On January 2, 1924, at about half past two in the afternoon, as Patrolman Patrick L. Harrington of Division 13 was pulling his box at the corner of Washington and Williams streets, his attention was attracted by two men on the opposite side of the street, one of whom was carrying a woman's suitcase. As the officer crossed the street to question them, the men entered a barber shop with a pool room in the rear. Patrolman Harrington followed them, and as their replies to his inquiries concerning their business were unsatisfactory, placed them under arrest as suspicious persons and brought them to the patrol box, where Patrolman Lawrence L. Riley of Division 13, who was passing in a street car, observed them and came to the officer's assistance.

As they were waiting for the patrol wagon, a third man came down Williams street, and the officers, noticing signs of recognition pass between him and the prisoners, also placed him under arrest, taking from him a loaded revolver. On the arrival of the wagon, the prisoners were placed inside and the officers searched the barber shop, where they found a loaded revolver placed there by one of the men. Upon examination of the prisoners at the station house, it was found that they had broken into and entered premises in Williams, South and Castleton streets and had stolen property to the value of over twelve hundred dollars, all of which property was recovered at the time by the officers.

After trial in the Superior Court, these men were given one year, each, in a penal institution.

III. About three o'clock in the morning of May 24, 1924, Patrolman William G. Dunn of Division 13 saw an automobile with dim headlights coming east towards Forest Hills on the parkway and noticed that its registration numbers were the same as some which had earlier been given out as belonging to a Maxwell touring car, stolen in Cambridge at two o'clock a. m., and which at 2.50 a. m. had been used in connection with a break on Division 11.

The officer drew his revolver and ordered the operator to stop, and as the latter showed no sign of complying, swung himself on to the side of the machine, stopped the car, placed the two passengers, who answered to the description of the two men wanted, under arrest, and with the assistance of Patrolman George J. Gibbs of the same division, who had been chasing the car, brought them to the station house. Patrolman Samuel F. Bowman of Division 17, who was also at the box, noticed the two men drop something, which he picked up and found to be several rolls of pennies, fifty to each roll. These men were held in the sum of $5,000 each for the Grand Jury.

It is highly gratifying to learn of such admirable police work on the part of these officers, and I warmly commend Patrolmen Harrington, Riley and Dunn for their intelligent alertness, quickness of observation and courage in apprehending these criminals.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

Commissioner.

Consists in the most inclusive sense of 40 municipalities, including Boston, or 14 cities and 26 towns, all within 15 miles of the State House. The 7 cities in the first zone, i. e., adjacent to Boston, are these, viz., Cambridge, Chelsea, Everett, Newton, Quincy, Revere and Somerville; the 6 cities in the second zone, not adjacent, are Lynn, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Waltham and Woburn. The 6 adjacent towns are Brookline, Dedham, Milton, Needham, Watertown and Winthrop; the 20 other towns are Arlington, Belmont, Braintree, Canton, Cohasset, Dover, Hingham, Hull, Lexington, Nahant, Reading, Saugus, Stoneham, Swampscott, Wakefield, Wellesley, Weston, Westwood, Weymouth and Winchester.

square mile; Southern Division, 214.8 square miles and 211,191 population, or density of only 983 per square mile; in the whole Metropolitan District, 4,051 per square mile. In percentages Boston shows 10.5 per cent of District's area and 45.09 per cent of population; Northern Division, 36.2 of area and 42.18 of population; Southern Division, 53.3 of area and 12.73 of population. In the period 1915-1920, increase of population 34,798 larger in Northern than in Southern Division.

Total land area of District, 409.5 square miles; population by census of 1920, 1,658,936 or 4.08 per cent increase over that of 1915. Corrected population for 1920 (Boston's total increased by 54,808) 1,713,744. Of the total population of the State "Greater Boston" has 44.48 per cent; of total valuation, 51.11 per cent; of total value of manufactures, 32.53 per cent.

said total 57.47 per cent was in Boston and 42.53 per cent outside.

The four organized Metropolitan Districts existing for the purpose of constructing and maintaining certain extensive systems of public works under State control are as follows: Metropolitan Park District, established by chapter 407, Acts of 1893, including all the cities and towns except Lexington, and managed by a State Board of five commissioners; Metropolitan Water District, established by chapter 488, Acts of 1895, including 10 cities and 9 towns, and covering an area of 175 square miles; Metropolitan Sewerage District, established by chapter 439, Acts of 1889, consisting of the North System and South System, including 17 cities and towns in the former system and 8 in the latter, and covering an area of 225 square miles; the last two districts managed by a single State board of three commissioners; Charles River Basin District, established by chapter 465, Acts of 1903, including all the cities and towns except Cohasset and Lexington, and in charge of the Metropolitan Park Commission. By Chapter 350, General Acts of 1919, the two Metropolitan boards were abolished and a single Metropolitan Commission of five members was established.

Another Metropolitan District, viz., the Fire Prevention District, was organized in 1914 by the enactment of chapter 795. In this district are the 14 cities of "Greater Boston," but only 10 of the towns, to which were added Reading and Rockland, a total of 25 municipalities. The District is in charge of a single commissioner, assisted by a deputy commissioner, both appointed for a term of three years. This office was also abolished by said Chapter 350, the work of same being transferred to Department of Public Safety.

Total gross Metropolitan debt for water, parks, sewers and Charles River Basin improvements on July 1, 1922, $77,599,512; sinking funds, $31,419,635; net debt, $46,179,877 or $1,649,011 less than in 1921. This net debt is divided thus: Water supply, $24,514,519; sewers, $11,265,640; parks, boulevards, etc., $7,318,353; Charles River Basin, $3,081,365.

Of 1922 tax rates, the highest of the cities was Quincy's ($36.20) and the highest among the towns, that of Saugus ($38.00); the lowest among the cities was Boston's ($24.70) and among the towns, that of Weston ($18.90). Mean tax rate of the 13 cities in the District outside of Boston, $32.48 or $1.00 more than in 1921 and $3.38 more than in 1920. Of the 63 individuals thus selected (up to 1920 inclusive) by an electorate of 100 leading Americans, 27 were natives or for some time citizens of Boston or vicinity. The names of the latter are as follows: Chosen in 1900—John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, William Ellery Channing, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Daniel Webster, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Horace Mann, Nathaniel Hawthorne, George Peabody, Samuel Finley Breese Morse, Joseph Story, Asa Gray, Gilbert Stuart—total, 13.

If those who were natives or residents elsewhere in the State are added to the list, the following 7 names increase the total to 34 for Massachusetts or more than half the whole number, viz.: William Cullen Bryant, Jonathan Edwards, Mark Hopkins, Elias Howe, Eli Whitney, Maria Mitchell, Mary Lyon.

If all New England is included, 4 more names will bring up the total to 38 or 60.3 per cent of whole number chosen, viz.: Roger Williams, Henry Ward Beecher, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Emma Willard.

CITY CHARTER CHANGES.

In 1854, 1885 and 1900 important changes in the original City Charter of 1821 were effected for the purpose of improving the methods and efficiency of the City Government. The revision of 1854 (Chap. 448, Stat. 1854) referred to the voters for acceptance, gave the Mayor a qualified veto over the action of the City Council, also the power of removal of appointed officials, besides providing for his election by a plurality instead of a majority vote. The amendments of 1885 (Chap. 266, Stat. 1885) were not submitted to the voters for approval. They transferred all the executive powers to the Mayor, prohibiting the City Council from interference with the executive and administrative business of the City. This was done in order to end the inefficiency resulting from an excessive number of joint committees, a municipal development conforming to the traditions of the outgrown town government.

The amendments of 1909 (Chap. 486, Stat. 1909) cut down the number and powers of the legislative branch of the government to a minimum, the Board of Aldermen (13 members) and the Common Council (75 members) being abolished. For these was substituted a single City Council of nine members to be elected at large for a 3-year term. The Mayor's position was further strengthened by giving him a 4-year term, subject to recall at end of two years, but requiring a majority of the registered voters to make the recall effective. The Mayor's power over appointments was no longer subject to check by aldermen but by a State board, the Civil Service Commission, and City elections were removed from all connection with national and State politics, no primaries nor caucuses being permitted, all candidates for office to be selected by means of nomination papers. The only question in this Act of 1909 which was submitted to the voters was contained in section 35, i. e., whether Plan 1 or Plan 2 should be adopted, the first providing for a term of two years for Mayor and a City Council of 36 members to be chosen in primaries. Plan 2 was adopted by a majority of 3,894. Charter of 1909 amended later as follows: (1) By Chap. 437, Acts of 1910, exempting loans issued for Rapid Transit construction from the prohibition of the establishing of sinking funds, as contained in sec. 26. (2) Chap. 730, Acts of 1914, fixing date of annual municipal election on the sixth Tuesday after the state election instead of in the following January, as in sec. 32; changing the requirement as to signatures on nomination papers to 3,000 for Mayor and 2,000 for City Council and School Committee instead of 5,000 for all, as in sec. 53, also limiting the number of nomination papers issued to 300 for a candidate for Mayor and 200 for other candidates, referring to sec. 54. (3) Chap. 37, Special Acts of 1918, annulling the jurat at end of nomination papers. (4) Chap. 94, Special Acts of 1918, abolishing recall of Mayor, and making him ineligible for re-election, i. e., establishing a single term of four years, but not prohibiting the election of any Mayor for other than consecutive terms. (5) Chap. 288, Acts of 1921, fixing date of the annual municipal election on the first Tuesday after the second Monday in December, also making slight changes as to nominations.

LIQUOR LICENSES AND NATIONAL PROHIBITION.

The national prohibition amendment (i. e., the 18th) to the Constitution, having been ratified by 45 States and becoming effective on January 16, 1920, the legalized trade in intoxicating liquors ceased then. It was supposed to stop about 6 months sooner because of the Federal war regulation providing for prohibition on July 1, 1919, to be effective until the army could be demobilized. But as there was no Massachusetts law forbidding the issuing of licenses after July 1, the Boston Licensing Board issued 702 such for the remainder of the license year with the proviso that the license was no protection against violation of Federal law. After July 1, under Federal law, the only liquor which licensees claimed the right to sell was beer and ale containing not over 2.75 per cent of alcohol. Sales of these lighter beverages continued to October 28, 1919, when Congress enacted a law (Volstead Act) forbidding the sale of any liquor as a beverage containing more than 0.50 per cent alcohol. The validity of this act being widely questioned, the United States Supreme Court upheld it on Jan. 5, 1920, and again on June 7, 1920. The result of this decision was that former applicants for liquor licenses did not apply for them in 1920. The Supreme Court of Mass. later in the year decided that the liquor laws of the State remain in force where not inconsistent with the Volstead Act. The Boston Board therefore issued 146 licenses to druggists and 17 4th-class, permitting sales for non-beverage purposes only. In 1921 there were issued 192 licenses to druggists, 15 4th-class and one 5th-class. On May 17, 1922, Chap. 427, Acts of 1922 (consisting of 27 sections) was approved, providing for the carrying into effect in Mass. of the 18th Federal (i. e., prohibition) amendment. This law is subject to a referendum at State election on November 7, 1922.

By Chapter 392, Acts of 1922, the retailing of non-intoxicating beverages is subjected to license, with fee of not more than one dollar for each year ending April 30.

PUBLIC STREETS IN BOSTON.

Total length of the 2,447 paved (accepted) streets, February 1, 1922, 606.33 miles; total area, 11,459,009 square yards, or 8.47 per cent of the City's total land area. This is exclusive of the private streets (not accepted), numbering about 2,890. 366.10 miles, or 60.38 per cent, are paved with macadam (including 128.03 miles bituminous macadam); 105.66 miles with granite block; 45.50 miles with asphalt; 29.32 miles with gravel; 36.63 miles with asphalt concrete (17.55 m. being bitulithic and 13.71 m. Topeka); 11.69 miles with wood block; 5.42 miles with brick. Old macadam pavement is gradually being replaced with more satisfactory and durable kinds, such as bitulithic, concrete, granite block, etc., $5,138,678 having been expended during the past four years in reconstructing and improving 313 miles of streets and parts of streets. Granolithic sidewalks laid in 1921, 97,049 square yards, or about 21 miles, averaging 8 feet wide, 50 per cent of cost assessed on estates benefited.

New highway construction completed in period 1918-1921 includes 13 streets in Boston Proper; 34 in Dorchester; 37 in West Roxbury; 14 in Roxbury; 24 in Brighton; 6 in East Boston; 3 in Hyde Park; 4 in South Boston, and 1 in Charlestown, roadway pavement bitulithic, or asphalt surface on concrete, and bituminous macadam. Gross debt outstanding February 1, 1922, for all street construction, including damages, $22,267,141 or $925,700 more than in 1921, this increase due to new loan for Stuart St. construction.

SETTLEMENT OF BOSTON.

Boston was settled in the latter part of August, 1630, by Puritan colonists under Governor John Winthrop. The name of the original settlement was changed to Boston from Trimountaine by order of the Court of Assistants on September 7 (O. S.), 1630. This date was moved forward by the New Style calendar in 1752 to Sept. 17, the recognized date of the founding of Boston. The name, Trimountaine, had been given because of the three peaks of the most prominent hill, afterward called Beacon Hill, much higher then than now. By the Indians the place was called Shawmut. The name, Boston, was derived from the English town of Boston in Lincolnshire, the home of some of the leading colonists and promoters of the enterprise.

PETITIONS OF BOSTON ELEMENTARY TEACHERS' CLUB REGARDING INCREASES IN SALARIES.

A communication was received from Anne D. Allard, President, Boston Elementary Teachers' Club, under date of June 9, 1924, petitioning, on behalf of the Salary Committee of that Club, that the Board grant no increases of salary until sufficient funds are assured to grant increase to the elementary teachers; stating that the members of the Salary Committee consider that the proposed changes in salaries are the gravest injustice to their group that has been contemplated in many years; and earnestly requesting that the Board reconsider the matter in the light of recent information with regard to the reaction among the teachers.

Referred to the Board of Apportionment.

The following preamble and resolve were received from Anne D. Allard, President, Boston Elementary Teachers' Club, under date of June 12, 1924:

The members of the Boston Elementary Teachers' Club in meeting assembled, have unanimously adopted the following resolutions, and have directed that copies be sent to your Honorable Committee:

Whereas, The object of the Boston Elementary Teachers' Club is "to promote a spirit of professional loyalty which shall lead the unity of action whenever required for the advancement of the best interests of all the members"—

Whereas, The Boston Elementary Teachers' Club whenever instrumental in securing funds from the Legislature for salaries has obtained a sufficient amount to increase the salaries of all groups,—

Whereas, In the last twelve years these funds have been used by the School Committees toward maintaining or decreasing the differences now existing between salaries of elementary assistants and those of other ranks—

Whereas, The tendency throughout the country is toward a uniform salary schedule for all grades with lessening of differences between salaries of teachers and those of executives and supervisors—

Whereas, The argument in favor of maintaining the present difference or lessening it, was used but a few months ago by the former chairman of the School Committee as the principal reason for opposing equal salaries for high school women and men—

Whereas, Investigators have frequently expressed the opinion that the schedule of salaries of the School Department of Boston is "too heavy"—

Whereas, Educators and public officials have continually reiterated the fact that the best work and the most valuable to our community, city, state, and nation is accomplished by the elementary assistants—

Whereas, The president of the Boston Elementary Teachers' Club has clearly and repeatedly stated the position of this organization which is composed of the large group of classroom teachers of the elementary school—

Be it Resolved, That the Boston Elementary Teachers' Club respectfully requests that no increases be granted until sufficient funds can be obtained from the Legislature to give increases to all, with due consideration for the lowest paid, the elementary teachers, who render such invaluable service.

Accompanying this petition were numerous other similar petitions signed by many teachers.

Referred to the Board of Apportionment.

PETITION FOR ADJUSTMENT OF LOSS SUSTAINED IN CHANGE FROM TEN-PAYMENT TO TWELVE-PAYMENT METHOD.

A communication was received from Anne D. Allard, President, Boston Elementary Teachers' Club, under date of June 15, 1924, offering the following suggestions for consideration in the distribution of the surplus of the Committee's appropriation:

That the Committee take action on the petition of the Boston Elementary Teachers' Club that the Committee order such adjustments as will insure each teacher affected by the change in the method of payment the full amount of the step on the salary schedule to which she is entitled.

That the Committee order that teachers in the first year of service be put on anniversary September 1st, or that at the end of a full year of service, adjustments be ordered to insure the full amount of $1,200 to each teacher affected.

That the Committee consider the suggestions that have been made to each member in conference that a uniform increment of $120 and a general anniversary of September 1st, be established.

Referred to the Board of Apportionment.

AMENDMENTS TO RULES AND REGULATIONS.

The following was offered:

ORDERED, That section 16, paragraph 1, of chapter I of the rules be amended to read as follows:

Section 16. 1. All sessions, conferences, meetings and hearings of the Board shall be open to the public, with the following exception:

The Board may by a majority vote, go into executive session for preliminary consideration of a particular case or matter of a nature universally accepted as peculiarly private, or involving the personal conduct, character or reputation of a member of the Committee, school official, teacher or other employee of the School Committee, parent, pupil or any other person; provided, however, that full record shall be duly taken of the proceedings and no vote shall be passed in such executive session.

Laid over.

The following was offered:

ORDERED, That the rules are hereby amended as follows:

Chapter IX

Duties of Salary Board.

Sections 140 and 141. Strike out both sections and substitute in place thereof the following:

Section 140. Each officer of the School Committee shall annually consider the classification and salaries of clerks and stenographers employed in his office and shall recommend to the Board such changes in classification and salaries as in his opinion are expedient. These recommendations shall be in writing and shall specifically state the reasons for the changes desired, and be particularly specific if the promotion of an individual is retarded or a demotion involved. Such changes shall take effect on the first day of February or at such later date as the salary board may recommend, and shall continue for a period of one year. Such classification and salaries having once been established for an ensuing year shall not be changed during that year.

Laid over.

SALARIES OF ASSISTANTS, ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICES.

The following was offered:

ORDERED, That the order passed at the meeting of June 2, 1924 (see p. 99), establishing the compensation of persons employed in the administrative offices and the supply room, be amended to provide for the following reclassification where necessary, and the weekly compensation here indicated:

Class A.	Per Week.
Annie M. Burke	$40
Margaret E. Hicks	35
Mary J. Hennessey	35
Marie T. Corkery	35
Agnes E. Reynolds	35
Class B.
Catherine T. R. Healy	29

On motion of Mr. O'Hare, the order was amended by inserting the name of Katherine T. McCarthy in Class A group, compensation to be at the rate of $35 per week, and by inserting the designation of Annie M. Burke as pay roll clerk.

In support of the foregoing order, Mr. Sullivan offered the following statement:

I offer as authority for my order amending order of June 2, 1924, establishing salaries, the minutes of July 19, 1918, and July 5, 1922, amending salary order of February 1, 1922, and the following statement on my order:

Annie M. Burke—In the service of the School Committee since 1908, as payroll clerk. For sixteen years Miss Burke has carried on the work of payrolls for 4,000 regular teachers, involving a yearly salary expenditure of $8,000,000. The responsibilities of her position have often compelled her to work overtime without compensation. All familiar with her work agree that her minimum salary should be at least $40.00 per week. This capable, conscientious, loyal employee, has been the victim of the outstanding salary injustice of the entire system.

Margaret E. Hicks—A victim of the Business Agent's time-clock philosophy. In the words of the Business Agent she is a superior clerk of excellent attainments. Her zeal is attested by her record of overtime. Her work is of a supervisory nature, involving purchasing contracts and orders.

Mary J. Hennessey—Thirteen years in the employ. Has charge of the running account. Last year approved 26,000 requisitions. Her duties have necessitated much overtime work.

Marie T. Corkery—In the service since September, 1907, attached to the office of the Superintendent. Her stenographic superiority acknowledged and availed of at hearings and meetings, private and public, of the School Committee.

Agnes E. Reynolds—Serving since July, 1912, as assistant in the office of the Secretary. Handles work in connection with meetings of School Board and other related work assigned by Secretary.

Catherine T. R. Healey—A stenographer in the service in the School Committee since 1919, acting in the capacity of secretary to the Director of Physical Training. Her valuable service recommends her for recognition and reward.

The cases referred to are the only ones that have come to my notice. I am ready and willing to consider any others where equal justice obtains.

The statement was placed on file, and the question came on the passage of the order, as amended.

YEAS—Dr. Bogan, Mr. O'Hare and Mr. Sullivan—3.

NAYS—Miss Curtis—1.

ABSENT—Dr. Scannell—1.

DISCONTINUANCE OF TIME-CLOCK IN BUSINESS AGENT'S OFFICE.

The following was offered:

ORDERED, That the assistants in the Business Agent's office be no longer required to stamp their time on a time-clock, on arriving at the Office of the Business Agent, until such time as the School Committee decides to provide a time-clock which would be used by all employees in the Administration Building, 15 Beacon Street, on the days when they are required to be on duty at the opening hours of their respective offices.

In support of the foregoing order, Mr. Sullivan offered the following statement:

I offer the following statement for inclusion in the minutes. With reluctance I approach the duty of criticizing in public meeting the Business Agent and his administration of office; but in the light of recent events, there is no escape.

The Business Agent's time-clock is apparently his pride and his joy. It records to the second any and all lateness on arrival, but scrupulously ignores all reference to overtime. Of the seventy-five employees in the Administration Offices, but nineteen are privileged to stamp the time-clock, because its popularity from its installation has been closely confined to the Business Agent.

The fates of the nineteen clerks depend solely on this temporal automaton; the destinies of the fifty-six are not even interested—thus the discrimination is evident.

Perhaps the time-clock would have ticked merrily on, without interruption or stop, but for the Business Agent's disclosure of his time-clock philosophy. In his recent salary recommendations he withheld increases from deserving clerks because his time-clock found them wanting. He commended their excellence as clerks, but the time-clock's tick was fatal and final.

In the Business Agent's time-clock philosophy overtime without pay is in no sense compensation for lateness; undertime is a scandal and overtime a mere gratuity.

This one-way clock is an imposition and a positive injustice. Assuming the competence of our administrative officers as a premise, there is no need in our system for this discriminatory time-clock and its antiquated philosophy.

The statement was placed on file and the order passed.

TWELVE - PAYMENT SYSTEM NOT TO PREJUDICE RIGHTS OF TEACHERS TO UNPAID BALANCES UNDER PRE-EXISTING CONTRACTUAL RIGHTS

The following was offered:

ORDERED, That the introduction of the twelve-payment system and its acceptance by the School Committee shall not be construed in any way as prejudicial to the rights of teachers to unpaid balances, if any, accruing to the said teachers under their pre-existing contractual rights.

In support of the foregoing order, Mr. Sullivan offered the following statement:

One thousand teachers are affected by the change from the ten-payment to the twelve-payment system, and they allege a loss approximating $200,000. There is mathematical conflict involved in this change.

The Business Agent asserts one thing; the teachers another. The Business Agent states that all differences will have resolved themselves by August 31st next. In all events the teachers are entitled to a saving clause at this time to protect their right to unpaid balances, if any, already earned by them, and I am offering the order for this purpose.

The statement was placed on file, and the order passed.

ADJOURNMENT.

The Board adjourned.

PUBLIC CONTROL OF BOSTON ELEVATED RAILWAY.

By Chapter 159, Special Acts of 1918, a State board of five trustees was created to assume control of the Elevated Railway Co. for the term of 10 years, the need being imperative to improve its unfortunate condition and impaired service in the interest of a very large traveling public. Regular dividends were continued and the raising of $3,000,000 of new capital was provided for by the issue and sale of preferred stock. It was also provided that if the income should be insufficient to meet the cost of service and the reserve fund proved inadequate, any deficit should be paid by the State and assessed upon the cities and towns in which the railway was operated. The fare was raised from 5 cents to 7, then to 8 and again to 10. The total deficit for year ending June 30, 1919, was $4,980,152, which was covered by extra taxation, as ordered, Boston paying $2,905,931 or 71.9 per cent of total levy. According to the said act of 1918, the cities and towns were to be reimbursed for assessments paid by them as soon as the financial condition of the Elevated Co. permitted.

By Chapter 369, General Acts of 1919, the purchase by the State from the Elevated Co. of the Cambridge Subway was ordered as an emergency law, the capital thus made available being needed by the trustees. The property was conveyed to the State May 1, 1920, on payment of $7,868,00 and 4½ per cent of this cost is payable by the B. E. Co. annually for rental.

The report of the Trustees of B. E. Railway Co. for year 1920 showed a notable financial improvement as compared with 1919, the cost of service exceeding receipts by $347,167 or only one-seventh of the deficit in 1919.

The Trustees' report for 1921 showed total receipts for that year of $33,277,026, exceeding the total cost of service, depreciation, debt requirements and dividends by $1,171,445. This surplus permitted certain reimbursements in 1922, Boston receiving $372,035 or 12.8 per cent of the assessment paid in 1919. Under the act of 1918, the general 10-cent fare cannot be reduced until all reimbursements are completed. On June 10, 1922, the consolidation of the West End Street Railway Co. with the Boston Elevated Co. went into effect, as provided by Acts of 1911, Chap. 740, the lease to the Elevated not expiring until the said date.

DIMENSIONS OF BOSTON.

MEMORABLE "ELEVEN O'CLOCK TOAST" DELIVERED BY HONORABLE JAMES M. CURLEY, MAYOR OF BOSTON, BEFORE ELKS CONVENTION. MOST SOUL-STIRRING IN HISTORY OF ORDER.

DELIVERED BEFORE SYMPHONY HALL ASSEMBLAGE IN STILLNESS OF MAGIC HOUR. IT STIRRED THE HEARTS OF ALL AUDITORS AS HAS NOTHING ELSE IN ENTIRE CONVENTION WEEK.—TO BE PRESERVED FOR ALL TIME.

The following is the "Eleven O'Clock Toast" delivered by Hon. James M. Curley, Mayor of Boston, to the Elks Convention at Symphony Hall, Monday, July 7, 1924:

In every meeting place of Elkdom, eleven o'clock is the solemn hour, the hour of hush, the hour of silence and recollection when under the subdued light of the order's emblem, the star of hope, the brethren of our fraternity stand and wait the tolling of the bell that sounds the hour, and recalls the memory of them who come no more forever, and who now sleep in peace under the grass and stars, indifferent to the envy, greed and hatred that mar the human heart, and conscious in the eternal life only of the beauty, of the kindness, charity and fellowship that glorify the soul.

In the stillness of that silent hour, when the music of the tolling bell has ceased and passed like a breath of fragrance, the memory of our dead is with us green and vital; the forms and faces of our vanished friends come trooping out of a dead past and the remembrance of their mirth and laughter, their comradeship and worth, appeal to us to bear gently with the frailties of our fellows who survive; to look with charity on the weaknesses of them who are still here; and to seek out only the good that is in men, leaving to a higher tribunal the judgment of their error and misdeed.

Custom has sanctified, and tradition has endeared this solemn, silent hour to all our Brotherhood; it calls in voiceless entreaty for remembrance and forgetfulness; remembrance for the good, forgetfulness for the evil that men have done; it urges us in the sanctuary of our souls where only Heaven and Heaven's pity should enter in, to write into our lives the principles of a Brotherhood that will outlast the storm and stress on earth and pass, as we must pass, into a nobler world to bloom forever in fields eternal.

Eleven o'clock is an hour sacred to Brotherhood, when the souls of the living and the dead meet in spiritual reunion, when the bonds of living friends are drawn closer, and the memory of the absent and the dead is pledged in love and friendship to our absent Brothers.

MAYOR FELICITATES DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE FOR PRESIDENCY.

James M. Curley, Mayor of Boston, sent the following telegram on July 10:

HON. JOHN W. DAVIS, Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y.:

With a remembrance of our very happy association during the term of the 61st Congress as members of the House of Representatives I send you my hearty congratulation as the standard bearer of a militant democracy in the nation. There never was a time in our country's history when the enlightened service of the Democratic Party was more vitally needed in Washington in view of the notorious maladministration of the Republican Party. The day and the hour are at hand for a united and inspiring service for democracy that will eventuate in your triumphant victory in November.

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

PRaises MAYOR FOR ADMINISTRATION AND CONTRIBUTES TO CAMPAIGN FUND.

TAMPICO, 16 June, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR MR. MAYOR,—I have watched, with a great deal of interest, your remarkable career in public life and have always been an ardent admirer even though I have been quite a distance from the scenes of your activities.

However, from time to time, I learned through the press of the excellent administration you are giving the people of the City of Boston, and also of your coming contest for the Governorship of that old Bay State.

I wish that it were possible for me to be present and cast a vote for you at the coming election, but as that is impossible by reason of the fact that I am a resident of Mexico, I trust that you will kindly accept the inclosed $100 as my small contribution in behalf of your campaign.

Sincerely yours,
JAMES KELLY.

BOSTON THROWS WIDE HER DOORS AND HEART FOR VISITING ELKS.

MAYOR CURLEY IN NOTABLE ADDRESS ON OPENING NIGHT OF CONVENTION WELCOMES DELEGATES AND GUESTS FROM ALL OVER WORLD, INVITING THEM IN NAME OF CITY TO PARTAKE OF HOSPITALITY.

The following is the Address of Welcome delivered by Hon. James M. Curley, Mayor of Boston, to the National Convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks on July 7:

To welcome the delegates of the Convention of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks and to extend to them the courtesy and hospitality of this historic City of Boston is both an honor and a pleasure.

Revere's message that made possible the firing of the shot at Lexington Green "heard 'round the world." Visit old Boston Common, Bunker Hill, and Dorchester Heights, where trod the immortal Washington.

Visit the Mount Hope Cemetery in whose peaceful shade, in the bosom of Mother Earth, rests the remains of that kindly and patriotic soul, Brother Vivian, founder of Elksdom. Breathe the at-

CITY HALL ASSUMED A VERY FESTIVE APPEARANCE FOR THE VISIT OF THE ELKS CONVENTION—THESE ARE THE DECORATIONS.

Here began that momentous struggle whose outcome was American Independence, the organization of the United States and the creation of a democracy, dedicated to the principles of government of the people, by the people, and for the people, and the doctrine of equality expressed in civil, political and religious liberty.

Today, Boston beckons with the extended arms of hospitality to this splendid organization and says: "Come, my children, to the Mother City of Liberty. Visit the spot where the blood of the white and black man mingled in the baptism of freedom. Visit the beacon light of hope to suffering humanity where the threat of gibbets failed to stifle the protest of righteously indignant patriots—old Faneuil Hall.

Visit the Old South Church, sacred to the memory of John Hancock and of Samuel Adams. Visit the Old North Church from which flashed forth Paul mosphere where patriotic Americans dared and died that this nation might have its birth, and strengthened by the draught at Freedom's Fountain.

Go forth at the conclusion of your labors in our beloved city as zealous missionaries determined to teach by individual example the lesson of the fathers and to promote, by every possible means, that degree of economic justice which will instill a new meaning into the words "My Country 'Tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty!"

In coming to this old city, every citizen of America imbued with the principles of American Liberty is returning to the spiritual home of the nation. Home, the sweetest and tenderest word in our language! Sweet because of the associations it recalls; tender because of the memories it evokes. It has inspired the song, "Home, Sweet Home," that has touched the heart of the world and given it a common meeting ground.

The murmurous babble of the cradled baby, the wondrous music of the child's innocent prattle and infectious laughter, the sweet and patient presence of one whose love and forbearance could ignore error, forget misdeed, magnify good, and the faith of her who daily brought to the throne of God her prayers for our future safety and success, this is the very soul of "Home, Sweet Home"; the spirit of the mothers of men pulsates in every line of the song; and what the mother is to her child Boston has been to liberty.

THE GENESIS AND GENIUS OF AMERICA.

REV. DUDLEY H. FERRELL, INDEPENDENCE DAY ORATOR, AT OLD SOUTH CHURCH, THRILLS AUDIENCE WITH WARNING TO AMERICA THAT WE MUST LIVE IN HARMONY, JUSTICE, AND HONOR WITH OUR NEIGHBORS THAT TRUE BROTHERHOOD MAY PREVAIL.

Rev. Dudley H. Ferrell, of Lynn, who was the orator of the day at the Independence Day Exercises in Old South Church, spoke as follows:

MR. MAYOR, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

Our remembrance of a glorious past constitutes the challenge of this hour. All of us are sensible of the significance of the occasion. It is not mere custom that draws us together; were it so, our celebration would be without value, a meaningless interlude in the business of living. It is not a conformity to conventional or legalized practice that distinguishes not only this audience but American citizenship, wherever resident, as today they and we celebrate the anniversary of our national beginning. The assemblage, the music, the marching hosts, even the noisy clamor of youth are the productions of an irresistible urge growing out of an ever living remembrance of men and women, whose devotion to liberty, whose sacrifices in behalf of her sovereignty remain one of the golden chapters in the record of human striving. Our feet have been guided to this place by hearts passionately grateful to those who achieved the distinctions of an unselfish patriotism, and richly endowed the generations yet to come with the reality of freedom.

There is something deeply reverent, then, in our recollection of those days that marked the launching of the most daring experiments in governmental administration that the world had ever seen. The auspices attendant upon the movement were not happy. No sympathetic attitude toward its sponsors gave them encouragement; but through the travail of war, through the pains and privations of conflict, a wondrous ideal was given substance, and time has proved its integrity.

Throughout the land wherein the purposes of a bygone generation have been made most substantial, the book of human effort will again be opened today, and from the pages thereof will be read the names of those who have provided an abiding home for man's love of liberty. And who are these, to whom distance, ever increasing, brings no shrinking in size; who remain of heroic stature in spite of the increase and expansion of man's accomplishments? These are the ones who immortalized themselves at Lexington and Concord, who fought the odds at Bunker Hill, who waited and starved and trudged, with bare feet, the snows of Valley Forge. These are the men who had within themselves and represented that indomitable soul that made America. If we could we would pay them honor in words of deserved praise, but language is here lacking, nor does it lie within the power of even a grateful posterity to add to the luster with which they have already invested themselves by honorable deed. Yet these pass before us today, a part of the great background against which we behold the proportions of the America of the present.

Did you ever stop to consider, ladies and gentlemen, that, as we give ourselves to the guidance of memory, not only are we allowed to view the past but the past is permitted to judge us. Today, those who build their faith into our national establishment stand watch over a people celebrating in various ways the beginning of nationhood, and across the unmeasured distance of eternity comes the voice of the past asking this question: "What have you done with the liberty that we gave you? How have you used the privileges and duties, the opportunities and responsibilities of the freedom that we bought and paid for?" Yes, we have, by the magic of remembrance, called the past back to life, and one of its prerogatives is to judge the use which the generations have made of a rich inheritance. The challenge of those deeds that now form an inspiring memory cannot be ignored. Our celebration of America's beginning compels an examination of her continuance and a determination of the destination at which she has arrived.

A survey shows the limited domain of colonial days changed into a vast empire that stretches far toward the setting sun. A few scattered inhabitants of one blood have become an international mingling of millions. The rude structures of hamlet and village have been transformed into the magnificent buildings of our many cities. Wealth incalculable, industry and commerce most complex have taken the place of meagre resource and simplicity of endeavor. Without exaggeration, we have, as his Honor has remarked, equalled in a few centuries, anything the world has ever seen. But, my friends, is this the measure of our greatness? Is this accumulation of the material, this unique and stupendous arrangement of it, the final analysis of our achievement? Is this the only legitimate return that we can show from our possession of freedom's opportunities? If it is, then our inheritance has been wasted. Liberty has a fairer form than this, a more substantial embodiment, else it is but the imagination of the deluded; a disappointing adventure, false in its promise to those whose lives were dedicated to its demands. Thus, as the voice of the past crosses the distance of many years, we echo to ourselves the question it asks: "Is this all?"

Ladies and gentlemen, the liberty conferred upon a citizen of the United States not only gives him the opportunity but presents to him the duty of doing something more than build magnificent cities and accumulate wealth. The genesis of the great American Commonwealth was of such a unique character that not only were the ordinary privileges of material progress vouchsafed the individual but the deeper satisfactions of a civilization ornamented and furnished with the imperishable principles of honor and justice were guaranteed; and that, too, not for a favored few to whom the accident of birth had given special advantage, but for all who are fortunate enough to come beneath the shelter of that flag.

In all the story of the world's peoples, in the romance of empires as they have come and gone, there is nothing that equals the story of America. Emperors of the past have led their armies in conquest. New kingdoms were established with a consequent development of new forms of social and political philosophy. For our country the development has been along similar lines but the personnel in the adventure were a few ordinary folks, representative of the average of society, and the imperative of the adventure was not an ambition to conquer but a passion to be free. In listening to the reading of the Declaration of Independence which was just presented one phrase stands out above the rest, representing the integrity of the foundation upon which America was built. After citing the reasons for the ensuing declarations, the creators of our liberty thus spoke: "Appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, etc." Thus for the second time, the soul of what was to be America revealed itself. For it is a significant fact, and one never to be forgotten, that the Pilgrims had barely touched the shores of the new world before their hearts spoke to the Deity in terms of gratitude. This one act, a prayer, often forgotten in our contemplation of more startling deeds of national history, is the outstanding fact in America's story. It is an indication of the personal and social philosophy that has brought us progress and distinction. Here was a little group of folks breaking all existing ties; standing before an opportunity rough and rugged in appearance and in character; dreaming of carving therefrom a new and happier association; and, by the one act mentioned, they established the law for all social determinations, they enunciated a principle. We must be fundamental to any form of association that is contributory to the expansion and integrity of civilization. When we thus consider the fashion in which the forefathers placed their destiny in the hand of God, we catch something of the implications and imperatives of the freedom of which they dreamed, which they achieved, and which they transmitted to us. This circumstance so significant in America's genesis forecasted the genius that has made our nation the marvel of history; a genius that holds forth the promise of a greater tomorrow unless it is debauched and wasted by carelessness and neglect. When the founders of this nation placed their hopes and faith in the care of Deity, there were predicated two things that have remained vital to our life. There were enunciated two principles, both necessary in any form of government that is conservative of civilization, and especially demanded in a democracy. These two conclusions so boldly acknowledged were, first, "Behind all written statutes, there is a law of the spirit, whose integrity and authority is beyond question." Second, "Upon the individual there rests the law of moral responsibility for the welfare of society." Upon such a basis the United States could not have been anything but what she has been. And in the peoples' observance of the authority of these principles, we read the promise of our tomorrow.

When men associate themselves in political relationships, it is both natural and necessary to formulate rules of procedure; and, the more complicated the relationship, the more multiplied the rules. But, too often, the written law is regarded as absolute in its embrace in itself the entirety of authority. If we will consider for a moment, we find that the written law is a determination of the mechanics of association, the form of personal expression; it has little to offer concerning the spirit of association. There are in human nature sentiments and ambitions, the urgings of vice and virtue for which no authority exists but the higher law of the spirit, whose imperative can be made articulate only in part by the enactments of legislatures. When a people forget this, when they lose their sentiments to the compulsion of honor and justice, as these principles seek to fashion not the actions but the thought of man toward man, then, instead of contributing to civilization, such a nation wastes the resources of the time. They lose their sense of proportion and read into the statutes what they want to find therein. The law is ignored, its provisions are evaded. Such a people come to the point when they read the law negatively. Outside of its prohibitions, anything is right.

My friends, even with their limitations, because they are within the boundaries of human wisdom, laws in their ordinary form are not mere negations. They represent not what one should not do to another, but what one should do for another. As the result of the idealism so substantial in our establishment, there has become ingrained in our national personality a real capacity for high thought and honorable deed, fundamental factors in a just and harmonious association. But that capacity will never be exercised and that association will never be enjoyed until the imperative of the written statutes are interpreted as the positive delineation and definition of the spirit of association as well as its form.

We must never forget that the unsurpassed attainments of hand or mind cannot, of themselves, be offered as the measure of our progress or even possessed as a basis of national pretensions. They are valid and valuable only when accompanied by the people's desire to write such laws as shall fairly distribute all duty and protect all rights and privileges; and then, by a desire, equally as earnest, to obey them. The law here is not to be worshipped because named law; it is the best expression and most authoritative of the people's faith in universal order, of their recognition of the necessity for men to live together in mutual dependence and with mutual helpfulness if society and civilization are to be served.

The second predication of our national beginning was the law of moral responsibility encompassing the individual in society, restraining his passions, making free his virtues for the benefit of all.

When the acknowledgment of this principle was first made upon American soil, certain of its evident implications were forcibly emphasized by the conditions and circumstances that surrounded the Pilgrims. For them, it was work together, fight together, play together or perish. It was a very real compulsion which they felt in their primitively crude and limited environment. This co-operation was the law of their survival and their progress. Ladies and gentlemen, this is the law of all survival and all progress. We care not what refinements of culture may distinguish our society, the law of individual responsibility making a man's privilege (the offering of his liberty) his duty, and his duty (the measure of his responsibility) a privilege, cannot be removed from among the authorities of a democracy such as ours. When no longer is the authority of co-operation recognized, men lose their freedom. When men arbitrarily set themselves apart from or place themselves above the rest, they fling a challenge in the face of experience, which is quickly answered.

As we view the story of our nation, we find that its genius has ever been the accumulated genius of individuals. That is to say, here in America each man has been free to follow the lure of his ambition; to exercise his ability unhindered. Our record is crowded with the names of those who began with nothing but a vision and have attained the heights of accomplishment leaving deep in a national life the impress of their convictions and their deeds. It is a splendid story. Of it we are proud.

But, ladies and gentlemen, am I wrong in believing that the time is here for a revaluation of our individuality, and a remeasurement of our liberty; lest the one becomes individualism and the other license. Our memory of the Fathers of this Republic counsels us to scrutinize anew not the reality of our personal freedom (this is assured) but the fashion of its use.

Once again we ask, "For what was this liberty given?" The answer has been made by our citizenship, an answer whose validity is attested by our growth, our continued idealism and worth of purpose. But this is the answer of yesterday. What of today?

I may read incorrectly the signs of the time, but I believe the hour is here where the American citizen must renew an understanding of his individuality, remembering that his liberty is either restrained or urged forward by the law of moral responsibility which is the inevitable conclusion of all social experience.

When men live together the problem involving harmony, justice, honorable dealing is not how the mass may be controlled but rather how the individual controls himself. The soul of America is today threatened by a diminishing self-control. We are forgetting that we do not live alone. One result is that the public business which is everybody's business becomes nobody's business instead of each body's business. The success of a society such as ours depends upon men's ability and will to live together, each contributing something of his own to the common resource of high thinking and just conclusion. This provides the essentials of an authoritative public opinion which in a democracy is the court of final decision; the mysterious yet tangible expression of the mass, faith in the law that lies behind all laws.

Let us beware lest the trend toward an ignoring of such authority goes on unchecked. It is not the prerogative of any man or group of men in our political establishment to ignore the invitation to consideration offered by opinions differing from their own, nor to claim a monopoly of industrial, political or social wisdom. It lies not within the power of any to demand or to endeavor to compel conformity in determining conclusions. A sound public opinion is not dependent upon an identity of conviction; it is of necessity made up of a diversity of opinions, not in conflict with each other but each contributing something to the final decision through the medium of mutual respect. When we forget this, then walls of misunderstanding begin to rise, separating our citizenship into antagonistic groupings, each concerned with its own rights, each not only intolerant of but prejudiced against opinions that vary from its own. In such creations of passion and prejudice lies the only power that can sweep America into oblivion.

If the experiences of the past teach anything to us as a people, it is this: If her integrity is to be preserved, if she is to have the assurance of an honorable and orderly future, then America has within her borders no place for anyone, be he native or foreign born, who refuses to learn how to live with his fellow-citizens. She has no place for anyone who plays upon the passions or prejudice of ignorance to create divisions in our society and imperil the progress and prosperity of our people by a fostering of misunderstandings. We have no words strong enough with which to condemn those who, singly or associated, refuse to subordinate the passions of personal prejudice to an ambition for the common welfare. Such, whatever their name or profession, are unworthy of the privileges of American citizenship. In such conclusion we merely make vocal the judgment of those whom memory has today conjured from the past. If the Fathers of this Republic could speak they would cry out against those who are debauching the liberty so dearly bought, destroying the brotherhood which patriots thought they had confirmed.

Ladies and gentlemen, we have spoken thus today, presuming upon your courtesy, perhaps, to be somewhat didactic, because in this hour of grateful and reverent remembrance we would have you again attentive to those laws of the spirit which explain America's beginning and interpret her continuance. We would that these principles might be so read and understood that our thinking and striving would come within their control, and the life of each citizen be molded to their demand. For the danger that threatens America is no peril from without but a danger from within. Yet it is equally true that the salvation of America is not to be sought at the end of the world; rather is it in your hand and mine.

The past is a glorious retrospect, a story of heroic deed, of high and noble purpose. Our memory of it challenges our spirit to the same splendid adventures in liberty. The unformed tomorrow is ours to make as we will. Dare we do less, dare we be less than the patriots of yesterday? America, our America, invites us into the abiding satisfactions that await those who are free to give themselves to her service.

Before that flag which symbolizes the glory of our country's achievement and is emblematic of the principles and purposes of our national life, we bow most reverently in this hour of consecration to which memory urges us; and like those of a bygone time, we also will place our destiny in the hand of God and dare the tomorrow with the prayer:

"America, America, God mend thine every flaw,
Confirm thy soul in self-control,
Thy liberty in law,
... May God thy gold refine
Till all success be nobleness
And every gain divine.
America, America, God shed his grace on thee,
And crown thy good with Brotherhood,
From sea to shining sea."

BOSTON, June 24, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

DEAR SIR,—At a meeting of the Board of Trustees held on June 20 a proposal for the completion of the oil-burning equipment at the power house of the Boston City Hospital, for boilers Nos. 1 and 2 was received from the Petroleum Heat and Power Company. A copy of said proposal is inclosed. The trustees believe that inasmuch as the Petroleum Heat and Power Company made the original installation and are thoroughly conversant with the layout, it would be wise to award the contract to that company without advertising. On behalf of the trustees, therefore, I respectfully request permission to award the contract for the completion of the oil-burning equipment at the Boston City Hospital to the Petroleum Heat and Power Company for the sum of $7,885.

Yours respectfully,

Furnace Work.—Furnish the necessary labor and material for installing the Fesler patented down shot furnaces on the above boilers, as follows:

Remove and rebuild side and center walls from front line of boilers back about 11 feet 6 inches. Remove present bridge walls and rebuild in new location about 9 feet 9 inches from front line of boilers. Remove present front baffles; replace with inclined Johns-Manville baffles. Build new front walls under front headers to suit oil burners. Cut out concrete in furnaces to about 18 inches below boiler room floor and under side walls, front walls, and bridge walls to allow for a 9-inch fire brick facing. Pave furnace floors with 1 inch of sand, two flat courses of calcined Sil-O-Cel and two flat courses of fire brick. Rebuild front walls around boiler drums with common brick. Point up all cracks in the balance of these settings that we do not rebuild. Replace common brick arches over drums as found necessary. Coat all exterior walls of settings with Johns-Manville Aer-tite coating. Fill in present stoker pits in front of boilers and refinish floor. Remove all rubbish resulting from this work from premises to yard.

We propose to use Queens Run glass brand fire brick and lay same in Johns-Manville No. 31, or equal, high temperature cement. We propose to use our patented header and dusting door blocks for front headers and first dusting doors.

Progress of Work.—This work will be started upon notification from the superintendent of the hospital.

Yours very truly,

PETROLEUM HEAT AND POWER COMPANY,

F. H. JOHNSON,
District Engineer.

Approved.

District Manager.

Upon July 2 the Mayor approved a contract with the M. B. Foster Electric Company for the removal of the switch board and electric wiring for the New Thorndike Memorial Hospital, X-Ray Department. A communication from Joseph P. Manning of the Board of Trustees was as follows:

BOSTON, June 24, 1924.

HON JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—When the contract for the construction of the Thorndike Memorial Building was entered into with the John Bowen Company the switch board for the various X-ray and electrical apparatus throughout the building was placed in the sub-basement. After the building was completed the Wire Department refused to grant permission for turning on electricity unless the trustees would agree to have the same removed from its present location to one that would be acceptable to them. This was agreed to by the trustees, and provision was made for the same in the budget. The electrical installation was made by the M. B. Foster Electric Company, who have agreed to remove the same to a location acceptable to the Wire Department, and complete the work without interfering with the conduct of the building. This latter is very important, as the X-Ray Department and Thorndike laboratories are now in operation. The trustees are of the opinion that inasmuch as the M. B. Foster Electric Company made the original installation and are thoroughly conversant with the layout of the conduits, etc., the work would be performed by them better than it could be done by any other electrical contractor wholly unacquainted with the work. We have been assured by the M. B. Foster Electric Company that the sum named by them is reasonable, and as low or lower than would be bid by any other electrical contractor. Under the circumstances the trustees voted to request your approval of the award of the contract for this work to the M. B. Foster Electrical Company for the sum of $5,452. A copy of the proposal of the M. B. Foster Electric Company is enclosed.

Yours respectfully,

JOSEPH P. MANNING,
President, Board of Trustees.

M. B. FOSTER ELECTRIC COMPANY,
514 ATLANTIC AVENUE,
BOSTON, June 10, 1924.

TRUSTEES BOSTON CITY HOSPITAL, 818
Harrison avenue, Boston, Mass.:

Attention: Doctor Dowling, Superintendent.

GENTLEMEN,—We will be pleased to furnish the labor and materials necessary to install the electric work in connection with relocating the subfeeder switch board transformers, and other electrical apparatus, which are now located in the small room in the sub-basement of the Thorndike Memorial Building, to the location in the supply room and storeroom on the basement floor; all in accordance with the accompanying specifications for the sum of fifty four hundred fifty two dollars ($5,452).

If our above quotation should be acceptable, we can guarantee that in doing this work there will be no shutdown or interference with the electrical service in this building.

We can further guarantee you that we will do this work and make it satisfactory in all its details to the Wire Department of the City of Boston.

Respectfully yours,

M. B. FOSTER ELECTRIC Co.,
by JOHN QUINLAN,
Vice President.

MAYOR PRESENTS SEVERAL ORDERS TO CITY COUNCIL FOR NEEDED IMPROVEMENTS.

PROVIDES FOR PAYMENT OF DRAWTENDERS AND ASSISTANTS WHEN ILL, THE BUILDING OF SEWERS IN OUTLYING DISTRICTS AND FOR HOSPITAL CONSTRUCTION.

Mayor Curley has prepared the following orders for presentation to the next meeting of the City Council:

GENTLEMEN,—Upon the occasion of the consideration by the City Council of the budget for 1924-25 as adopted by the City Council and approved by the Mayor, a verbal agreement was entered into providing for the payment to drawtenders and assistant drawtenders in the service of the city when ill.

In accordance with the terms of this verbal agreement, I respectfully recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer from the appropriation for Reserve Fund, $4,500, to the appropriation for Public Works Department, Bridge Service.

GENTLEMEN,—The failure of municipal authorities in the past to provide adequate protection from epidemics which might result as a consequence of the failure to develop sanitary sewerage conditions in the outlying section of the city, and as a consequence of the activity in the building line, it is imperative that immediate action be taken upon a sewerage construction program in the West Roxbury section of Boston.

At the recent session of the Legislature a measure was introduced authorizing the city to increase the amount to be expended for sewerage purposes inside the debt limit from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000, but the Legislature did not approve the act as presented by the municipal authorities.

The amount appropriated by the city within the debt limit was $800,000 and in the opinion of the Commissioner of Public Works it is vitally necessary that this amount be increased to at least $1,000,000. In his opinion, which I share, the interests of public health are paramount to public convenience, and I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

The adoption of this order will make possible at a later time the transfer of $200,000 to the Public Works Department, for sewerage construction that otherwise would be expended for "Highways, Making of." The privy system that has obtained from the beginning of our city in the so-called Germantown section of West Roxbury, and the open sewerage system known as Stony brook, have so long been a possible source of contagion that it is imperative that the matter receive immediate attention.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the right to borrow money for "Highways, Making of," under the loan order passed March 18, 1924, and approved by the Mayor March 19, 1924, be limited to $600,000, and that the authorization to borrow in excess of said amount for said purpose be and the same hereby is revoked.

To the City Council.

GENTLEMEN,—I beg to submit for acceptance by your honorable body chapter 352 of the Acts of 1924, as approved by his Excellency the Governor, under date of May 12, 1924, which act makes the necessary provision which will permit of the adoption of the building program as recommended by the Boston City Hospital Trustees.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered,—That chapter 352 of the Acts of 1924, entitled "An Act Authorizing the City of Boston to Borrow and to Raise by Taxation Money for Hospital Purposes," be and the same hereby is accepted.

To the City Council.

GENTLEMEN,—The trustees of the Boston City Hospital about one year ago were authorized to employ architects to design plans for such buildings as might be required to meet present needs and in part anticipate future requirements.

The Legislature at the present session adopted a statute authorizing the expenditure of $3,000,000 by the city to cover the cost of the building program as determined upon by the City Hospital Trustees. The legislative act provided that one third of the total be provided from the amount of money raised by taxation or within the borrowing power, the remaining two thirds to be raised outside of the debt-incurring power.

In conformity with the recommendations of the Boston City Hospital Trustees and in accordance with the provisions of the legislative act as adopted by the General Court of 1924, I respectfully recommend the adoption of the accompanying orders.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 352 of the Acts of 1924, the sum of two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000), be and the same is hereby appropriated to be expended by the trustees of the Boston City Hospital, for the erection of a maternity building, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount.

Another order provides for the transfer of $1,500 from the Reserve Fund, to be expended by Dr. Johnson, Institutions

Commissioner, for the purchase of a merry-go-round to be used at Rainsford Island for the benefit of the children of Boston who are taken there each year, under income received through the Randidge Trust Fund. This income is insufficient to provide other than the boat ride and luncheon and it is felt that the purchase of this merry-go-round will provide additional recreation for the children.

Another order provides for the adoption of chapters 475 and 476 of the Acts of 1924 which cover the laying out, widening and construction of Tremont and Kneeland streets. These acts require that $2,400,000 shall be appropriated by the city outside the debt and 10 per cent of this amount, or $240,000, shall be provided either within the debt limit or from other sources of revenue. Orders calling for the appropriation of these sums are also being submitted to the Council.

Approximately $10,000 is being transferred from the Reserve Fund to the appropriations for the Building Department and the Board of Appeal to cover the expense of additional work placed on these departments by the adoption of the Zoning Act in this year's session of the Legislature.

The Mayor is also forwarding for the consideration of the City Council a contract between the City of Boston, entered through the Commissioner of Public Works, and the Charlestown Gas and Electric Company for furnishing gas and for the equipment and lighting and extinguishing the gas lamps in Charlestown for a ten-year period.

The Mayor has approved of the following vote of the Board of Street Commissioners, awarding damages:

TO SELL MANHOLES.

The Mayor has approved the request of the Public Works Department to sell to A. G. Tomasello & Son for $220 ten manhole frames and covers, the property of the Sewer Service. This equipment is to be used on a sewer being constructed under a release by which it reverts to the city.

SETTLEMENT FOR EXTRA WORK.

The Mayor has received and approved the following communication from Joseph A. Rourke, Commissioner of Public Works:

Boston, June 25, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,

Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—Under date of September 25, 1923, and October 6, 1923, your Honor approved extra work orders for $800 and $3,000 respectively, in favor of the Boston Bridge Works, Inc., under their contract dated June 22, 1922, for rebuilding Cambridge Street Bridge.

Inasmuch as it has been extremely difficult and almost impossible to check up on the details of the labor, time and materials and obtain accurate costs under these extra work orders, the contractor is willing, in order to clean up the contract, to take these orders at agreed prices; and since the estimated prices indicated in these orders are reasonable for the work, your approval is respectfully requested to the payment of the agreed upon prices of $800 for order of September 25, 1923, and of $3,000 for order of October 6, 1923.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,

Dr. Bogan offered the following motion:

That no increase in the compensation of academic groups be granted this year.

The motion was lost.

The following statement from Dr. Scannell was read:

I shall not be able to be present at the meeting of the Board on Monday, June 23, 1924. I do desire, however, to express myself definitely in favor of the Salary Schedule as discussed in conference several times and agreed to by a majority of the Board.

Placed on file.

Dr. Bogan offered the following motion:

That the School Committee go on record to the effect that it will do everything possible to obtain additional funds in order that the salaries of elementary assistants may be increased.

The motion was lost.

Mr. Sullivan submitted the following statement:

The proposed salary schedule for teachers and members of the supervising staff is of necessity a patch-work proposition, because of the small surplus available for distribution. I am voting for the amendments on the theory that justice ought not to be denied in toto merely because immediate relief is not available to all.

To refuse available relief is a sentiment to which I shall not subscribe; nor can I countenance the campaign of calumny, misrepresentation, and threat recently conducted by a "disappointed" group.

However, with the realization that the proposed schedule is but a makeshift temporary arrangement, and in no sense prejudicial to the elementary assistants and other ranks of teachers not benefited thereby, provision for them ought to appear in this Committee's earliest petition to the General Court for an increase in its appropriating power. I stand committed to such a program.

Placed on file.

Mr. O'Hare submitted the following statement:

I wish to state here publicly that I have consistently opposed this patch-paving method of readjusting salaries as it affects teachers and members of the supervising staff. Because I was outnumbered in belief concerning this matter, I aided in readjusting some academic salaries with relation to those agreed upon. In voting for this salary schedule I do so with the belief that it is not complete, that it does not completely remedy existing inconsistencies, and with the hope that in the Fall the School Committee will try to make an exhaustive study of salaries on a relative basis and consult representatives of groups of teachers and members of the supervising staff. From this study I trust that a fair academic salary schedule shall be worked out and that the Board shall petition the Legislature for sufficient funds to make it effective as of September 1, 1925.

Placed on file.

The question came on the adoption of the six orders establishing a general salary schedule for the year ending August 31, 1925, which orders were passed collectively by the following vote:

YEAS—Dr. Bogan, Miss Curtis, Messrs. O'Hare and Sullivan—4.

ABSENT—Dr. Scannell—1.

AMENDMENTS TO RULES.

Mr. Sullivan offered the following: The Board of Apportionment as at present constituted and determined by the rules consists of the superintendent, two assistant superintendents assigned by the superintendent and the business agent. ORDERED, That section 125, paragraph 1 of the rules be amended to read as follows:

SECTION 125. 1. The board of apportionment shall consist of the superintendent, two assistant superintendents assigned by the superintendent, and the business agent; but when salary schedules of principals, teachers and members of the supervising staff and important budgetary matters affecting the school system are presented for consideration and deliberation, the superintendent shall invite all assistant superintendents to attend the meetings of the board of apportionment. At such meetings each assistant superintendent shall have a vote and a quorum shall consist of five.

PROPOSALS FOR RECUR GRANITE BLOCK PAVEMENT IN BLUE HILL AVENUE, FROM DUDLEY STREET TO QUINCY STREET, ROXBURY.

The Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, office 508, City Hall Annex, invites proposals from citizens of the United States and corporations or other legal associations wherein the controlling interest to the extent of at least over one half thereof is owned by a citizen or citizens of the United States, for recut granite block pavement in Blue Hill avenue, from Dudley street to Quincy street, Roxbury. A bond will be required for doing the work of a surety company approved by the Commissioner in the sum of twenty-seven thousand ($27,000) dollars, to secure the due performance of the contract and the full protection of the city. Forms of proposals may be obtained at Room 508, City Hall Annex. Each proposal should be inclosed in an envelope, sealed, marked "Proposals for Recut Granite Block Pavement, Blue Hill Avenue," and left at Room 508, fifth floor, City Hall Annex, before 12 m. on Wednesday, July 23, 1924, with a certified check for twenty-seven hundred ($2,700) dollars, payable to and to become the property of the city if the proposal after acceptance is not carried out. The proposals will then and there be publicly opened and read. Proposals must be made in duplicate, the sealed duplicate, without check, to be deposited by the bidder with the City Auditor previous to the time named for opening the bids. If the price of any item appears to the Commissioner to be abnormally high or low, or the bidder neglects to bid on each and every item, it may lead to the rejection of the proposal containing such price. The undersigned reserves the right to reject any or all proposals or to award the contract as he deems best.

Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON'S BEACHES AND WATER PLAY SPOTS WELL PROTECTED BY LARGE CORPS OF EXPERIENCED LIFE GUARDS.

PARK DEPARTMENT, UNDER INSTRUCTIONS FROM MAYOR CURLEY, HAS GATHERED GROUP OF MOST ABLE PROTECTORS OF LIFE FOR THOSE INDULGING IN SWIMMING SPORT AT VARIOUS BEACHES UNDER CITY'S CONTROL—ALL EXPERTS ALSO IN ART OF REVIVING WATER VICTIMS.

ABLE-BODIED CORPS OF LIFE GUARDS OF PARK DEPARTMENT WHO WATCH OVER DESTINIES OF THOUSANDS OF CITIZENS DURING SUMMER AT VARIOUS BATHING BEACHES UNDER CONTROL OF CITY.

No city in the world or the country better provides for the saving of life at bathing beaches in the summer than does Boston. At every beach or swimming place the Park Department controls there are placed, from the start of the bathing season, one or more experienced and expert life guards to look to the saving of lives.

Each man so employed is not only an expert swimmer but knows the best methods of resuscitation of those who have become victims of the waves or eel grass. They have been taught by experts and it is due to their efficiency that so few lives are lost each day during the summer. In addition to the men there are women attendants and experts at all the city's bathing spots as well. The photograph above is of a group of the more seasoned attendants at the bathing beaches.

"O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

CITY DEDICATES GRANITE CROSS TO MRS. MARIA BATEMAN FOR KINDNESS AND DEVOTION TO BOSTON SUFFERERS.

The City of Boston paid loving tribute at Long Island on Monday afternoon, July 14, to Mrs. Maria Bateman, of 56 Chambers street, Boston, who for a period of thirty-nine years has been visiting the unfortunate poor at Long Island, by the dedication of a granite cross, the handiwork of inmates of Deer Island.

It appears that Mrs. Bateman was born in the North End, and has always resided in Boston. Beginning thirty-nine years ago, with the late Margaret McInnis, a Boston newspaper reporter, Mrs. Bateman started to visit the old ladies, first at the Charlestown Almshouse, and subsequently at Long Island, after their transfer there.

In all kinds of weather and at all seasons of the year Mrs. Bateman has been a visitor at Long Island, caring for the poor and sick, and bringing them all kinds of food and necessities. Mayor Curley and Dr. David J. Johnson, Commissioner of the Institutions Department, have aided Mrs. Bateman in her loving and important labors by every service possible, and on holidays such as Easter, Thanksgiving and Christmas there has been entertainment, and in which ceremonies no inmate at Long Island has been forgotten.

The little children, wards of the city, living at Long Island, have enjoyed several parties each year, thanks to Mrs. Bateman's hospitality, and she has always provided them some kinds of toys to make the world seem better and brighter for them. This year a May party was given the children and they were provided a Maypole, souvenir dresses and ice cream and cake.

During the entire period of the World War Mrs. Bateman labored zealously with the Red Cross and other organizations in providing entertainment at the Soldiers' Home in Chelsea; at the United States Veterans' Hospital at West Roxbury; and during the operation of the hospital at Parker Hill Mrs. Bateman made several trips a week to extend cheer and render aid to disabled veterans.

Sister Fennell, Sister Superior of the Holy Ghost Hospital, Cambridge, has said of Mrs. Bateman that she is "a true woman of charity—real charity."

One of the important labors under the direction of Mrs. Bateman has been providing automobile rides for patients who were suffering from incurable physical ills and who are rarely provided any form of entertainment. Mrs. Bateman has likewise been a devoted friend of the Sisters of the Holy Ghost Hospital in extending every possible care to those suffering from incurable and wasting diseases.

For many years Mrs. Bateman served as an agent for the Massachusetts Home, visiting the courthouse daily and looking up the circumstances attending the cases of unfortunate women and their families, and meeting them at the Deer Island boat, and placing them on trains for their homes. For this service, which was performed for many years, Mrs. Bateman received absolutely no compensation.

Mrs. Bateman is a member of many military, naval, and fraternal organizations; is President of the Kearsarge Naval Auxiliary; Past President of the Woman's Relief Corp; Past President of Colonel Whitten Auxiliary of the Spanish American War; member of the Daughters of Veterans and Ninth Regiment Auxiliary.

BOSTON SCORES ANOTHER VICTORY IN BANK TAXATION BATTLE IN COURTS.

JUDGE BINGHAM OF FEDERAL COURT OF APPEALS HOLDS THAT CASES ARE NOT PROPERLY BEFORE THAT JURISDICTION FOR ADJUDICATION, THUS SUSTAINING CONTENTIONS OF CITY.

The question whether the four national banks in Boston that entered suit against the City of Boston in the United States District Court—the Seaworth, Citizens, Security and Fourth Atlantic—were illegally or erroneously assessed under the state statutes in sums ranging from $30,000 to more than $1,500,000, was not decided in an opinion handed down Thursday, July 17, by the United States Court of Appeals, but was remanded to the United States District Court for further action not inconsistent with the opinion, which held that the cases were not properly before the Federal courts and that demurrers filed by the city were well founded in law.

The opinion was written by Judge Bingham, Judges Johnson and Anderson also concurring, and states that as diversity of citizenship is not alleged, and that unless the allegations state a Federal question the United States courts have no jurisdiction in the matter.

The Court says:

"As the plaintiffs may be allowed to amend their declarations so as to state a Federal question, we deem it advisable, notwithstanding the conclusion we have reached on the question of jurisdiction, to pass upon the questions raised by the demurrers, and thus avoid, if possible, the necessity of bringing the cases here a second time."

The Boston assessors levied taxes on the four national banks named under a Massachusetts statute which authorized such taxation. The banks alleged that the city, purporting to act under this statute "assessed the stock in the said banks at a greater rate than was then assessed upon other moneyed capital in the hands of individual citizens of the State of Massachusetts."

The taxes were paid for the years 1917, 1918, 1919 and 1920 under protest and action was brought by the banks in the United States District Court against the city to recover for undue taxation. The city filed a motion to dismiss the action in the District Court and also filed demurrers. The motion to dismiss was denied but the demurrers were sustained. The motion to dismiss was made on the ground that the facts did not raise a Federal question. Judgment was entered for the defendant and these writs of error were taken to the Court of Appeals.

The Court of Appeals said that notwithstanding the lack of jurisdiction on the facts stated, it deemed it advisable to pass upon the demurrers and added; "In considering the questions raised by the demurrer we proceed on the assumption that the plaintiffs (banks) can and will amend their declarations so that they will state facts raising a Federal question and show that the taxes are illegally assessed and not merely erroneous. The only question then presented for consideration is whether, the taxes being illegally assessed and collected, the plaintiffs could recover them back without alleging and proving that their suits were commenced within three months after payment of taxes, and that they were paid either after an arrest, or a levy, or a notice of sale or a protest in writing. The plaintiffs (banks) having failed to allege compliance with the conditions of the statute, the objections to the maintenance of the actions were properly raised by demurrer."

BOSTON'S HOUSING SITUATION WELL UNDER WAY TO RELIEF WITH MANY DWELLING AND APARTMENT HOUSES BEING CONSTRUCTED—MANY GARAGES ALSO BEING BUILT.

Building activities for the first six months of the present year in the City of Boston have totaled $27,469,543, according to figures worked out by the Building Department, this despite the fact that times have been unprecedentedly dull.

Of this work $21,090,949 is entirely new construction, the remainder being alterations and remodeling of buildings already up. Much of this work has been of the kind that will relieve the housing situation. For the first six months there have been a total of 99 pieces of construction work of the apartment and tenement house kind, alterations to 84 other buildings of the kind, making a total of 183 parcels of that kind of work.

Of combinations tenements and stores there have been alterations to 94 buildings. Of straight dwellings, however, there have been 522 pieces of new construction, and alterations to 2,029 others, making a total of 2,551 pieces of construction looking to the easing directly of the housing situation. In addition to these there have been alterations to 153 combination dwellings and stores. Permits have been granted for 77 new mercantile buildings, 14 new manufacturing buildings and 23 office structures.

In this same period there have been permits for 831 garages issued for a total of $1,929,381. POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 565.

A trial board consisting of Captains Hickey, Kneeland and Smith, having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman George P. Milan of Division 10, charging him with conduct unbecoming an officer, has reported to the commissioner a finding of not guilty.

Upon reviewing the testimony as presented, there appears to be such discrepancy between the testimony of Patrolman Milan and his witnesses, that the commissioner sets the finding aside and will hear the case himself at a time and place of which all parties will have due and sufficient notice.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 566.

A trial board consisting of Captains Grant, Gallivan and Fitzgerald, having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman Walter J. Donovan of Division 15, charging him with neglect of duty, has reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty with the recommendation that Patrolman Donovan be reprimanded in General Orders.

I desire at this time to impress upon the members of the force the importance of exercising the utmost care in the handling of their revolvers. The case of Patrolman Donovan is a good example of what might result if patrolmen do not exercise the greatest care in this matter. In the present case, the patrolman left his police revolver and club in his automobile while he went into a lunch room. He says he put them under the rear seat cushion and when he came out, the car had been stolen, which accentuates the fact that he used very poor judgment in that it probably has been the means of putting at the disposal of some irresponsible person or persons an instrument from which violence may later result.

The members of the force are well aware of the fact that the type of person who steals an automobile is not the kind who could be trusted with a revolver which he might find at his disposal if he was not already armed. This should serve as a warning to the members of the force who are apt to be careless about the disposition of their weapons either on or off duty.

I am accepting in this instance the recommendation of the trial board to reprimand this officer but it is to be borne in mind that any future offence of this kind will be more severely dealt with.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 567.

The resignation of Patrolman Stephen J. Sheehan of Division 9 having been presented while charges against him are pending, it is hereby accepted, to take effect Monday, July 14, 1924, at 7.45 o'clock a. m., seven days' notice waived.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 568.

A trial board, consisting of Captains Hickey, Kneeland and Smith, having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman Leslie M. Chubbuck of Division 9, charging him with neglect of duty, has reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty on the charge and first and third specifications thereunder, and not guilty on the second specification. In accordance with which, it is hereby ordered that the said Patrolman Leslie M. Chubbuck perform seventy hours' punishment duty.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 569.

A trial board consisting of Captains Hickey, McDevitt and Smith, having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman Edmund J. Burke of Division 9, charging him with neglect of duty, has reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty. In accordance with which, it is hereby ordered that the said Patrolman Edmund J. Burke perform one hundred and forty hours' punishment duty.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 570.

A trial board consisting of Captains Hickey, McDevitt and Smith, having heard by reference a complaint against Patrolman Edmund J. Burke of Division 9, charging him with conduct unbecoming an officer, has reported to the commissioner a finding of guilty. In accordance with which, it is hereby ordered that the said Patrolman Edmund J. Burke be reprimanded in General Orders.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

MAYOR CALLS FOR ECONOMY IN THIS TIME OF DEPRESSION.

BOSTON, July 15, 1924.

To the Department Heads.

The increasing demands made upon the Overseers of Public Welfare, the Soldiers' Relief Department, the Institutions Department and the Employment Bureau, indicate that an industrial depression may be anticipated during the present year. There is no means of determining the duration of this condition but it is essential that every worthy case receive consideration.

With a desire to safeguarding the welfare of the less fortunate in the community, it is essential that the most rigid character of economy be practised in the administration of all departments of the city other than charities and corrections.

You are accordingly directed to be present at a special meeting of department heads, to be held at the Mayor's Office, City Hall, Boston, upon Friday, July 18, at 11.30 a. m.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT OR "GREATER BOSTON."

Consists in the most inclusive sense of 40 municipalities, including Boston, or 14 cities and 26 towns, all within 15 miles of the State House. The 7 cities in the first zone, i. e., adjacent to Boston, are these, viz., Cambridge, Chelsea, Everett, Newton, Quincy, Revere and Somerville; the 6 cities in the second zone, not adjacent, are Lynn, Malden, Medford, Melrose, Waltham and Woburn. The 6 adjacent towns are Brookline, Dedham, Milton, Needham, Watertown and Winthrop; the 20 other towns are Arlington, Belmont, Braintree, Canton, Cohasset, Dover, Hingham, Hull, Lexington, Nahant, Reading, Saugus, Stoneham, Swampscott, Wakefield, Wellesley, Weston, Westwood, Weymouth and Winchester.

North and northwest of Boston are situated 11 of the cities and 12 of the towns; south and southwest, 2 cities and 14 towns. Area of Northern Division, 150.8 square miles and population in 1920, 699,685, or a density of 4,619 per square mile; Southern Division, 214.8 square miles and 211,191 population, or density of only 983 per square mile; in the whole Metropolitan District, 4,051 per square mile. In percentages Boston shows 10.5 per cent of District's area and 45.09 per cent of population; Northern Division, 36.2 of area and 42.18 of population; Southern Division, 53.3 of area and 12.73 of population. In the period 1915-1920, increase of population 34,798 larger in Northern than in Southern Division.

Total land area of District, 409.5 square miles; population by census of 1920, 1,658,936 or 4.08 per cent increase over that of 1915. Corrected population for 1920 (Boston's total increased by 54,808) 1,713,744. Of the total population of the State "Greater Boston" has 44.48 per cent; of total valuation, 51.11 per cent; of total value of manufactures, 32.53 per cent.

Total valuation of taxable property in District on April 1, 1922, $2,919,179,075, which exceeds the 1921 valuation by $114,300,660, a gain of 4.07 per cent. Of said total 57.47 per cent was in Boston and 42.53 per cent outside.

The four organized Metropolitan Districts existing for the purpose of constructing and maintaining certain extensive systems of public works under State control are as follows: Metropolitan Park District, established by chapter 407, Acts of 1893, including all the cities and towns except Lexington, and managed by a State Board of five commissioners; Metropolitan Water District, established by chapter 488, Acts of 1895, including 10 cities and 9 towns, and covering an area of 175 square miles; Metropolitan Sewerage District, established by chapter 439, Acts of 1889, consisting of the North System and South System, including 17 cities and towns in the former system and 8 in the latter, and covering an area of 225 square miles; the last two districts managed by a single State board of three commissioners; Charles River Basin District, established by chapter 465, Acts of 1903, including all the cities and towns except Cohasset and Lexington, and in charge of the Metropolitan Park Commission. By Chapter 350, General Acts of 1919, the two Metropolitan boards were abolished and a single Metropolitan Commission of five members was established.

Another Metropolitan District, viz., the Fire Prevention District, was organized in 1914 by the enactment of chapter 795. In this district are the 14 cities of "Greater Boston," but only 10 of the towns, to which were added Reading and Rockland, a total of 25 municipalities. The District is in charge of a single commissioner, assisted by a deputy commissioner, both appointed for a term of three years. This office was also abolished by said Chapter 350, the work of same being transferred to Department of Public Safety.

Total gross Metropolitan debt for water, parks, sewers and Charles River Basin improvements on July 1, 1922, $77,599,512; sinking funds, $31,419,635; net debt, $46,179,877 or $1,649,011 less than in 1921. This net debt is divided thus: Water supply, $24,514,519; sewers, $11,265,640; parks, boulevards, etc., $7,318,353; Charles River Basin, $3,081,365.

Of 1922 tax rates, the highest of the cities was Quincy's ($36.20) and the highest among the towns, that of Saugus ($38.00); the lowest among the cities was Boston's ($24.70) and among the towns, that of Weston ($18.90). Mean tax rate of the 13 cities in the District outside of Boston, $32.48 or $1.00 more than in 1921 and $3.38 more than in 1920. Mean tax rate of the 26 towns, $27.72 or $1.16 more than in 1921, and $3.11 more than in 1920.

There were in the District in 1920, 4,471 manufacturing establishments, value of product, $1,421,528,434; capital invested, $346,928,136; value of stock and materials used, $814,021,722; total wages paid $266,902,177; average number of wage earners, 207,066. Rank, 1 to 12 in value of products; (1) Boston, $674,344,180; (2) Cambridge, $156,430,827; (3) Lynn, $143,039,476; (4) Somerville, $81,605,860; (5) Watertown, $56,663,659; (6) Everett, $53,106,185; (7) Quincy, $41,241,061; (8) Chelsea, $36,412,602; (9) Malden, $32,326,117; (10) Waltham, $23,895,120; (11) Weymouth, $21,822,189; (12) Newton, $16,295,778. Boston's total product value was 47.44 per cent of the Metropolitan District's.

CITIZENSHIP, BOTH SEXES, ALSO FAMILIES.

Native white citizens, 246,816; foreign born whites naturalized, 102,822; Negro citizens, 12,086; total citizens, 361,724. Foreign born whites remaining aliens, 118,214. Only 56.30 per cent of the citizens registered for voting purposes in 1920 (for City Election) and of the 203,666 who did register only 30.53 per cent voted. Coming to the final facts to be remembered, only 17.2 per cent of the citizens of Boston took part in electing the three members of the City Council and two members of the School Committee in 1920, these five candidates taking office at the will of only 8.3 per cent of the citizens, which was more than sufficient to elect. On the question of permitting Sunday Sports and Games, 10.9 per cent of the citizens voted in favor and 4.3 per cent against, 7.7 per cent being more than sufficient for a majority in favor. The City Election of 1920 reveals the most flagrant case of minority rule ever noted in Boston, not more than one-ninth of the women citizens being interested enough to vote.

Total families in 1920, 164,785 or 3,679 more than in 1915. As this shows a larger increase of families than of persons (i. e., 2,621) since 1915, here is another discrepancy that discredits the 1920 Census. As 4.63 represents the average number of persons to a family, 3,679 families would contain 17,034 persons. The U. S. Census of 1920 shows a net increase of only 2,621 persons since 1915.

TRANSFER FOR ZONING SYSTEM.

The following was received:

City of Boston.

Office of the Mayor, July 7, 1924.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—The adoption of the Zoning Act has increased the labors of the Building Department, the Board of Appeal, and the Law Department to such an extent as to render necessary the employment of additional help and the expenditure of additional monies.

At the time of the adoption of the budget no provision was made to cover the cost of the necessary organization for the carrying out of the provisions of the Zoning Act. It accordingly becomes necessary that action be taken at once to provide the necessary machinery so that the provisions of the Zoning Act may be complied with.

I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

Referred to the Executive Committee.

GREAT WHITE WAY, SHAWMUT AVENUE.

The following was received.

City of Boston.

Office of the Mayor, June 5, 1924.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I beg to return herewith order adopted by your Board at a recent meeting and report thereon as submitted by the City Planning Board.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston.

City Planning Board, May 28, 1924.

Hon. James M. Curley,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I return herewith, on behalf of the City Planning Board, order passed by the City Council at its meeting April 28 relative to the advisability of installing a Great White Way system of lighting in conjunction with the reconstruction of Shawmut avenue from Broadway to Roxbury street, and would say in reply that in the opinion of the City Planning Board such action at this time is neither warranted nor necessary.

Shawmut avenue throughout its entire length is approximately 60 feet in width. Present plans provide for the removal of the existing car tracks and paving of the roadway with a bitulithic surface. At the same time provision has been made for the substitution of the boulevard type of lamp for the goose-neck type now in use, and for the installation of thirteen additional lamps of the boulevard type at points between the existing lights between Castle and Roxbury streets, with still another lamp between Broadway and Tremont street, so that with the completion of this new installation Shawmut avenue should be adequately lighted throughout its entire length. Inasmuch as the conduits are already established and the base connection for a greater part can be utilized without any alteration, the expense for this new installation should not be excessive.

The City Planning Board would point out, however, that while the substitution and new installation of these boulevard lamps should be entirely adequate for the purpose they will not in any sense of the word constitute a "White Way."

Along that portion of Shawmut avenue from Broadway to Dover street, local business is increasing, but from Dover street southwesterly a greater part of the distance is still devoted to residential purposes,—single-family houses, lodging houses, apartments and hotels, with local business intermingled. In a letter to his Honor, dated April 24, 1924, the City Planning Board reported that "unless the residents and merchants in local districts are willing to bear the greater part of the expense, the establishment of White Ways in local districts are an expense which the city is not warranted in assuming."

The City Planning Board is of the opinion, therefore, that conditions on Shawmut avenue from Broadway to Roxbury street do not warrant a Great White Way, but they do believe that the substitution of the boulevard type of lamp with fourteen new additional lamps will prove entirely adequate and satisfactory for the requirements of the district.

Respectfully submitted,

THE CITY PLANNING BOARD.

E. M. HERLIHY,

Secretary.

Placed on file.

TRANSFER FOR BRIDGE SERVICE.

The following was received:

City of Boston.

Office of the Mayor, June 19, 1924.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—Upon the occasion of the consideration by the City Council of the budget for 1924-25 as adopted by the City Council and approved by the Mayor, a verbal agreement was entered into providing for the payment to drawtenders and assistant drawtenders in the service of the city when ill.

In accordance with the terms of this verbal agreement, I respectfully recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

From the appropriation for Reserve Fund, $4,500, to the appropriation for Public Works Department, Bridge Service, A-3, unassigned, $4,500.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

ABANDONMENT OF CITY YARD, JAMAICA PLAIN.

The following was received:

City of Boston.

Office of the Mayor, June 2, 1924.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I beg to forward herewith report of the Commissioner of Public Works, the same constituting reply to order of the City Council adopted under date of May 12, 1924.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston.

Public Works Department, May 24, 1924.

To the Honorable the Mayor.

In reply to the attached order in Council as to "whether or not it is possible, without seriously crippling the department business, to abandon the city yard on Child and Centre streets, Jamaica Plain, and dispose of the property." The yard referred to is located at the corner of Child and South streets and accommodates the activities of the Sewer, Water and Paving Services for the district of West Roxbury.

Its geographical location at one end of the district is not suitable for handling the work in his district properly, and for some time past the writer has been investigating a new location, preferably where a siding could be provided along a steam railroad and situated approximately near the center of the district. For this considerable amount would have to be provided by loan to buy land and construct suitable buildings, and until this is done there is no possibility of abandoning the present yard.

It was the intention of the writer, if the $100,000 loan were made available this year, to include for the present Child street yard a $30,000 garage, fronting on South street and replacing the present unsightly shanties, voting booth and other buildings which are now so offensive an appearance. The entrance to this garage would be entirely from Child street and within the yard, which would render the yard's appearance much less objectionable and be an architectural improvement to the neighborhood, and which would postpone the necessity of seeking quarters elsewhere.

There is no possibility of abandoning the present yard until such time as another one has been provided.

Yours respectfully,

J. A. ROURKE,

Commissioner of Public Works.

Placed on file.

The following was received:

City of Boston.

Office of the Mayor, July 7, 1924.

To the City Council.

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

(Accompanying the message was the contract referred to.)

Referred to the Executive Committee.

TRANSFER FOR SPRINKLER SYSTEM, HOSPITAL.

The following was received:

City of Boston.

Office of the Mayor, July 7, 1924.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith communication from the Board of Trustees of the Boston City Hospital, requesting the transfer of $399.08 within the department appropriation for the completion of the sprinkler system, and respectfully recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston.

Hospital Department, June 4, 1924.

Hon. James M. Curley,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—You will remember that there was considerable delay in completing the Thorndike Memorial Building, and as a consequence C. H. Cronin, who installed the sprinkler system throughout the hospital, was delayed several months in completing his contract, due to his inability to go into the Thorndike Building before it was accepted by the trustees. As a consequence Mr. Cronin made a claim for $1,176.73. At a conference with Mr. Cronin this was adjusted to $400.73.

The trustees believe that this sum justly belongs to Mr. Cronin, and respectfully request that $399.08 be transferred from the appropriation, "City Hospital Improvements," to the appropriation "Sprinkler System, Main Hospital," which sum, plus the small balance remaining in the appropriation, will allow us to make an addition to contract of C. H. Cronin to cover the adjusted claim.

Yours respectfully,
JOSEPH P. MANNING,
President, Board of Trustees.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 201 of the Acts of 1893 the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

From the appropriation for City Hospital, Improvements, $399.08, to the appropriation for Sprinkler System, Main Hospital, $399.08. Referred to the Executive Committee.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I beg to submit for acceptance by your honorable body chapter 352 of the Acts of 1924, as approved by his Excellency the Governor, under date of May 12, 1924, which act makes the necessary provision which will permit of the adoption of the building program as recommended by the Boston City Hospital Trustees.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That chapter 352 of the Acts of 1924, entitled "An Act Authorizing The City of Boston to Borrow and to Raise by Taxation Money for Hospital Purposes," be and the same hereby is accepted.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

LOAN FOR HOSPITAL BUILDINGS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 19, 1924.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—The trustees of the Boston City Hospital about one year ago were authorized to employ architects to design plans for such buildings as might be required to meet present needs and in part anticipate future requirements.

The Legislature at the present session adopted a statute authorizing the expenditure of $3,000,000 by the city to cover the cost of the building program as determined upon by the City Hospital Trustees. The Legislative Act provided that one third of the total be provided from the amount of money raised by taxation or within the borrowing power, the remaining two thirds to be raised outside of the debt-incurring power.

In conformity with the recommendations of the Boston City Hospital Trustees and in accordance with the provisions of the Legislative Act as adopted by the General Court of 1924, I respectfully recommend the adoption of the accompanying orders.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 352 of the Acts of 1924 the sum of two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) be and the same is hereby appropriated to be expended by the trustees of the Boston City Hospital for the erection of a maternity building, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 352 of the Acts of 1924 the sum of five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) be and the same is hereby appropriated to be expended by the trustees of the Boston City Hospital, for the erection of a maternity building, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount, the same to be issued outside the limit of indebtedness.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

City of Boston,

"An Act Authorizing the Laying Out, Widening and Construction of Tremont Street from Arlington Square to its intersection with Stuart Street in the City of Boston," and also an order providing that chapter 476 of the Acts of 1924, entitled "An Act Authorizing the Laying Out, Widening and Construction of Kneeland Street from a point at or near Washington and Stuart Streets to Atlantic Avenue in the City of Boston," and I accordingly recommend the adoption of these orders by your honorable body.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 7, 1924.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—Under the provisions of chapter 475 of the Acts of 1924 and chapter 476 of the Acts of 1924, the City of Boston is authorized to expend a total of $2,400,000 for the relief of traffic congestion in down-town Boston. These acts provide for the laying out, widening, and construction of Tremont street and of Kneeland street, which widenings are vitally necessary, not alone for public convenience, but for the protection of the city in the matter of property values.

Chapter 475 and chapter 476 of the Acts of 1924 represent the initial steps in a street widening program which must ultimately be adopted regardless of cost.

The acts, as adopted, provide that ten per cent of the amount provided in the acts shall be expended from revenue within the debt limit or other sources of revenue. The acts further provide that the city be authorized to raise outside the debt limit the sum of $2,400,000, and I respectfully recommend the adoption of the accompanying orders making provision for the raising of such money as may be required within the debt limit or from other sources of revenue, and the amount necessary to be raised outside the debt limit.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the sum of $120,000 be and the same hereby is appropriated for the laying out, widening and construction of Tremont street, in accordance with chapter 475 of the Acts of 1924, and that the amount so appropriated be met from the revenue to be received under chapter 480, Acts of 1924.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 475 of the Acts of 1924 the sum of one million two hundred thousand dollars ($1,200,000) be and the same hereby is appropriated, to be expended by the Board of Street Commissioners, for the laying out, widening and construction of Tremont street, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount, the same to be issued outside the limit of indebtedness.

Ordered, That the sum of $120,000 be and the same hereby is appropriated for the laying out, widening and construction of Kneeland street, in accordance with chapter 476 of the Acts of 1924, and that the amount so appropriated be met from the revenue to be received under chapter 480, Acts of 1924.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 476 of the Acts of 1924 the sum of one million two hundred thousand dollars ($1,200,000) be and the same hereby is appropriated to be expended by the Board of Street Commissioners, for the laying out, widening and construction of Kneeland street, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the City of Boston to said amount, the same to be issued outside the limit of indebtedness.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

MERRY-GO-ROUND, RAINSFORD ISLAND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 23, 1924.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—The Randridge Excursion Fund Income, which is expended annually for the benefit of the children of Boston, is insufficient to provide other than the boat ride and luncheon.

In the opinion of the Institutions Department Commissioner Dr. David J. Johnson, some form of amusement should be provided for the children participating in these outings. It is possible to secure a merry-go-round at a cost not in excess of $1,500 which can be utilized for the benefit and recreation of the children, and I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the Institutions Commissioner be authorized to expend a sum not in excess of $1,500 for the purchase and maintenance of a merry-go-round to be used on Rainsford Island in connection with outings provided under the Randridge Trust Fund, said sum to be charged to the Reserve Fund.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

CLOSING OF FANEUIL HALL MARKET.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 7, 1924.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith a petition from the lessees of Faneuil Hall Market asking that the market be closed at 3.30 p. m. on July 10, 1924, and I respectfully recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That Faneuil Hall Market be closed on July 10, 1924, at 3.30 o'clock p. m. Referred to the Executive Committee.

TRANSFER FOR SEWER CONSTRUCTION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, June 19, 1924.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—The failure of municipal authorities in the past to provide adequate protection from epidemics which might result as a consequence of the failure to develop sanitary sewerage conditions in the outlying section of the city, and as a consequence of the activity in the building line, it is imperative that immediate action be taken upon a sewerage construction program in the West Roxbury section of Boston.

At the recent session of the Legislature a measure was introduced authorizing the city to increase the amount to be expended for sewerage purposes inside the debt limit from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000, but the Legislature did not approve the act as presented by the municipal authorities.

The amount appropriated by the city within the debt limit was $800,000, and in the opinion of the Commissioner of Public Works it is vitally necessary that this amount be increased to at least $1,000,000. In his opinion, which I share, the interests of public health are paramount to public convenience, and I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

The adoption of this order will make possible at a later time the transfer of $200,000 to the Public Works Department for sewerage construction that otherwise would be expended for "Highways, Making of."

The privy system that has obtained from the beginning of our city in the so-called Germantown section of West Roxbury, and the open sewerage system known as Stony brook, have so long been a possible source of contagion that it is imperative that the matter receive immediate attention.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That the right to borrow money for Highways, Making of, under the loan order passed March 18, 1924, and approved by the Mayor March 19, 1924, be limited to $600,000, and that the authorization to borrow in excess of said amount for said purpose be and the same hereby is revoked.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

JITNEY LICENSE.

Coun. WALSH called up unfinished business, No. 4 viz.:

4. Action on granting license to Frank J. Buckley for jitneys from Copley square over Huntington avenue to Brookline line.

The question came on granting the license.

Coun. BRICKLEY—Mr. President, I would like information on that.

Chairman LANE—We had a report three weeks ago "Ought to pass," and the matter was then laid on the table and has been hanging along until this meeting. Coun. Walsh has now brought it up, and the question is now on the acceptance of the report and granting of the license.

Coun. WALSH—Mr. President, the reason I have called it up is that the petitioner, Mr. Buckley, is here now, and wants to get a train back to New York tonight.

Coun. PURCELL—Mr. President, this is a proposed line between Boston and Providence, at a cost of two dollars for each trip. There are to be hourly trips, with a seat for every passenger. It has been in the committee now for about two months, and we voted at the last meeting of the committee to grant it. At our last regular meeting it was put over to this meeting. That is the whole data. Does Coun. Brickley want any further information?

Coun. BRICKLEY—Well, I don't feel that I am in a position to vote on it, Mr. President. I don't know anything about it. I like to feel sure of things before I vote. I would like to know what type of car they are going to run and what streets they are going over.

Coun. PURCELL—Just Copley square, through Huntington avenue and then right out of the city. They are not going to pick up passengers anywhere except at the Copley Plaza Hotel and let them off in Providence. I think they are Pierce-Arrow buses. Is that right, Mr. Buckley?

Mr. BUCKLEY—Yes.

Chairman LANE—The route is on the petition, which also says that it shall be a "de luxe type of coach holding from eighteen to twenty passengers and fully equipped both as to heat, light and safety appliances of modern design. From six to sixteen of these coaches will be utilized depending upon the patronage as the same develops." That is, I understand that if more coaches are needed they will be added.

Coun. MORIARTY—What is the rate of fare?

Chairman LANE—Two dollars.

Coun. MORIARTY—Round trip?

Chairman LANE—No. One way. Children twelve years and under, accompanied by parents, one dollar single trip.

Coun. WALSH—It is late in the season, and if the permit is not granted today they probably will not want it at all.
Report accepted; license granted.

CONFIRMATION OF APPOINTMENTS.

The President called up unfinished business, Nos. 1, 2 and 3, viz.:

Action on appointments submitted by the Mayor June 30, 1924, viz.:

1. Thomas A. Brannelly, Charles B. Palmer, Hector Palladino and Timothy Kelly, to be Constables.

2. Edward R. McNeil, Percy L. Dame, Thomas Hazlett, Carlton W. Ellms and Philip C. Shute, to be Weighers of Goods.

3. Martin J. Walsh, to be a Weigher of Coal and a Measurer of Wood and Bark.

The question came on confirmation. Committee—Coun. Brickley and Walsh. Whole number of ballots cast 6, yeas 6, and the appointments were confirmed.

LOAN FOR NEW HOSPITAL BUILDING.

Coun. HEALEY called up unfinished business, No. 5, viz.:

5. Ordered, That the sum of $500,000 be and hereby is appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the City Hospital Trustees for a new hospital building, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be and hereby is authorized to issue, from time to time, upon request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of the city to said amount.

On April 28, 1924, the foregoing order was read once and passed, yeas 9.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, I move that No. 5 be indefinitely postponed, inasmuch as the Mayor's hospital building program has been accepted and the Legislature has also taken action allowing us to appropriate $500,000 for the building of a maternity hospital. While there is doubt as to the proper procedure, I think No. 5 should not receive its second reading. I therefore move that it be indefinitely postponed.

The order was indefinitely postponed.

OPENING OF COPLEY SCHOOL BATHS.

Coun. PURCELL offered an order—Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be requested to investigate and report as to the reason the Copley School baths are not open.

Passed under a suspension of the rule.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. WALSH moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

THE NEXT MEETING.

Coun. BRICKLEY—Mr. President, I move that when we adjourn it be to meet two weeks from today at 2 p. m.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr. President, I would like to make a request. I will not be here two weeks from today. That will be the 21st of July. I am going to ask the consent of the Council that that $3,000 order concerning the Chamber of Commerce be laid over until I return to the city. I am going to a convention in Montreal and will be there the twenty-first day of July. I am going to request that the order appropriating $3,000 for the Chamber of Commerce stay on the table until my return.

Chairman LANE—The Council will take notice of that.

Coun. HEALEY—Is that a request or a demand?

Coun. MORIARTY—A request.

The motion that when the Council adjourn it be to meet on Monday, July 21, at 2 p. m. was carried.

Adjourned at 4.25 o'clock p. m., on motion of Coun. BRICKLEY, to meet on Monday, July 21, at two o'clock p. m.

NATIVES AND CITIZENS OF BOSTON AND VICINITY HONORED IN HALL OF FAME.

In the American Hall of Fame, New York City, dedicated in 1901, are inscribed on bronze tablets the names of 56 eminent men and 7 distinguished women deemed worthy of the highest honor on account of their services and attainments. Of the 63 individuals thus selected (up to 1920 inclusive) by an electorate of 100 leading Americans, 27 were natives or for some time citizens of Boston or vicinity. The names of the latter are as follows: Chosen in 1900—John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, William Ellery Channing, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Daniel Webster, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, Horace Mann, Nathaniel Hawthorne, George Peabody, Samuel Finley Breese Morse, Joseph Story, Asa Gray, Gilbert Stuart—total, 13.

Chosen, in 1910—Edgar Allan Poe, Oliver Wendell Holmes, George Bancroft, John Lothrop Motley, Phillips Brooks—total, 5.

Chosen in 1915—Louis Agassiz, Francis Parkman, Rufus Choate, Charlotte Cushman—total, 4.

Chosen in 1920—William Thomas Green Morton, Alice Freeman Palmer. Five additional names every fifth year are to be selected and inscribed until the year 2,000, when the 150 tablets in the colonnade will be complete.

If those who were natives or residents elsewhere in the State are added to the list, the following 7 names increase the total to 34 for Massachusetts or more than half the whole number, viz.: William Cullen Bryant, Jonathan Edwards, Mark Hopkins, Elias Howe, Eli Whitney, Maria Mitchell, Mary Lyon.

If all New England is included, 4 more names will bring up the total to 38 or 60.3 per cent of whole number chosen, viz.: Roger Williams, Henry Ward Beecher, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Emma Willard.

CITY CHARTER CHANGES.

In 1854, 1885 and 1900 important changes in the original City Charter of 1821 were effected for the purpose of improving the methods and efficiency of the City Government. The revision of 1854 (Chap. 448, Stat. 1854) referred to the voters for acceptance, gave the Mayor a qualified veto over the action of the City Council, also the power of removal of appointed officials, besides providing for his election by a plurality instead of a majority vote. The amendments of 1885 (Chap. 266, Stat. 1885) were not submitted to the voters for approval. They transferred all the executive powers to the Mayor, prohibiting the City Council from interference with the executive and administrative business of the City. This was done in order to end the inefficiency resulting from an excessive number of joint committees, a municipal development conforming to the traditions of the outgrown town government.

The amendments of 1909 (Chap. 486, Stat. 1909) cut down the number and powers of the legislative branch of the government to a minimum, the Board of Aldermen (13 members) and the Common Council (75 members) being abolished. For these was substituted a single City Council of nine members to be elected at large for a 3-year term. The Mayor's position was further strengthened by giving him a 4-year term, subject to recall at end of two years, but requiring a majority of the registered voters to make the recall effective. The Mayor's power over appointments was no longer subject to check by aldermen but by a State board, the Civil Service Commission, and City elections were removed from all connection with national and State politics, no primaries nor caucuses being permitted, all candidates for office to be selected by means of nomination papers. The only question in this Act of 1909 which was submitted to the voters was contained in section 35, i. e., whether Plan 1 or Plan 2 should be adopted, the first providing for a term of two years for Mayor and a City Council of 36 members to be chosen in primaries. Plan 2 was adopted by a majority of 3,894. Charter of 1909 amended later as follows: (1) By Chap. 437, Acts of 1910, exempting loans issued for Rapid Transit construction from the prohibition of the establishing of sinking funds, as contained in sec. 26. (2) Chap. 730, Acts of 1914, fixing date of annual municipal election on the sixth Tuesday after the state election instead of in the following January, as in sec. 32; changing the requirement as to signatures on nomination papers to 3,000 for Mayor and 2,000 for City Council and School Committee instead of 5,000 for all, as in sec. 53, also limiting the number of nomination papers issued to 300 for a candidate for Mayor and 200 for other candidates, referring to sec. 54. (3) Chap. 37, Special Acts of 1918, annulling the jurat at end of nomination papers. (4) Chap. 94, Special Acts of 1918, abolishing recall of Mayor, and making him ineligible for re-election, i. e., establishing a single term of four years, but not prohibiting the election of any Mayor for other than consecutive terms. (5) Chap. 288, Acts of 1921, fixing date of the annual municipal election on the first Tuesday after the second Monday in December, also making slight changes as to nominations.

LIQUOR LICENSES AND NATIONAL PROHIBITION.

The national prohibition amendment (i. e., the 18th) to the Constitution, having been ratified by 45 States and becoming effective on January 16, 1920, the legalized trade in intoxicating liquors ceased then. It was supposed to stop about 6 months sooner because of the Federal war regulation providing for prohibition on July 1, 1919, to be effective until the army could be demobilized. But as there was no Massachusetts law forbidding the issuing of licenses after July 1, the Boston Licensing Board issued 702 such for the remainder of the license year with the proviso that the license was no protection against violation of Federal law. After July 1, under Federal law, the only liquor which licensees claimed the right to sell was beer and ale containing not over 2.75 per cent of alcohol. Sales of these lighter beverages continued to October 28, 1919, when Congress enacted a law (Volstead Act) forbidding the sale of any liquor as a beverage containing more than 0.50 per cent alcohol. The validity of this act being widely questioned, the United States Supreme Court upheld it on Jan. 5, 1920, and again on June 7, 1920. The result of this decision was that former applicants for liquor licenses did not apply for them in 1920. The Supreme Court of Mass. later in the year decided that the liquor laws of the State remain in force where not inconsistent with the Volstead Act. The Boston Board therefore issued 146 licenses to druggists and 17 4th-class, permitting sales for non-beverage purposes only. In 1921 there were issued 192 licenses to druggists, 15 4th-class and one 5th-class. On May 17, 1922, Chap. 427, Acts of 1922 (consisting of 27 sections) was approved, providing for the carrying into effect in Mass. of the 18th Federal (i. e., prohibition) amendment. This law is subject to a referendum at State election on November 7, 1922.

By Chapter 392, Acts of 1922, the retailing of non-intoxicating beverages is subjected to license, with fee of not more than one dollar for each year ending April 30.

PUBLIC STREETS IN BOSTON.

Total length of the 2,447 paved (accepted) streets, February 1, 1922, 606.33 miles; total area, 11,459,009 square yards, or 8.47 per cent of the City's total land area. This is exclusive of the private streets (not accepted), numbering about 2,890. 366.10 miles, or 60.38 per cent, are paved with macadam (including 128.03 miles bituminous macadam); 105.66 miles with granite block; 45.50 miles with asphalt; 29.32 miles with gravel; 36.63 miles with asphalt concrete (17.55 m. being bitulithic and 13.71 m. Topeka); 11.69 miles with wood block; 5.42 miles with brick. Old macadam pavement is gradually being replaced with more satisfactory and durable kinds, such as bitulithic, concrete, granite block, etc., $5,138,678 having been expended during the past four years in reconstructing and improving 313 miles of streets and parts of streets. Granolithic sidewalks laid in 1921, 97,049 square yards or about 21 miles, averaging 8 feet wide, 50 per cent of cost assessed on estates benefited.

New highway construction completed in period 1918-1921 includes 13 streets in Boston Proper; 34 in Dorchester; 37 in West Roxbury; 14 in Roxbury; 24 in Brighton; 6 in East Boston; 3 in Hyde Park; 4 in South Boston, and 1 in Charlestown, roadway pavement bitulithic, or asphalt surface on concrete, and bituminous macadam. Gross debt outstanding February 1, 1922, for all street construction, including damages, $22,267,141 or $925,700 more than in 1921, this increase due to new loan for Stuart St. construction.

SETTLEMENT OF BOSTON.

Boston was settled in the latter part of August, 1630, by Puritan colonists under Governor John Winthrop. The name of the original settlement was changed to Boston from Trimountaine by order of the Court of Assistants on September 7 (O. S.), 1630. This date was moved forward by the New Style calendar in 1752 to Sept. 17, the recognized date of the founding of Boston. The name, Trimountaine, had been given because of the three peaks of the most prominent hill, afterward called Beacon Hill, much higher then than now. By the Indians the place was called Shawmut. The name, Boston, was derived from the English town of Boston in Lincolnshire, the home of some of the leading colonists and promoters of the enterprise.

CORNERSTONE FOR NEW FIRE ALARM STATION IN FENWAY LAID BY MAYOR CURLEY WITH BEFITTING CEREMONY.

PREDICTS, BEFORE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS AND GUESTS, THAT SYSTEM WILL HANDLE SIGNALS FOR ENTIRE CITY FOR NEXT FIFTY YEARS.—BUILDING OF SUCH ARTISTIC BEAUTY AS TO INCREASE ATTRACTIVENESS OF DISTRICT.

NEW HOME FOR BOSTON'S FIRE SIGNAL OPERATORS FORMALLY BEGUN IN FENWAY BY LAYING OF CORNERSTONE BY HON. JAMES M. CURLEY, MAYOR OF BOSTON, THURSDAY, JULY 24.

Mayor James M. Curley Thursday afternoon laid the corner stone for the new fire alarm station in the Fenway, opposite Westland avenue, following an address in which he informed a large number of visiting chiefs that the station will handle the fire alarm signals of metropolitan Boston for the next fifty years.

The station, which will blend with the other beautiful building in the Fenway, will cost more than $600,000 to construct and equip.

Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn, as master of ceremonies, introduced Rev. Daniel D. Ryan, who offered prayer for the officers and men of the fire fighting force.

Alfred Davenport, ex-president of the Boston Board of Fire Underwriters, spoke of the need for the new station.

Among the papers placed in the copper box inside of the stone was a statement by Commissioner Glynn, which follows:

"For over thirty years the Fire Alarm Signal Station of the Boston Fire Department has been located in the Headquarters Building of the Boston Fire Department, Bristol street, Ward 6, a building located in the most hazardous section of the city, surrounded by lumber yards, woodworking and milling plants, and many other hazardous buildings. The Fire Headquarters Building has been threatened on several occasions by serious fires in the vicinity, the most notable occasion being in August, 1910, when a general alarm fire destroyed buildings on two sides of the Headquarters Building. In this fire the repair shop of the Fire Department, a large three-story brick building adjoining the Headquarters Building, was completely destroyed. Previous to that fire there was talk of a new fire alarm station. After that fire there were more recommendations, but no action.

"His Honor Mayor James M. Curley, appreciating the importance of uninterrupted service in the fire alarm system and becoming aware of the exposure of the fire alarm station to serious hazards, issued instructions to the Fire Commissioner to make a study of the matter and report to him at an early date. After the report was submitted Mayor Curley selected a site in the Fenway, at Westland avenue for the erection of a modern fire alarm signal station. This site was selected because the building could be isolated from all other construction and hazards. Mayor Curley provided a special appropriation of $650,- 000 to erect and equip the signal station, and gave orders that no expense was to be spared to make the building as fireproof as possible, to erect it in harmony with its surroundings, and to equip it with the most up-to-date machinery.

"It is significant to mention here that the first electric fire alarm system in the world was constructed and installed by the City of Boston, and the first alarm of fire was received over this system at 8.25 p. m. April 29, 1852.

"On July 24, 1924, his Honor Mayor James M. Curley, laid the corner stone of a new fire alarm signal station, a building and equipment which surpasses any fire alarm station in the world."

Among the guests and members of the Boston Fire Department who were present were Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson and his secretary, John Merrick; Assistant Chief Daniel F. Sennott, Deputy Chiefs Henry A. Fox, Albert J. Caulfield, District Chief William McCorkle, Supt. of Fire Alarm George L. Fickett and his assistant, Richard Donoghue, all of the Boston Fire Department; Superintendent Henry A. Thompson, Boston Protective Department; Chiefs James Casey of Cambridge; David De-

MAYOR SCORES METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COMMISSION FOR ENTIRELY CLOSING HARVARD BRIDGE.

The Mayor issued the following statements on July 18, on learning of the closing of Harvard Bridge.

The action of the Metropolitan District Commission in closing to public travel the Harvard Bridge, one of the main arteries between Boston and Cambridge, and the principal artery for travel from Boston to the West, for, as they term it, a period of six months, will prove of tremendous injury to the interests of both Boston and Cambridge.

The promise of the commission that the work will be completed by December is rather hard to believe in view of the tardy character of conduct of work in connection with the Quincy-Boston Bridge, the construction of which has been under consideration for a period of eight years and in process of construction for nearly two years and is as yet uncompleted for through travel in both directions.

It has always been the policy of the Engineering Division of the City of Boston to build a temporary structure for the convenience of pedestrians and vehicles whenever major repairs or replacement of a bridge was being conducted and it has been found not only sound business policy but the only intelligent method of conducting work of this character.

Regardless of cost the Metropolitan District Commission, in the interests of public convenience and business, should either provide a temporary structure or make provision for the use of a portion of the Harvard Bridge during the period of reconstruction.

of gypsy moths and the charges made for such service. Application may be made to this department for information regarding the public baths and gymnasiums maintained by the city, and with regard to municipal indoor concerts and band concerts; also information relative to Mt. Hope, Evergreen, Fairview and other public cemeteries owned by the City of Boston.

TO THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE, 15 Beacon street, for information relative to the operation of the schools of the city.

TO THE SCHOOLHOUSE COMMISSIONERS, Room 1007, City Hall Annex, for information as to the construction and repair of school buildings.

TO THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS, Room 1001, City Hall Annex, for information regarding the licensing of persons having charge or control of the work of construction, alteration, removal or tearing down of buildings.

TO THE WIRE DIVISION OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT, Fire Department Headquarters, 60 Bristol street, for all information relative to the erection of poles, the building of conduits, the installation of all overhead and underground construction and electrical apparatus, as well as for general information relative to the entire division. To Room 906, City Hall Annex, for permits for the installing of wires and electrical apparatus within buildings in the City of Boston, and for the payment of fees incident to the granting of the privileges above named, and which must be paid in advance.

MAYOR CURLEY STARTS BALL ROLLING TO EASE UNEMPLOYMENT SITUATION AND ACCOMPANYING DISTRESS.

CALLS ON HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS FOR STRICTEST ECONOMY AND THE SPEEDING UP OF WORK ON WHICH CITY IS PLANNING TO ENGAGE.

Boston must be ready to relieve distress caused by unemployment, Mayor Curley told his department heads at a meeting this week. Opportunity to work must be provided those who flock to the city with no means of livelihood, and the hand of charity must be extended to those migrants who are ill or unable to work, according to the Mayor. To that end he insisted that the departments save at least 20 per cent on their appropriations, other than for labor, so that the Soldiers' Relief, Hospital and Penal Departments may recoup their fast-vanishing funds, and that all plans for construction, buildings, streets and sewers be speeded up in the interest of labor.

At the meeting the Mayor declared that the Republican Party provided a high tariff which had hitherto benefited the industrial establishments of New England in times like these; but unfortunately the party had provided for no foreign policy to take up the excess production of American goods and unprecedented depression had affected Lawrence, Lowell, Haverhill, Newburyport, Fall River and New Bedford.

Already the municipal departments had felt the strain and were spending money so fast that additional funds would have to be provided.

"It is a fact," the Mayor said, "that when business is poor outside Boston, thousands of laborers flock to the city and become public charges. We must take care of these people the best we can, and if you departments heads do your duty we shall be able to provide, not only employment, but the aid of charity to thousands of persons who otherwise would suffer for long periods."

"There has seldom been a period when the Deer Island House of Correction and the Long Island Hospital and Almshouse have been so crowded. At Long Island there are 1,000 patients and at Deer Island between 700 and 750. The hospitals are also feeling the stress. The Overseers of the Public Welfare expect to have a shortage of $200,000 and the Soldiers' Relief Department, $50,000.

"So, gentlemen, you see that we must cut everything to the bone," the Mayor exclaimed. "We must save enough money to keep our charities and our hospitalization going till the end of the year. I shall not approve any recommendations unless they are vitally necessary. I believe it is possible to save from $500,000 to $600,000 in departmental work, and you will be convinced of it if you consider the reports I have received of the lower costs of the necessities and the capital expenditures made last year."

Reading from typewritten reports, Mayor Curley spoke of the reduction in the cost of coal to the city, from 7 to 20 per cent over last year; a similar reduction in the price of crushed stone, asphalt oil, paving blocks and bricks; a saving of from 6 to 11 per cent in milk supplies; a saving of 2 per cent in lumber. All these savings indicated approximately $10,000 up to the present. Furthermore, the Mayor declared that many improvements which the department heads consider necessary can undoubtedly be delayed. For instance, everybody could get along with the present vehicles.

To supplement his statement of costs, the Mayor called upon Frank P. Rock, Superintendent of Supplies, who gave a summary of the city purchases. Fuel for the departments has been provided until next May and fuel oil until October 1. Flour purchases will last until November 1 and general food consignments, which are bought from time to time, are expected to be higher in the fall.

This report led the Mayor to declare that "there has been a lot of stupidity at Washington to allow conditions to go on as they are without taking means to correct them." He feared that affairs may grow worse rather than better, and it was the city's duty to have every bit of her resources ready.

General John H. Dunn, head of the Soldiers' Relief Department, spoke for co-operation among the departments in the matter of employment of men who appeal to him for relief, and the Mayor asked Luke E. Shields, director of the Municipal Employment Bureau, to see to it that such cooperation is afforded, with the assistance of the Civil Service Commission.

When Dr. David J. Johnson, Commissioner of Institutions, was asked about conditions in the harbor, he indicated the growth of Deer Island and was asked by the Mayor to get in touch with Chief Justice Bolster and the chief probation officer to see if more persons could not be sent to the State Farm or placed on probation.

Public Works Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke volunteered the information that if the Cambridge street widening could start after the usual sixty days' notice for vacating buildings had been posted, much labor could be provided for this winter.

The Mayor then asked Chairman John H. L. Noyes of the Street Laying-out Department when this notice could be ready and the reply was early next month. The Mayor spoke of the unfortunate falling-off in building operations, 25 per cent less than two months ago and 20 per cent less than a year ago, and Chairman Noyes suggested that the zoning law was largely responsible. The Mayor would not admit it, replying that construction conditions were the same throughout the country.

Colonel Thomas F. Sullivan, chairman of the Boston Transit Department, was asked as to the progress in plans for the Dorchester tunnel, and he replied that they were ready with the exception of two changes to be made in track locations, the beginning of the project resting with the Elevated Trustees. In a month, the first section would be ready for advertising. The Mayor then asked James F.

Jackson, president of the Elevated Trustees, to do all he could toward facilitating the plans.

For the Schoolhouse Commission, Chairman Thomas P. Glynn reported the plans for the new Mather School would be ready for advertising next month and that one school would be advertised every two weeks thereafter.

Chairman James B. Shea of the Park Department was asked to hasten the $100,000 additional work on the Strandway, South Boston, and Dr. Edmund W. Wilson, assistant superintendent of the City Hospital, was asked to see that the plans for the new maternity building are ready within three weeks.

Building Commissioner John H. Mahony informed the Mayor that the new Police Headquarters building seemed "dormant." He had no idea what was causing the delay. As for the new municipal buildings in Brighton and Dorchester, the plans ought to be ready for fall construction, he declared. Turning to Commissioner Rourke, the Mayor asked him to have plans ready for the Stony Brook extension and the Germantown sewer works at the earliest possible time.

When Chairman John F. O'Brien of the Boston Sanatorium explained that the plans for the out-patient department on East Concord street had been held up because of the failure of the law department to render a decision as to how far the trustees could go, Corporation Counsel E. Mark Sullivan was asked to explain the delay, which he did by saying that Mr. O'Malley, one of his assistants, had the matter in charge. The Mayor asked him to see that the decision was made at once.

The meeting dissolved after the Mayor had given a final warning as to economy, making it plain that there can be no more overtime work and that all municipal employees must be at work eight hours a day.

AUTHORITY TO DO WORK.

The Mayor has approved the request of the Public Works Commissioner for authority to repair macadam roadway in Lincoln street, Dorchester, from Dorchester avenue to Adams street, with division force, without advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $900.

Also to repair macadam roadway in D street, South Boston, from Claffin street to First street, with division force, without advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $5,000.

Also to repair macadam roadway in Business street, Hyde Park, from River street to Hyde Park avenue, with division force, without advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $7,500.

CANAL ZONE SWIMMERS GIVE EXHIBITION.

Exhibition by the red, white and blue juvenile swimmers from the Canal Zone was given at 3.30 p. m. Friday, July 25, at the Charles River Basin. Points, fancy diving and swimming.

The children are residents of Zone and of government employees working there. They are to visit the President immediately after this week.

NEW FIRE ALARM STATION.

Courcay, Winchester; Frank Tracey, Woburn, and Selden B. Allen, Brookline.

Mayor Curley, speaking at the laying of the cornerstone of the new fire alarm signal station, said in part:

"In laying of the cornerstone of the building which is to be the headquarters of the Fire Alarm Signal System of the City of Boston, we are giving substance to a long contemplated plan of securing safety and protection for the very brain center of the Boston Fire Department; and applying to the department itself the theory and reason for its existence—the safeguarding of life and property—by the elimination of the dangers of a congested industrial area and the prevention by isolation of the destruction of the nerves that control and direct the militant activities of the department.

For long years this headquarters has been housed and stationed in South End; but the great industrial development of that district, and particularly the expansion of the wood-working industries, has multiplied the fire hazards and made it imperatively necessary to remove from these potential dangers the instrumentality controlling and directing the whole city's prevention and protective energies.

This structure when completed and fully equipped with the best and latest fire-signal apparatus that America knows, will represent the most modern and efficient fire alarm signal station on this continent, and that means the world. The building will be a combination of architectural beauty and practical efficiency; its isolation from the crowded centers insures its safety from the fire hazards of such neighborhoods; its surroundings of beautiful open spaces will add to the attractiveness of the structure and have their effect upon the pride and esprit de corps of the men serving here.

The cost of this enterprise when fully completed will be $650,000; but its value in the safety it promises and the security it gives to all the workings of the department is hard to compute. The destruction of the fire alarm signal system would mean the disorganization of the whole Fire Department, and the presence of dangers and difficulties in the protection of life and property none of us cares to face. That threat hangs over the headquarters at all times in its present site and is a cause of anxiety and a stimulus to great precaution; and the completion of this building, its equipment and functioning will give the Boston Fire Department a sense of safety and a feeling of security it has never had in full measure in all these years.

So it is with singular pleasure that I come here today to lay the foundation stone of a structure that represents a promise and a pledge of a great safety and a surer protection for the lives and interests of this great community. This enterprise is Boston's contribution to the principle of preparedness, to the wisdom of getting ready in the days of safety for the future days of danger, the danger that is seldom absent from the life of a great city.

This building will be the watch-tower of the guardians of Boston's lives and property; from here its network of nerves will spread over the whole city, keeping it in intimate touch with every spot in the city by day and night; its service constant, tireless, sleepless, ready when fire and danger threaten to call the protectors of life and property to instant action. This structure, its unsurpassed apparatus and the men who constitute its garrison, will represent to the city the unceasing vigilance that united with the discipline, courage and splendid spirit of the members of the Fire Department carries confidence and security to every citizen in the community and a pledge of protection to every house and home.

MAYOR STARTS INJUNCTION PROCEEDINGS AGAINST PUBLIC UTILITIES COMMISSION TO HALT TELEPHONE RATE INCREASES.

Mayor Curley sent the following communication July 21 to the Corporation Counsel, Hon. E. Mark Sullivan:

DEAR SIR,—The action of the Public Utilities Commission of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in granting certain increases in telephone rates to the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company before the completion of the hearing conducted by you as Corporation Counsel, representing the people of Boston, and the chief executives of numerous Massachusetts cities, I had hoped and believed would result in a recommendation to the Governor's Council for the removal of the commission by his Excellency the Governor, Hon. Channing H. Cox.

The failure of his Excellency to file charges seeking the removal of the Public Utilities Commission of the Commonwealth leaves but one course open for the present, provided the interests of the people of Boston and the surrounding cities and towns are to be protected, namely, the filing of a petition seeking to enjoin the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company from putting into operation the proposed increases in telephone rates.

A more flagrant or insulting action to my knowledge has never been taken by any Board in the history of the Commonwealth. The City Council of Boston appropriated $5,000 to conduct the present investigation which has been in process for more than a month and this action by the city was only taken when it became apparent that the Public Utilities Commission were considering the interests of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company and disregarding the public welfare.

The attorneys for the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company to the present time have failed to present adequate evidence to support the increased rates now granted by the State Public Utilities Commission. The City of Boston and other objectors have been denied a hearing upon these particular rate increases which have been granted.

You are accordingly directed to file at once a petition seeking to enjoin the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company from putting into operation the increase in telephone rates granted by the State Public Utilities Commission to the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

MAYOR CURLEY ISSUES PROCLAMATION ASKING CITIZENS TO WELCOME MEMBERS OF G. A. R.

To the Citizens of Boston.

The National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will be held in Boston during the week of August 10-16. Massachusetts was the first to answer the call of Lincoln in '61 and during this Encampment Boston will see the heroic survivors of the Union Armies and Navies organized as the Grand Army of the Republic marching our streets in military array for probably the last time. The ranks of this glorious body are dwindling rapidly; they are passing into history and memory before the onslaughts of a foe more irresistible than the forces of rebellion; and while they still remain they are deserving of the gratitude, honor and respect of the Republic they served so well.

I ask my fellow citizens to place their homes and buildings in festival attire during Encampment Week by a display of the national and state flags and by decorations of bunting and colored draperies and appropriate insignia that will say to the veterans they are in the city of their friends.

I appeal to you to supplement in your private capacity the official hospitality extended to the visiting veterans by the Commonwealth and City of Boston. The parade of the veterans will take place Tuesday, August 12, and a trip to historic Lexington and Concord is scheduled for Thursday, August 14.

All the delegates to the Encampment are aged; many are infirm; some are disabled and cannot march; the weather of mid-August is hot and trying. I suggest to patriotic Boston that it send its motor cars to take care of these heroic old men on these two occasions and I feel that I am not appealing in vain. I ask you to get in touch with Capt. Fred Bolton, chairman of the official committee, at Room 305, City Hall, in order that proper arrangements can be made.

Let our slogan be "They marched for us in '61. Let them ride with us today."

Make their visit a memorable one.

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

BOSTON WASHES HANDS OF REPAIRING OF HARVARD BRIDGE AND ITS CLOSING.

MAYOR INFORMS METROPOLITAN DISTRICT COMMISSION THAT CITY HAS NO JURISDICTION AT PRESENT AND WILL STOP REPAIRS ON ROADWAY AS WELL AS DRAWTENDERS SERVICES.

Mayor Curley sent the following letter July 22:

MR. JAMES A. BAILEY, Chairman Metropolitan District Commission, State House, Boston, Mass.

DEAR SIR,—Upon receipt of communication from the Metropolitan District Commission relative to Harvard Bridge, I communicated with the Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston who has furnished me with certain information with reference to Harvard Bridge and which information is contained in a letter, copy of which I am inclosing to you.

I share the views as set forth by the Commissioner of Public Works.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

To the Honorable the Mayor.

In reply to the attached letter from the Metropolitan District Commission dated July 19, 1924, which refers to a conference held in their office on July 17, as a result of which the letter states that it is advisable to close Harvard Bridge during the progress of the work of reconstruction and repair, and requesting that authorization to close the bridge entirely to travel be taken by the Boston and Cambridge Bridge Commission and attaching to their letter a copy of affirmative vote that the bridge be closed to travel when the repairs are begun by the Metropolitan District Commission.

Section 4 of chapter 155 of the Acts of 1882, referring to the construction of the existing Harvard Bridge, states that the care and management of said bridge and draw shall be vested in a board of commissioners consisting of one person from each city, etc., Section 14 of chapter 467 of the Acts of 1898 which authorized the construction of West Boston or commonly known Cambridge Bridge states that the Cambridge Bridge and all other bridges and draws between the cities of Boston and Cambridge shall be policed and maintained by the said cities, and provides for the appointment of two commissioners, who are at present the Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston, designated by the Mayor of Boston, and F. J. Smith of Cambridge, appointed by the Mayor of Cambridge. Chapter 442 of the Acts of 1924 authorizes the Metropolitan District Commission to strengthen, repave and repair Harvard Bridge. To carry out its provisions this commission recently awarded a contract for doing all the work of repair and reconstruction, and on July 14 their contractor (Grande) began tearing up the bridge and established one-way traffic for vehicles and street car traffic in both directions. A sequence of operations was established in the specifications for carrying out these provisions.

The Chief Engineer of the Metropolitan District Commission, in a conversation with the writer, stated that an interpretation of the act (chapter 442) by his superiors required that the cities of Boston and Cambridge should continue to maintain and patch in safe condition for travel one of the roadways while the other was being reconstructed; and at no time have we been notified by letter or otherwise by the Metropolitan District Commission that they were to proceed with the work.

The conference held at their office on the 17th, three days after the work had started, was to bring to their attention an opinion of the City of Boston's Corporation Counsel that their interpretation of the act providing for the cities continuing their activities on this bridge was not in accordance with the act, and for reasons ably explained by Joseph P. Lyons of our Law Department, who also attended the conference.

The Corporation Counsel has given an opinion to the writer, a part of which is as follows and in which the Corporation Counsel of Cambridge heartily concurs:

"I therefore advise you that you have no further control of the bridge as an entry for the purpose of repair has been made by the Metropolitan District Commission. If they desire to permit travel over the bridge while they are repairing the same, that is a matter for them to determine and is not at all under your control or direction."

The interpretation by the Metropolitan District Commission under which there are divided responsibilities and activities on a structure which they were authorized to practically completely reconstruct above the main girders is generally conceded to be very narrow and not in accordance with previous practice or methods of doing work. At the conference the writer called attention to the criticism which would result from completely closing this bridge to travel, particularly that from the cross-town car riders to and from Cambridge who lose valuable time in going and coming from work by being obliged to detour on elevated lines, as the inconvenience to this class is much greater than to automobiles and trucks.

We see no reason why the original sequence of operations incorporated in the commission's contract cannot be prosecuted, and if a 16-hour shift is maintained, as the cities of Boston and Cambridge would have adopted had the work been in their hands, the completion of the work with one-way vehicle and foot passenger traffic and two-way street car traffic would be within the date at which it is hoped to complete the work by closing the bridge to all traffic.

I therefore recommend:

1. That the request of the Metropolitan District Commission for a vote by the Boston and Cambridge Bridge Commission that Harvard Bridge be closed to travel be not complied with.

2. That a letter be written to the Metropolitan District Commission that the cities of Boston and Cambridge have no jurisdiction over any part of the bridge at present and will stop the work of repairs on the existing traffic roadway and discontinue the drawtenders' services.

Yours respectfully,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,

Commissioner of Public Works and Commissioner for Bridges of Boston and Cambridge.

RUBBER PAVING PROVING WORTH ON NORTHERN AVENUE BRIDGE.

The trial patch of rubber paving which the City of Boston laid early in May on the Northern Avenue Bridge is proving highly satisfactory thus far, according to Public Works Commissioner Joseph A. Rourke.

So tough is the composition that hardly a mark shows where a freight car jumped the track recently and rolled over the rubber surface, the sharp flanges of its heavy wheels sinking deep in the material, but causing no permanent injury.

Heavy traffic, both horse drawn and motorized, has yet produced little wear. The real test will come, however, with the severe changes in temperature of winter, Commissioner Rourke said. City officials will not be able to determine definitely for some time, therefore, whether it will be advisable to install the new type of paving more extensively in Boston.

MAYOR CURLEY SEVERELY SCORES TELEPHONE INCREASES.

Mayor Curley severely scored the Public Utilities Commission for granting temporary increases in certain toll charges in a statement following announcement of the increases.

The Mayor's statement, in full, follows:

"The Public Utilities Commission of the State has heard its master's voice—the telephone company. The commission, in a decision handed down, has temporarily allowed two of the increases asked for by the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company in the petition which is now being heard by the commission.

"These increases effect all toll calls of 25 cents or over. The initial period of conversation is shortened from five minutes to three minutes.

"The result is that the five-minute toll conversation, which now costs 25 cents, will hereafter cost 35 cents.

"What these increases will mean to the company nobody definitely knows, except the company's own officials, and they have not as yet exhibited to the commission the essential figures upon which an intelligent estimate can be based, nor has the commission required the attorneys of the Telephone Company to definitely establish what these increases will mean.

"This unintelligent action on the part of the Public Utilities Commission clearly indicates what it is disposed to do by way of favoring the Telephone Company when it shall make its final decision on the entire petition for increases which is now before it.

"This is another one of those farcical commissions created to give places to 'lame duck' politicians. This is the same commission that boosted the railroad rates charged to commuters, and was later compelled to reconsider that decision because of public protest and agitation.

"But that reconsideration was only another illustration of the farcical proceedings that are conducted by this commission. The buffoonery of this commission and the insipidity of its personnel is again illustrated in this 'temporary' order.

"This case has not yet been finished. The evidence has only been partly heard.

"The only real statistics that have yet been received by the commission are those introduced to the commission by the City of Boston.

"The company itself, in presenting its case, did it apparently upon the assumption that it had only to 'ask and ye shall receive.' The commission in making this 'temporary' decision is not serving the public but is serving a monopoly which is mulcting the public.

"Governor Cox congratulates himself that he has reduced the state tax for this year from twelve millions of dollars to ten millions of dollars, although nothing has been said of the two million dollar increase on the thirty-seven million dollars of revenue which the State is receiving from other sources.

"Now comes this new tax which the Telephone Company is permitted to lay upon the public by reason of the inutility of the Department of Public Utilities. This commission is a disgrace. It is responsible to no one except the big interests that always influence its selection and appointment by the Governor and its decisions as well.

DEFINES TERM "GARAGE" FOR ZONING ACT RULINGS.

At a conference held at the office of the Mayor July 22, at which were present representatives of the Law Department, the Building Department and the Street Laying-Out Department, it was definitely determined that the word "garage" as used in the Zoning Act be construed to mean buildings to be used for the storage of five or more cars. This decision will permit of immediate construction of some three hundred or more garages, permits for which have been held up pending a definite legal interpretation as to this particular provision of the Zoning Act.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 577.

The commanding officers of Divisions 1, 3, 10 and 16 have brought to my attention the following excellent police work performed by officers in their several divisions:

I. At about 3.30 a. m. on May 29, 1924, Patrolman Joseph T. Curry of Division 1, who lived at 19 Frawley street, Division 10, was awakened by the noise of a motor engine running, and stepping to the window saw two men stripping tires from an automobile parked in front of his door.

Asking his wife to telephone to the station house, Patrolman Curry dressed quickly and went out on the sidewalk, but the men on seeing him, jumped into a Buick sedan near by and started off, going towards Parker Hill. Patrolman Curry immediately cut across a field to Hillside street and there found one of the men running up the street and arrested him. As he was taking his prisoner to the nearest patrol box, Patrolman Curry met the Ford car of Division 10, and getting in with his prisoner, told the operator to drive up Hillside street. Near Calumet street, Patrolman Curry arrested the other man, who had just pulled the car to the roadside and was starting to run away. These men were later indicted for and convicted of larceny. The second man arrested was identified as having robbed a bank messenger of $15,000 on the West Boston Bridge recently; the other man also has a record.

I am highly gratified to learn of this admirable piece of police work on the part of Patrolman Curry, and I take pleasure in commending him for the alertness, intelligence and zeal he displayed in making these important arrests, and for his evident appreciation of the fact that a police officer is always "on duty."

II. On January 24, 1924, at about six o'clock in the evening, a number of officers were sent with the wagon, in response to a telephone call received at Station 3, to a shop in Portland street, where they found the proprietor of the shop lying on the floor in a semi-conscious condition. Upon recovering, he stated that he had been assaulted, rendered unconscious and his gold watch and chain and ten dollars in cash taken from him by two men, of whom he gave a meager description to Patrolmen John D. Holmes and Edward P. O'Neill, both of Division 3, who were detailed on the case. These officers went to the North Station and there arrested a young man answering the description of one of the assailants, and the stolen watch was found in his pocket. The other criminal was arrested later at his home and brought to the station house, where both men were positively identified by the complainant as the two men who had assaulted and robbed him. Both men were held for the grand jury and later sentenced to a penal institution for substantial terms.

This was a most excellent piece of police work on the part of Patrolmen Holmes and O'Neill, the criminals having been arrested and the stolen property recovered within six hours after the commission of the crime. I take pleasure in commending these officers for the alertness, intelligence and perseverance displayed in making these arrests.

III. At about 11.15 on the morning of January 28, 1924, the manager of a store in John Eliot square was held up at the point of a revolver and robbed of twenty-eight dollars in cash by a supposed customer, who then left the store and went up Centre street, where he met Patrolman Justin McCarthy of Division 10, who, although on his "day off" and in civilian clothes, immediately pursued the criminal to within a short distance of the station house when he placed him under arrest. When searched at the station house, a fully loaded revolver was found in the man's coat pocket. He was held for the grand jury.

I am highly gratified by this excellent piece of police work. I take pleasure in commending Patrolman McCarthy for his quickness of apprehension and courage, and for his evident appreciation of the fact that a police officer is always on duty, even on his "day off."

IV. Between five and six o'clock on the morning of May 31, 1924, Patrolman Charles E. Moore of Division 13 observed coming towards him a Ford sedan with three men in it and having on the front a cardboard number plate. When the operator saw the officer, he turned his machine and started back through Lakeville place. Knowing that the only other egress from this place was through Centre street, Patrolman Moore immediately ran for the corner where the car must come out, and meeting the automobile there ordered the operator to stop. The latter, however, speeded up the machine, going south, whereupon the officer discharged his revolver five times in the air in an attempt to stop the car and secure assistance. He then jumped into a Ford truck and pursued the fleeing car, picked up Patrolman Frederick L. Wilson of Division 13 on the way.

Losing sight of the car at Egleston square, the two officers separated, Patrolman Wilson continuing down Washington street in the truck, while Patrolman Moore commandeered a Buick automobile and proceeded along Columbus avenue. At Davenport street, Division 10, he found the sedan abandoned in the street and discovered two of the young men hiding in the hallway of a house near by. He placed them under arrest, the operator having escaped. Upon investigation it was found that these men had broken and entered five units of the Lakeville Garage and stolen property to the value of $127, all of which was recovered at the time. The prisoners were later convicted of larceny, one receiving eighteen months on a suspended sentence, and the other was placed on probation.

I am greatly pleased to learn of this excellent piece of police work performed by Patrolman Moore, and I warmly commend him for the vigilance, perseverance and acumen he exhibited in making these arrests.

V. Early on the morning of January 18, 1924, two sample cases, containing jewelry, etc., to the value of over three thousand dollars, were stolen from an automobile in the rear of Childs' restaurant in Providence street. Station 16 being notified, Patrolman Frank McNabb of that division was detailed on the case and with the owner of the cases visited a number of pawnshops in the city, recovering considerable of the jewelry and obtaining a description of the person pawning them. At one of the pawnshops Patrolman McNabb saw a person whose appearance corresponded to the description of the pawnier given to him, and placing the man under arrest, the officer brought him to the station house in an automobile operated by the owner of the cases. As they alighted from the car, the prisoner twisted away from Patrolman McNabb and ran, with the officer in hot pursuit. After chasing the prisoner for some distance, Officer McNabb recaptured the thief and brought him to the station house. As he was found to be only sixteen years of age, the prisoner was complained of in the Juvenile Court and sentenced to the Industrial School for Boys at Shirley for a period of two years. A large part of the stolen goods was recovered from the room where he lodged.

I am very much pleased to learn of such excellent police work on the part of Patrolman McNabb and I heartily commend him for his vigilance, courage and perseverance as shown in apprehending this young criminal.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

BOSTON SANATORIUM.

The Jarvis Engineering Company have been granted an extension of time to July 31 for the completion of the contract for refrigeration.

BUYS FLYING HORSES.

The Mayor has approved the following request from Dr. David J. Johnson of the Institutions Department:

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—I respectfully ask permission to purchase from Alonzo Loring of 21 Rose street, Stoughton, flying horses and equipment for the sum of twelve hundred (1,200) dollars, without advertising, said amount to be charged to the Reserve Fund for the purchase and maintenance of a merry-go-round.

I feel that the city would be fortunate in securing this equipment, which has been offered at a very low figure only because the owner is obliged to discontinue the business on account of age. I ask permission to purchase without advertising so that the children will have advantage of these flying horses right away.

They are to be placed at Rainsford Island where they will afford amusement and pleasure to between twelve and fifteen thousand poor children from all parts of the city who yearly attend excursions provided from the income of the Randidge Trust Fund.

Very truly yours,

DAVID J. JOHNSON,
Commissioner.

MAYOR CURLEY WOULD SPEND $20,000,000 ON HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS.

Before 500 people in the Idle Hour Theatre at Hyannis on Tuesday evening, July 22, Mayor Curley declared that he favored spending $20,000,000 to make Boston harbor the greatest exporting center of the North Atlantic coast, "and when I am Governor, I'll do it."

The Mayor said in part:

"The manufacturer who turns raw material into the finished product has a harder problem to solve than the American producer of raw materials; the industrial productivity of America has long outrun its consumptive capacity, and today seven months of productive industry is sufficient to meet all the needs of the American domestic market; and unless he can get new and foreign markets to consume the product of the other five months, he must close down his factory and subject his workers to five months' idleness out of every twelve.

"The solution of this problem of unemployment lies in only one direction, securing foreign markets, and the only known method of getting, having and holding our share of the markets of the world is to carry our goods in American ships under the American flag, keeping the American merchant marine alive, afloat and active, and able to compete in carrying freight and passengers with every other ship of every other nation on earth.

"We pride ourselves on being able to provide transportation for all our products, natural and artificial, to every market in the republic; we provide assistance to nearly every agency of American industry in the republic out of the national treasury; and yet when we come to the sea and the shore of this country we let our surplus pile up, our mills close down and our workers stand idle in the streets because we are too stupid to finance our own American shipping to carry our goods to market and sustain American commerce.

"Without successful commerce there can be no successful and prosperous industry."

MAYOR VETOES JITNEY BUS LICENSES.

Mayor Curley sent the following to the City Council on July 18:

To the City Council.

GENTLEMEN,—I beg to return herewith, without my approval, orders adopted by the City Council granting licenses for operation of jitney buses as follows:

John F. G. Eichorn, from Copley Plaza Hotel to Worcester.

A. L. Weiner, from Copley Plaza Hotel to Providence, R. I.

Conway Tours, Inc., from Boston to Providence, R. I.

Frank J. Buckley, from Boston to Providence, R. I.

These contemplated bus lines would enter into direct competition with the railroads which now furnish an adequate service, and would undoubtedly only operate during the season of favorable weather, leaving the railroads to bear the burden at the time when operating expenses are the highest.

The prosperity of Boston and New England is dependent in a large measure upon the efficiency and prosperity of the railroads, which now contribute an amount in excess of $2,000,000 in taxes to the city, and I do not believe it wise to allow or encourage a form of competition which undoubtedly will reduce their revenue, tend to impair the value of their property and possibly result in an increase in rates for suburban service.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

BOSTON'S RIOT COMPANY OF POLICE OFFICERS REGISTER HIGH AS MARKSMEN AND SHARP-SHOOTERS—155 OUT OF 225 QUALIFY IN PRELIMINARY PRACTICE.

In General Order No. 573, issued by the Police Commissioner, the following is a list of the names of members of the riot companies of the Boston Police Department who qualified as sharpshooters and marksmen during the annual gun practice at Fort Standish in May, 1924.

Four hundred members had preliminary practice. Out of this number 225 were selected to shoot for record. Seventy qualified as sharpshooters and 85 as marksmen, making a total of 155 qualifications.

"Accompanying this general order," the order reads, "are sent to each division commander the medals to be awarded to these men by the National Rifle Association of America. Division commanders will see that they are distributed in accordance with the list. Any of the officers who are on vacation will be awarded the medal on their return to duty. Division commanders will keep the same in custody until that time."

"The commissioner wishes to congratulate the members of the riot companies who have shown proficiency in marksmanship, as it serves as an incentive for other members of the department to continue practice along these lines another year."

STRANDWAY PROJECT ALREADY PROVING ITS VALUE WITH THOUSANDS OF BOSTON CITIZENS ENJOYING RELIEF FROM HEAT IN COOLING WATERS OF BAY.

Photos by Harry Kelly.

UPPER VIEW—BATH HOUSE AND VICINITY. LOWER VIEW—STRANDWAY, OFF COLUMBIA CIRCLE.

Boston's strandway, the most magnificent and beautiful monument to the achievement of the present administration under Mayor Curley, has already proved its worth during the present hot spell, for, by the thousands, citizens and visitors have had relief from the heat by the bathing privileges here.

The bath house with its capacity for accommodating thousands has already been taxed to its capacity and more. The beach has attracted attention from tourists even from the far West and its fame is spreading to the ends of the earth. The $2,000,000 being spent is well spent, since in addition to the two hundred and sixty-five acres of reclaimed land added to the city's wealth, the walks and driveways, and the general view of the whole bay make for its increasing fame. This fame will grow as the years come until it will stand as the greatest open air space devoted to the use of all citizens provided any place in the world.

'O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

REFUSAL OF "BAY STATE ROAD" TO DO PAVING PROPERLY BLAMED FOR CHARLESTOWN TRAFFIC CONDITIONS.

DILLY-DALLYING TACTICS RELATIVE TO ESTABLISHING NEW TRACK WORK ON ONE LINE OF TRAVEL AND FAILURE TO PROPERLY GROUT JOINTS GIVEN AS CAUSE BY PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT HEAD.

The following letter has been sent to the Boston Post placing blame for traffic conditions on Chelsea street, Charlestown, on the Eastern Massachusetts Railway:

Boston, July 30, 1924.

To the Editor of the Post:

In reply to article in the Post of July 30, quoting statement from the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company officials regarding the responsibility for traffic jams on Chelsea street, Charlestown, due to the repaving of that thoroughfare, the writer did not make the statement that the street railway company had been delayed in obtaining new car rails, but that it had taken considerable time for the railway company to establish new track work on one line of travel for the entire length of roadway to be paved, which we insisted upon at the beginning in order that the entire job would be completed earlier. When this stretch of track work was completed, the paving contractor for the city proceeded to pave this track area along with its side roadway.

This department decided that Chelsea street, at the beginning of the season when Chelsea Bridge was completed, and particularly after the Telephone and Edison companies had been ordered in there for their underground work, was in such condition as to require immediate resurfacing. The longer it was delayed the more numerous the complaints that would reach this office as to the condition of for such service. Application may be made to this department for information regarding the public baths and gymnasiums maintained by the city, and with regard to municipal indoor concerts and band concerts; also information relative to Mt. Hope, Evergreen, Fairview and other public cemeteries owned by the City of Boston.

To THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE, 15 Beacon street, for information relative to the operation of the schools of the city.

To THE SCHOOLHOUSE COMMISSIONERS, Room 1007, City Hall Annex, for information as to the construction and repair of school buildings.

To THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS, Room 1001, City Hall Annex, for information regarding the licensing of persons having charge or control of the work of construction, alteration, removal or tearing down of buildings.

To THE WIRE DIVISION OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT, Fire Department Headquarters, 60 Bristol street, for all information relative to the erection of poles, the building of conduits, the installation of all overhead and underground construction and electrical apparatus, as well as for general information relative to the entire division. To Room 906, City Hall Annex, for permits for the installing of wires and electrical apparatus within buildings in the City of Boston, and for the payment of fees incident to the granting of the privileges above named, and which must be paid in advance.

the pavement; hence it was decided that although the street railway traffic might be interfered with more by starting early than by deferring it until after September 1, the greater benefit of the very large commercial traffic over the street would be accomplished by having the resurfacing done as speedily as possible.

It is impossible to resurface Chelsea street without interfering considerably with traffic, which is true of all similar work and particularly so for comparatively narrow roadways where track work must be reconstructed and car service maintained.

On a part of Chelsea street occupied by the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway tracks last year we repaved with grouted joints the entire roadway, with the exception of the space between the rails of the individual tracks which was done by the railway company which relaid the existing granite blocks on gravel base and without grout joints and which, as might be expected from this method, has been in disgraceful condition since shortly after it was placed.

His Honor the Mayor caused to be introduced into the last Legislature a bill compelling the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company to bear the cost of paving between its track rails just as the Boston Elevated is compelled to do within our city limits, and which was refused approval; and the city is now paving the entire roadway on Chelsea street, including the track area of the Eastern Massachusetts Company, at the expense of the taxpayers of the city and reducing thereby the amount of work to be done on other city streets by the cost of the track work paving in Chelsea street.

Yours very truly,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

BOSTON, OFFICIALLY AND UNOFFICIALLY, PLANS HUGE WELCOME TO AGED G. A. R. VETERANS.

LAST VISIT OF CIVIL WAR HEROES TO BE MADE MOST MEMORABLE ENTERTAINMENT OF THEIR ENTIRE LIVES.

Elaborate preparations are under way for the entertainment of the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, who are to hold their national encampment in Boston August 10 to 16, as well as of the delegates to the national encampment of the Women's Relief Corps and the National Association of Army Nurses of the Civil War, which are to meet at the same time.

Special medical attendance is to be provided at the several railroad stations and boat landings during the first two days of the week, while the delegates are arriving. Information booths also will be erected at these terminals, as well as at other points throughout the city, and on Tuesday, when the annual parade of the Grand Army will take place, relief stations will be erected at intersecting streets along the line of march.

This parade, which will be the principal public function of the week, is expected to be of far greater interest from the fact that without doubt it will be the last time such an affair will be held in Boston. Three hundred Boy Scouts have volunteered to do police duty on that day and to carry water to the veterans along the line of march.

The tentative route for the parade provides for its passage through Arlington street, from the corner of Beacon, to Boylston, to Tremont, to Temple place, to Washington, to Adams square, where it will disband.

Another function in which the public has been invited to participate will be a fireworks display on Boston Common on Friday evening, August 15. A band concert also will be held on the Parkman bandstand and speeches will be made by Mayor Curley and officers of the national convention.

On Thursday the beautiful estate of Miss Mary Bowditch Forbes on Adams street, Milton, is to be thrown open to the Civil War veterans for their inspection of a replica of the little log cabin in which Abraham Lincoln was born. This replica is complete, even to the last peg, every single detail being an exact counterpart of the original birthplace of the great emancipator. The younger members of the social set will act as guides and will assist the hostess in serving a special luncheon to the visiting veterans. The Elevated system is to furnish special cars to take the veterans to the Milton line, where automobiles driven by society girls will transport them to the Forbes estate.

Arrangements also have been completed for an old-fashioned clam bake at Plymouth, for Wednesday, August 13. Two big boats have been chartered for the occasion. This will give the delegates an opportunity to see the Massachusetts coast line, as well as the various points of historic interest at the landing place of the Pilgrims.

The events of the week will open formally at 1.30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, August 10, when the Relief Corps will hold public exercises in the Shawmut Congregational Church, Tremont and West Brookline streets. On this occasion a silk flag will be presented the Armenian Church, which holds its regular services in that edifice. Mrs. Leura Inman, national patriotic instructor, will make the presentation address. A flag also will be presented to Faneuil Boy Scouts troop No. 2 at this service.

At three o'clock the same afternoon the Grand Army will conduct a patriotic service in the Old South Church.

On Monday morning, August 11, the national officers and past national commanders and a few invited guests are to be tendered a breakfast at the Wayside Inn in Sudbury. At 5.30 o'clock that afternoon will come the tree-planting exercises on Boston Common by the Grand Army, when an avenue of trees, presented by the City of Boston in honor of the Grand Army, will be dedicated. At the close of the Grand Army ceremonies, the National Women's Relief Corps will plant and dedicate trees in memory of Lincoln, Grant, Sherman and Sheridan.

On Monday evening there will be a semi-official meeting in Symphony Hall, when greetings will be presented the Grand Army by the various allied organizations.

The annual parade of the Grand Army will take place at 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning, August 12. The first session of the Women's Relief Corps is to take place at two o'clock on that afternoon, and is to be an open meeting to which the public will be admitted. Mrs. Bell W. Bliss, national president, will read her address and greetings will be extended by the various patriotic organizations.

That same evening a public camp fire will be held in Mechanics Building, in otic addresses by distinguished speakers, charge of the Grand Army, with patrisinging and other features.

Other interesting events in which the various organizations will have a part include the joint reception to Commander Gaylord M. Saltzgeber and staff of the Grand Army, by the National Women's Relief Corps, the Sons of Veterans, Ladies of the G. A. R., Daughters of Veterans, and Sons of Veterans' Auxiliary. This is to take place on Wednesday evening at eight o'clock at the First Corps Cadets armory on Columbus avenue. A special feature is to be the "trooping of the colors" under the direction of William L. Anderson, national patriotic instructor of the Sons of Veterans.

Another reception of interest is to be given to the Grand Army and friends by the department of Massachusetts Women's Relief Corps at the Hotel Vendome on Thursday from 8.30 to 10 p. m. Mrs. E. Louis Shapleigh, department senior aid, is chairman of the committee in charge.

The old Royall House in Medford, one of the most historic houses in New England, is to be open to the delegates to the Relief Corps convention on Friday, August 15. During this reception a tree in memory of Clara Barton, the only honorary member of the Women's Relief Corps, will be planted on this historic ground.

In connection with the visit of the Grand Army veterans, the automobile committee, headed by Vice-Chairman Fred E. Bolton, is sorely in need of automobiles for parade day, as well as for the projected trip to Concord and Lexington. He will gladly accept the generosity of owners if they will notify him at Room 305, City Hall Annex, as to how many cars they may be able to provide.

URGES ATTENTION TO TRAFFIC SIGNALS TO AVOID CONGESTION.

Very few persons, whether driving a car or crossing the street on foot, know what the police whistles mean, or even the arm signals, as often practised, declares Chairman John H. L. Noyes, of the Boston Board of Street Commissioners. He has made an appeal to the public to pay strict attention to the police directions at street intersections.

"I firmly believe," said Chairman Noyes, "that if the public would take the police traffic signals as seriously as they do in New York, much of the street congestion troubles downtown, as well as the frequent accidents, would disappear."

"Every time we go to New York we are impressed with the way the police handle traffic. New Yorkers have been educated along the lines of patience and forbearance. They know what the signals mean and they obey them. Never do you see in that city either men or women dodging in and out of the traffic jams, in their haste to get from point to point."

Chairman Noyes declared that Boston's traffic arrangements can never be on such a comprehensive scale as those in New York, because of the different problems involved, but that the system now practised here has every possibility of achieving good results if the public will co-operate.

Gradually, the system has been evolved to include all parts of the city where there is the liability of traffic dangers or delays, and the traffic officers are now thoroughly schooled under the direction of Deputy Superintendent Goode and Captains Hoppe and Laffey.

One short, sharp blast of the traffic officer's whistle means that moving traffic shall stop and the pedestrians shall cross the street. Two blasts of the whistle indicate that a change is about to take place. Following the two blasts, warning hand signals are given to pedestrians to stop, followed by hand signals to traffic in opposite direction to move.

CONTRACTS AMENDED.

The C. & R. Construction Company have been allowed to amend their contract for the erection and completion of an addition to an elementary school in the Julia Ward Howe District, Dale street, Roxbury, by striking out the words and figures, "December 15, 1923," on page 24, Section 3, and substituting therefor the words and figures, "September 15, 1924," so that the beginning of the last paragraph of said Section 3, on page 24, shall read: "The work is to be commenced on or about April 15, 1924, and is to be completed on or before September 15, 1924."

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Artificial Stone Sidewalks).

Upon July 21 the Mayor approved a contract with Charles B. Darnes for the construction of artificial sidewalks. A communication from Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

BOSTON, July 21, 1924.

To the Mayor of Boston:

Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Charles B. Darnes, 8 Fort avenue, Roxbury, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; secondly, the expense of construction is divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon July 28 the Mayor approved a contract with Peter Saro for the construction of artificial sidewalks. A communication from Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

BOSTON, July 28, 1924.

To the Mayor of Boston:

Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Peter Saro, 21 Wordsworth street, East Boston, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; secondly, the expense of construction is divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

Upon July 18 the Mayor approved a contract with the M. S. Kelliher Company for repairs upon the Normal School. A communication from Thomas P. Glynn of the Schoolhouse Department was as follows:

BOSTON, July 18, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests the approval of your Honor, under the provisions of chapter 486, section 30, of the Acts of 1909, to awarding a contract, without advertising, to M. S. Kelliher Company, 21 North Munroe terrace, for repairs to the Normal School, the cost of said work to exceed the sum of one thousand (1,000) dollars.

The reason for making this request is as follows: On July 17 a fire occurred in this building, which practically gutted the chemical laboratory room on the third floor. The M. S. Kelliher Company is at present making alterations, etc., to the Normal Group under an advertised contract, and the Board considers it for the best interests of the city to have the same contractor make the repairs to this room also. The Board therefore requests the approval of your Honor to the awarding of this contract as stated.

Respectfully yours,

THOMAS P. GLYNN,
Chairman.

Upon July 23 the Mayor approved a contract with the Long Motor Sales Corporation for the purchase of two Bay State runabout cars. A communication from Thomas P. Glynn of the Schoolhouse Department was as follows:

BOSTON, June 4, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

DEAR SIR,—The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests the approval of your Honor to the purchase, without advertising, of two Bay State runabout cars, at a cost of one thousand five hundred (1,500) dollars each, delivered.

These cars are to be used by the chiefs of divisions of the department for inspection work.

The reason for requesting authority to contract, without advertising for bids, is that no advantage would result from advertising. The cars to be purchased are the type deemed most suitable for the requirements of the department, and the price is the lowest that could be obtained.

Respectfully yours,

THOMAS P. GLYNN,
Chairman.

FAMOUS DOCUMENTS OF THE AMERICAN HISTORY EXHIBITED AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Hundreds of people from all over the country visit daily the library on Copley square. With special regard for the interests of summer visitors, the library has arranged an exhibition of old books, broadside and manuscripts, illustrative of the early history of America. Documents of the history of old Boston, Massachusetts Bay, Plymouth Colony, the discoveries of Captain Smith, the Indian Wars, etc., have been put on exhibition, mainly such documents as are rare or unique. The Public Library is very rich in such manuscripts and old prints.

The letter of Columbus to Raphael Sanchez, treasurer of King Ferdinand, announcing the discovery of America, is the first item in the first show case. The copy belonging to the library is known as the Aspinwall-Barlow copy; it is of the very first impression, of which only a few are in existence.

The "Bay-Psalm Book," the first book printed in America (1640), follows next in the show case. The first edition of Eliot's "Indian Bible" is the third volume. The translation is in the dialect of the Natick Indians, and it was done entirely by Eliot, the "Apostle to the Indians." Surely, it would be difficult to find three items of "Americana" of greater interest than these three volumes. And few are the libraries which can boast of all three!

Several important new acquisitions, manuscripts and broadsides of the pre-Revolutionary and Revolutionary era, are now for the first time on exhibition. Perhaps the most interesting among these is a Minute Book of the meetings of Boston tea merchants, held on December 21 and 23, 1773, at the Royal Exchange Tavern. These meetings followed the Boston Tea Party which took place on December 16. A list of the merchants who attended the meetings is attached to the Minute Book.

Another broadside—also a new acquisition—sets forth the final preparations for an advance of the Revolutionists against Boston. "Whereas General Washington has applied for a temporary reinforcement . . . that the army investing Boston should be of strength sufficient to act offensively as well as defensively . . ." reads the document. It was printed on January 19, 1776. There are about thirty to forty other manuscripts and broadsides on exhibition relating to the early history of Boston and New England.

A row of books and maps tells of the voyages of Captain Smith. The earliest printed account of the settlement at Jamestown April 26, 1607—June 2, 1608) is to be found in a small volume written by the captain, who called himself "the Coronell of the said Collony." The book was printed in 1608 in London.

Of the books relating to Plymouth Colony, now on exhibition, a "Description of Plymouth Plantation" (London, 1624) is of special interest, as it belonged to the library of John Adams. A manuscript, written about 1667, contains the laws of the colony, then in operation.

Copies of the series of "American Tales" give the literary side of the Indian Wars. There is even a tragedy in verse (London, 1766) about no less a personage than "Poteach, the Indian Emperor" himself. The collection could not be complete, of course, without the novels of James Fennimore Cooper. An early edition of the "Pathfinder" is here, as well as "The last of the Mohicans," with the rest of these wonderful heroes who have thrilled the imagination of so many of the young in America and throughout the world.

POLICE DEPARTMENT ORDERS.

General Order No. 578.

For the information of the department, the Police Commissioner states that a flat increase of pay this year of $100 is granted to all patrolmen, to take effect Friday, August 1, 1924, thus establishing the minimum at $1,500 and the maximum at $1,900 for officers in that grade.

On August 1, 1925, a similar increase of $100 will be granted to all patrolmen, thus establishing at that time the minimum at $1,600 and the maximum at $2,000 for that grade.

The anniversary step-rate increase plan for patrolmen, now in force, shall not be disturbed by these increases, and patrolmen on their anniversaries shall receive, in addition, the usual increase of $100.

Thus, a patrolman appointed June 27, 1924, at $1,400, on August 1, next, will go to $1,500; on June 27, 1925 (his first anniversary), to $1,600; on August 1, 1925, to $1,700; on June 27, 1926 (his second anniversary), to $1,800; on June 27, 1927 (his third anniversary), to $1,900; and on June 27, 1928 (his fourth anniversary), to $2,000.

Persons who prepare the time and pay rolls should so familiarize themselves with the new $1,900 rate,—that is, how much is allowed for each day,—that there may be as few erasures on the rolls as possible.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

General Order No. 579.

The resignation of Patrolman Charles J. Ohrenberger of Division 11 having been presented, it is hereby accepted to take effect Wednesday, July 30, 1924, at 7:45 o'clock a. m. Seven days' notice waived.

The Superintendent of Police will promulgate this order.

HERBERT A. WILSON,
Commissioner.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land, for a public improvement, consisting of the laying out and construction of Richards street, Brighton district, as a highway, from Washington street northeasterly, with the name of Ramsdell street or some other distinctive name, bounded and described as follows:

A highway named Presentation road is hereby laid out, from Washington street to Bellamy street, and ordered constructed.

Said highway and the land, exclusive of trees or structures standing upon or affixed thereto, in which an easement for street purposes is hereby taken, is bounded and described as follows:

Southwest by Washington street, forty and 1-100 feet; northwest by the northeasterly line of said Presentation road as hereby laid out, eight hundred and eighty-seven feet; north by Bellamy street, forty-five and 58-100 feet; and southeast by the southeasterly line of said Presentation road as hereby laid out, nine hundred and eight feet.

Trees or structures standing upon or affixed to the aforesaid described land shall be removed therefrom within sixty days following a notice of the city's intention to enter upon said land for the purpose of constructing said improvement.

MAYOR MOVES TO AID BANKS.

The Mayor has approved the following request from the City Treasurer:

BOSTON, July 15, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston:

SIR,—The rate of interest paid on city deposits, both on sinking fund and city monies, has been 3½ per cent. Owing to the low rate of money quoted today in the market, the vast majority of the banks have objected to paying the 3½ per cent.

I respectfully ask your consent to reduce the rate to 2½ per cent starting July 15, until the money market has steadied, which is generally expected to be along the early part of November, at which time the banks will be instructed to then pay the 3½ per cent again.

Awaiting your reply, I remain,

Respectfully yours,

JOHN J. CURLEY,
City Treasurer.

DAMAGES AWARDED.

Joseph Verrochi, by Raymond P. Delano, has agreed to accept the sum of $4,260.96 as full payment for all land taken from, all rights acquired in, and all damages occasioned to his estate on Magnolia street by the taking of said estate for playground purposes under the order of the Street Commissioners of November 7, 1923.

MAYOR PROTESTS AGAINST INJUSTICE OF SUFFOLK COUNTY COST APPORTIONMENT.

SUBMITS STATEMENT TO CITY COUNCIL CALLING FOR SUPPLEMENTARY BUDGET TOTALLING $150,165.38.

Mayor Curley sent the following message to the City Council, Monday, July 28:

GENTLEMEN,—I beg to submit herewith supplementary appropriation order for the County of Suffolk departments.

In connection therewith I beg to submit certain facts relative to the injustice of the present system of apportioning of cost of administration in Suffolk county.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

STATEMENT ON SUPPLEMENTARY COUNTY BUDGET.

The largest supplementary county budget of recent years, totaling $150,165.38, will be submitted to the City Council on Monday. The various items of expense making up this document may be grouped (according to origin or cause) as follows:

Due to Acts of the General Court,	$83,000
Due to increased population at County Jail and House of Correction	39,000
Due to increased business of Courts and County Offices.....	28,000

The first item listed above represents the cost for the balance of the year of salary increases granted to jurors and county officials by the Legislature of 1924. In this connection it is interesting to note that while the Legislature is very careful to limit the expenditures of Boston, through fixing the tax limit, for strictly city purposes, it exercises no such care when fixing the expenses and salaries of county departments and officials, which must be paid by the city and enter into its tax rate.

Under the provisions of chapter 111 of the Acts of 1924 it is estimated that $75,000 additional will be required during the balance of the year for the payment of jurors in both branches of the Superior Court. This act provides for an increase of $2 per day in the pay of all jurors, together with a travel allowance of five cents per mile for each day's service as compared with the old custom of paying traveling expenses only at the beginning and end of each week's term of service. These increases mean an approximate increase of 50 per cent in the allowance of jurors. For the past three years the total spent for jurors in both the civil and criminal branches of the Superior Court has been approximately $250,000, hence this act of the Legislature will mean an additional annual expense in the future of between $100,000 and $125,000.

At the present time the population at the two county correctional institutions is approximately 50 per cent in excess of the figures of a year ago. This increase necessitates additional appropriations for food, clothing, bedding, care of dependents, additional officers and increased toilet facilities.

There seems to be no reduction in the number of cases being handled in the Superior, Municipal and District courts, hence additional monies are requested for masters' fees, temporary help, stationery and office supplies, and office furniture and equipment. The Registry of Deeds reports the greatest amount of business in the history of the office, necessitating the hiring of additional help and requiring additional appropriations for the printing and binding of records and the purchase of stationery and office supplies.

As the years go by the expense of supporting the various county departments is becoming a heavy drain on the city treasury and a powerful influence in preventing a reduction in the tax rate of the city. It is unfortunate that the Legislature cannot be made to realize this fact. During the present administration three pieces of legislation have been submitted each year for the consideration of the General Court, which if approved would have tended to relieve the burden which the City of Boston now has to bear. These proposals were as follows:

1. Apportion expenses of the county between Boston, Chelsea, Revere and Winthrop.
2. Increase fees of Registry of Deeds and other county offices rendering services for which fees are established by statute.
3. Removal from Suffolk county trial lists of all cases not originating within the county.

Total gross debt for all subways and tunnels, \$37,558,700 (incl. loans of \$1,210,000 for new Arlington Station of Boylston Street Subway, opened on November 13, 1921), against which a sinking fund of \$6,369,630 has been accumulated from the revenue, payable mostly in 40 years from date of each loan (loans since 1911 payable in 45 years), annual interest averaging 3.8 per cent. These underground ways, about 8.9 miles in all with total of 19.27 miles of single track were leased to the Boston Elevated Railway Company (which furnished the equipment) for term of 25 years (except Tremont street, 20 years) at annual rental of $4\frac{1}{2}$ to $4\frac{3}{4}$ per cent of net cost (except East Boston Tunnel which was at $\frac{1}{2}$ of one per cent of all annual gross receipts of said company). In accordance with Chapter 741, Acts of 1911, the various leases were extended to July 1, 1936, the rental to be $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent of net cost after expiration of the first-term leases.

By Chap. 185, Special Acts of 1918, the powers of the Transit Commission, whose term expired that year, were transferred to the Mayor, Commissioner of Public Works and City Treasurer, or such person or persons, not exceeding three, as the Mayor might appoint. PROCEEDINGS OF CITY COUNCIL.

Monday, July 14, 1924.

Special meeting of the City Council in the Council Chamber, City Hall, at 2 p. m., President DONOGHUE in the chair. Absent, Coun. Gilbody.

CALL FOR THE MEETING.

The Clerk read the call for the meeting, as follows:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 12, 1924.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen,—You are hereby requested to assemble in the City Council Chamber, City Hall, on Monday, July 14, 1924, at two o'clock p. m. to consider the financial orders now pending before your honorable body and such other business as may come before the meeting.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Placed on file.

SLEEPING ON THE COMMON.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 14, 1924.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen,—The ordinance relative to sleeping on Boston Common presents a real hardship during the summer season for many persons who seek the Common as the only means of escaping from intolerable conditions in tenement and flat.
The custom of apprehending, fining and imprisoning persons who violate the provisions of section 80, chapter 40, of the Revised Ordinances of 1914, entails a hardship for which a remedy should be provided at once, and I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying amendment to the ordinances.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Be it ordained by the City Council as follows:
Section 80, chapter 40, of the Revised Ordinances of 1914 is hereby amended by striking out the words "between sunset and seven o'clock in the morning," in the fifteenth and sixteenth lines, so that said section as amended shall read as follows:

"Section 80. No person shall in or upon the Common, Public Garden or other public grounds of the city, walk, stand or sit upon the grass, or upon any land planted or prepared for planting or upon a fountain, monument or statue, or a bandstand, wall, fence or other structure or within the basin of a pond otherwise than upon ice, or stand or lie upon a bench or sleep thereon, or, not being a woman or child, occupy a bench designated for the exclusive use of women and children,—except that the Mayor may from time to time by proclamation and order permit walking, standing and lying upon the grassed land of the the grassed land of any other public grounds or any designated part thereof, except the Public Garden, for such days or such parts of days as he shall specify; and he may in like manner by proclamation and order permit sleeping on such days as he shall specify, on any of the benches and any of the grassed lands of the Common or other public grounds, except the Public Garden. Nothing contained in this section or in section eighty-two of this chapter shall be held to prohibit the doing of any act in the reasonable performance of his work or employment by any person acting under the authority or direction of any board or officer in charge of any of the places described in this section."

President DONOGHUE—The matter will be referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

Coun. HEALEY—Mr. President, I move a suspension of the rule, and trust that the ordinance will put upon its passage. It seems to me a very proper ordinance.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I second the motion.

Coun. MORIARTY—Mr President, I believe if we are going to amend the ordinance with reference to the Common, it is about time we also amended it with reference to some of the other parks in the city. I understand that on the Strandway a week ago Sunday a seventeen or eighteen year old boy was arrested for playing with a rubber ball. I would like to so amend the ordinance that it should apply to all the parks of the city.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I think the suggestion made by Coun. Moriarty is a good one. Therefore I move that the matter go to the Executive Committee, and perhaps we can put it in shape there. I did not think of the point he now makes at the time when I spoke before.

President DONOGHUE—The Chair thought that somebody might be interested in knowing what the ordinance was.

Coun. WATSON—Well, Mr. President, we all make mistakes.

The message and ordinance were referred to the Executive Committee.

GASOLINE PETITIONS.

Notice was received from the Street Laying-out Department that the following petitions for storage and sale of gasoline have been received and will be heard on Monday, July 21, 1924:

Bay State Garage, Inc., 264 Main street (3), 1,000 gallons.

Boston Elevated Railway Company, O and First streets (9), 2,000 gallons.

Boston Elevated Railway Company, Washington street (22), 4,000 gallons..
Referred to the Executive Committee.

COMPENSATION OF CHARLESTOWN PROBATION OFFICERS.

A communication was received from Justice Charles S. Sullivan, of the Municipal Court of the Charlestown district, fixing the annual compensation of the probation officers of the court as follows:

Chief Probation Officer (Captain James D. Coady), $2,800.

Probation Officer (Mr. William E. Carney), $2,200.

Probation Officer for Wayward and Delinquent Children (Mrs. Ellen M. Foley), $2,200.

Such action was submitted for the approval of the Mayor and City Council of the City of Boston, acting as County Commissioners.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

BOSTONIANS LIABLE TO MILITIA ENROLLMENT.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Assessing Department, July 7, 1924.
James Donovan, Esq., City Clerk.
Dear Sir,—At a meeting of the Board of Assessors, held today, it was voted to certify to the City Clerk, under General Laws, chapter 33 of section 6, that the number of persons in the City of Boston liable to enrollment in the militia in 1924 is found to be 143, 454.

Respectfully,
BOARD OF ASSESSORS,
by JOSEPH G. O'MALLEY, Secretary.
Placed on file.

CONFIRMATION OF EXECUTIVE APPOINTMENTS.

President DONOGHUE called up the following appointments of July 7, 1924:

Samuel Goldmeier, Gadsdon W. Davis and Morris Askin, to be Constables of the City of Boston for the term ending April 30, 1925; John Gillis, to be a Weigher of Goods for the term ending April 30, 1925; Thomas Hanley, to be a Weigher of Goods and Measurer of Wood for the term ending April 30, 1925.

The question came on confirmation. Committee, Coun. Moriarty and Lane. Whole number of ballots, 8; yeas 6, nays 2, and the appointments were severally confirmed.

PAYMENT TO WIDOW OF CHARLES V. CAREY.

Coun. MORIARTY offered the following orders:

Ordered, That chapter 486 of the Acts of 1924, entitled "An Act Authorizing the City of Boston to Pay a Sum of Money to the Widow of Charles V. Carey," be and the same hereby is accepted.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 486 of the Acts of 1924 there be allowed and paid to Laura T. Carey, widow of Charles V. Carey, late a court officer in the Superior Court, the balance of the salary to which he would have been entitled had he lived and served in said capacity until December 31, 1924; said sum to be charged to the Reserve Fund.

Orders passed under suspension of the rule.

REQUESTED REMOVAL OF SCHOOL HISTORIES.

Coun. WATSON offered an order—That the School Committee be requested to remove from use in the schools all histories dealing with American past and American patriots in a manner that in any way besmirches the memory of said patriots and is detrimental to American past.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, I do not ask for a suspension of the rule, for the reason that I prefer to accomplish something with this resolution. I am going to be very brief in what I have to say because I realize that there is a great deal of business of real importance before the Council for us to consider today. But I do desire to have spread on the records of this body certain facts of which I have spoken before and certain conditions that exist in other great cities of our Commonwealth relative to the use of school histories that are not fair to the early Americans. It will be remembered by those who have a memory at all that some months ago I introduced an order very similar to this which passed this body and was referred to the School Committee and there was used as a football by the members of the School Committee; and the elimination from the schools of Boston of certain books impregnated with un-American history was refused by the School Committee by a vote of 3 to 2. I would not introduce this order today were it not for the fact that one member of the School Board, Mr. Lane, who voted in opposition to the action I desired, is not now a member of the Board. In his place another member has been elected. I believe, if the two members who voted favorably before are of the same opinion now, that the gentleman elected last fall may make a majority in favor of removing the books referred to from our schools. At the time the School Committee acted on this question they said in their report as a sort of little bit of sop to those who favored the removal of these books, in substance,—I cannot remember the exact words,—that it was decided by a majority of the committee that the books were not the proper books for the schools and that in the near future they would be eliminated. The same books are in the schools today and they are just as un-American today as they were then. I had the pleasure of talking with some high officials in New York on the Board of Education recently, and they informed me that, because of the action of such societies as the Knights of Columbus, the Elks, and other truly American fraternal organizations, the educational board of the city of New York had removed many of these books to which I have reference, together with others that I did not think were quite as bad. Certainly, Mr. President, Boston is not second to New York in the matter of history—the Boston of Faneuil Hall fame, with nearby Concord and Bunker Hill,—and certainly if the city of New York cannot permit such histories, the City of Boston should not do so. Therefore, Mr. President, imbued with the desire to fight it out until I succeed, I am endeavoring today, with the assistance of my colleagues and that of the patriotic Americans on the School Board, with the aid of other fraternal American orders whom I believe will assist me, I am trying to conclude, successfully or otherwise, our work in this direction, at least stirring up sufficient public sentiment to make our School Board become awakened so that it will listen to the people's wish. I belong to the Knights of Columbus; I belong to the Elks. I already have the backing of the Knights of Columbus, and I propose at the next meeting of the Elks to offer a resolution that they back this Council up in the action I believe we will take today in attempting to remove from the schools of Boston and from our growing Americans the British-impregnated histories written by Mr. Albert Bushnell Hart of Harvard College and other historians who lean toward British propaganda. Let us all unite in bringing about conditions that we should have here as leaders of true American thought. Mr. President, this is only the beginning as far as I am concerned. I intend to continue this contest until the School Board either does or does not remove from the schools histories that I claim are positively un-American, histories that the city of New York do not think are fit for the American mind, either adult or minor, to read. I hope that we will be able to have such histories removed from our schools. We are but starting, now. I know that my colleagues will vote unanimously in favor of this order. I know that the Mayor of the city favors it. I know that native Americans and foreign-born Americans feel as I do in regard to the matter. I believe that even the broadminded British-American citizens feel as I do. They have to, in order to feel that they are Americans. I therefore move you, Mr. President, that my order be referred to the Executive Committee and that they give a public hearing upon the order, in order that we may be able to show the School Committee that in this movement we have the support of the citizenship of Boston, regardless of race, creed or color.

The order was referred to the Executive Committee.

LEASE OF LAND, ATLANTIC AVENUE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 7, 1924.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I beg to submit for the approval of your honorable body an order drafted by the Corporation Counsel providing for the leasing of a portion of the premises now under lease to the city as a dumping place for garbage on Atlantic avenue.

It is the purpose of the lessee in the event that approval is given to this lease to erect stores on Atlantic avenue and upon the vacant land adjoining the garbage dumping station to construct a building representing an expenditure in excess of $1,000,000.

I trust the City Council in its wisdom may see fit to approve the order as here presented providing as it does a means of materially increasing the annual revenue of the city and making less objectionable one of the most unsightly structures in our city.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and hereby is authorized to execute and deliver for and in behalf of the City of Boston a lease running from said City of Boston to Henry E. Rothfield of Newton, in the County of Middlesex and Commonwealth of Massachusetts, and Henry B. Day, of said Newton, trustees of the Middlesex Trust, of a certain parcel of land situate on Atlantic avenue, Boston, in said Commonwealth, being a portion of the premises now used by the City of Boston as a dumping station for garbage, at an annual rental the equivalent in amount to 5 per cent of the total valuation of the land so leased, appraised at $10 per square foot, for such period as the adjoining premises now used by the said City of Boston as a dumping station for garbage shall continue to be so used by the said City of Boston, but the term of said lease is in no case to exceed twenty years.

Said leased premises are to consist of so much of the land fronting on Atlantic avenue and to a depth of not more than twenty feet therefrom as is not now needed by the said City of Boston for public or municipal purposes; the said trustees to have the right to build upon the leased premises a structure or building of one or more stories in height.

The aforesaid Middlesex Trust is to agree to pay taxes on the land and buildings to be erected thereon to the City of Boston at the current rates during the period of said lease and that the buildings erected thereon by the Middlesex Trust, or any other person holding under them, shall at the expiration or termination of said lease become the property of the City of Boston aforesaid.

The said lease is to contain such other restrictions and limitations, including a right of passage over and across the said leased premises from and to Atlantic avenue, as is satisfactory to the Law Department of the City of Boston, and the said lease is to be in such form as is satisfactory to said Law Department.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

LOAN FOR SEWERAGE WORKS.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 14, 1924.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—The necessity for the protection of the public from an epidemic which may at any time arise owing to lack of adequate sewerage facilities in the West Roxbury section of Boston renders it imperative that early action may be taken in the matter of appropriating sufficient funds to meet a condition too long neglected. To install a sewerage system and eliminate the privy system will represent a total cost in excess of one million dollars. There are certain streets in the West Roxbury section upon which thirty or more three-family houses have been erected, with privy cesspools directly in front of each house, and in one case in the rear of certain of these houses may be found a public playground.

The Stony brook sewer, upon which more than a million and a half dollars has already been expended, must eventually be completed at a cost fully one half as great as the amount expended up to the present time.

Replacements at the Calf Pasture pumping station will require expenditure of at least forty thousand dollars which is most urgent.

While I appreciate the demands for additional monies for Highways, Making of, I nevertheless believe that the primary obligation should be public health, and to this end I recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That under the provisions of chapter 426 of the Acts of 1897, as amended by chapter 204 of the Acts of 1908, the sum of $200,000 be and hereby is appropriated, to be expended under the direction of the Commissioner of Public Works for sewerage work, and that to meet said appropriation the City Treasurer be authorized to issue, from time to time, on the request of the Mayor, bonds or certificates of indebtedness of the city to said amount.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

TRANSFERS FOR HYDE PARK AVENUE.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 14, 1924.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I beg to submit herewith report of the Street Laying-Out Department recommending a payment of claims in connection with the widening of Hyde Park avenue.

An unexpended balance of $864.93 remains in the appropriation for the widening and construction of North Beacon street, Brighton, and the transfer of this sum to the appropriation for Hyde Park Avenue, Widening, would provide sufficient funds to cover the pending claims on the case of the Hyde Park Avenue, Widening.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

Ordered, That under authority of chapter 261 of the Acts of 1893, the City Auditor be and hereby is authorized to transfer:

From the appropriation for North Beacon street, Brighton, $864.93, to the appropriation for Hyde Park Avenue, Widening, $864.93.

City of Boston,
Street Laying-Out Department,
July 7, 1924.

Hon. James M. Curley,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—The special loan appropriation of $175,000 made for the widening of Hyde Park avenue, under the order of October 24, 1916, has been reduced to an unexpended balance of $818.52. There are four damage claims still unsettled on account of this improvement, and these amount to $1,683.45.

To allow for the settlement of the remaining Hyde Park avenue claims I would respectfully suggest that a loan order be submitted to the Council providing for the transfer of $864.93 from the special loan "North Beacon Street, Brighton," of which there is a large unexpended balance, to the special loan "Hyde Park Avenue, Widening."

Respectfully,
JOHN H. L. NOYES, Chairman.
Referred to the Executive Committee.

AMENDMENT TO ANNUAL APPROPRIATION ORDER.

A communication was received from the Business Agent under date of July 11, 1924, reporting that in the budget for the current year in the "Estimated Total Money Available 1924-25" there was included through error, the sum of $38,474.68 in the Unexpended Balance, General Appropriation, 1923-24. This latter sum was the unexpended balance of the appropriation for Pensions to Teachers 1923-24 and was available only for transfer to the Permanent Pension Fund and such transfer had been ordered by the School Committee on Feb. 4, 1924. The foregoing estimates should, therefore, be amended to read as follows:

Unexpended Balance, General Appropriation 1923-24. $372,641.32
(a reduction of $38,474.68)

Insert the following:

Unexpended Balance, Pensions to Teachers $38,474.68

As the entire estimated sum was appropriated, it becomes necessary to reduce the total appropriation by the amount of $38,474.68 and the Business Agent recommends that such reduction be made on the item "Salaries of Instructors."

Placed on file.

The following was offered:

ORDERED, That the order making appropriations to meet the current expenses of the School Committee during the financial year Feb. 1, 1924, to Jan. 31, 1925, passed by the School Committee on June 16, 1924, is hereby amended as follows:

Salaries of Instructors—Strike out the sum $9,102,316.58 and insert the sum $9,063,841.90.

YEAS—Dr. Bogan, Miss Curtis, Messrs. O'Hare, Scannell and Sullivan—5.

ing of land therefor, and for school yards and the preparing of school yards for use, and for the rent of hired school accommodations for the financial year beginning February 1, 1924; and it hereby certifies to the Board of Assessors that of this said sum no amount shall be raised by taxation as necessary to meet the expenditures to be made during the year ending January 31, 1925.

A communication was received from William T. Keough, Business Agent, under date of June 23, 1924, submitting his resignation from the office of Business Agent of the School Committee, to take effect Oct. 31, 1924.

Placed on file, the resignation accepted, to take effect on the date stated, Miss Curtis voting in the negative; and leave of absence with pay granted for the period Aug. 1 to Oct. 31, 1924.

DEATH OF A CUSTODIAN.

A communication was received from the Schoolhouse Custodian, under date of July 14, 1924, reporting the death, on July 2, 1924, of Michael H. Murphy, a custodian who had been retired on pension.

Placed on file.

CERTIFICATION OF AREAS.

A communication was received from the Schoolhouse Custodian, under date of July 14, 1924, transmitting a certification of the areas of the Ralph Waldo Emerson Schoolhouse, upon which the compensation for custodian service is based, to take effect June 20, 1924.

Placed on file, and the Chairman authorized to approve such certification, to take effect on the date stated.

APPOINTMENT OF A CUSTODIAN

A communication was received from the Schoolhouse Custodian, under date of July 14, 1924, recommending that Thomas J. Gill, custodian of the Hugh O'Brien Schoolhouse, be also appointed custodian of the Ralph Waldo Emerson Schoolhouse, to take effect June 20, 1924.

Placed on file, and the appointment approved, to take effect on the date stated.

REPORTS OF TRIAL BOARD.

A communication was received from the Trial Board, under date of June 21, 1924, to whom was referred at the meeting of June 2, 1924 (see p. 98), a communication from the Schoolhouse Custodian preferring charges against Martin W. Green, custodian, Stephen M. Weld Schoolhouse, for failing properly to clean the school building under his charge as required by the rules and regulations and failing to appear on Monday morning, May 26, in time to open the gates and building for occupancy, reporting that the Trial Board held a hearing on the matter on June 20, 1924, which was attended by the custodian concerned and by the Schoolhouse Custodian, and it appears from the evidence submitted that the custodian went out of town with a friend over the weekend, fully persuaded that he would be back in sufficient time on Sunday night to have his building cleaned and ready for occupancy on Monday morning. He missed the train on which he was scheduled to return; endeavored unsuccessfully to report his absence by telephone; and did not reach the building until about noon on Monday. There was no heat in the building and the session was not suspended.

Mr. Green has been employed as custodian for one year and the Schoolhouse Custodian reports that with the exception of the occurrence under consideration, he has been a good custodian.

FINDING—That the custodian is guilty of the charge preferred against him of failing to have the building under his charge properly cleaned and ready for occupancy on May 26, 1924.

RECOMMENDATION—That the custodian be reprimanded.

Placed on file, and the recommendation adopted.

A communication was received from the Trial Board, under date of June 21, 1924, to whom was referred at the meeting of June 16, 1924, (see p. 123), a communication from the Schoolhouse Custodian preferring charges of general neglect of duty against George J. Thornton, custodian, George Frisbie Hoar Schoolhouse, reporting that the Trial Board held a hearing on the matter on June 20, 1924, which was attended by the custodian concerned, by the Schoolhouse Custodian, and by the principal of the Norcross District.

Mr. Thornton has been employed as custodian for about eight years. Previously complaints have been made against him while he was in charge of another building.

Miss Thomas, principal of the district, complained of the work of the custodian and the condition in which he left the building, failing to turn out lights, to lock doors and windows, to have the building properly heated, to take in the flag, and to be present as required by the regulations. The complaints of the principal were supported by statements of teachers, parents of pupils, and of neighbors.

The Schoolhouse Custodian reported that he has repeatedly admonished this custodian and feels that his work is not up to the standard required; he is careless and neglectful; he is polite in making promises of amendment, but falls down steadily in keeping them. Neither does the custodian admit that he does not do all the things required of him, which shows that he has not the proper viewpoint.

FINDING—That the custodian is guilty of the charge of general neglect of duty preferred against him.

RECOMMENDATION—That the custodian be fined the sum of ten dollars ($10), to be deducted from his weekly compensation at the rate of five dollars ($5) per week, and that he be disqualified for promotion for a period of one year.

Placed on file, and the recommendation adopted.

ACCEPTANCE OF ENGLISH HIGH SCHOOL, CLASS OF 1863 FUND

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the English High School, Class of 1863 Fund, is hereby established which shall consist of the sum of five hundred dollars ($500) contributed by the Class of 1863, said fund to be held in trust by the Old Colony Trust Company, Boston; the income to be paid once each year to such graduate of said English High School as shall be designated by the head master as worthy and in need of assistance in pursuing higher education at some recognized institution of learning.

CERTIFICATION TO TEACHERS' RETIREMENT BOARD OF AMOUNT PAID FOR PENSIONS.

On motion, it was ORDERED, That the Chairman of this Board is hereby authorized, in its behalf, and in accordance with the provisions of Section 16 of Chapter 32 of the General Laws, to certify to the Teachers' Retirement Board, under oath, the amount of pensions paid by the city of Boston for the year ending July 1, 1924, to teachers who have been retired since July 1, 1914, on whose account the city of Boston is entitled to reimbursement.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

The order laid over at the meeting of June 16, 1924 (see p. 124), amending Chapter IX. of the rules, relative to the duties of the salary board, was taken up.

Mr. Sullivan moved the acceptance of the following substitute order:

ORDERED, That the rules and regulations are hereby amended as follows:

Chapter IX. Strike out the chapter, and substitute in place thereof the following:

CHAPTER IX.

Duties of officers with respect to classification and salaries of clerks and stenographers.

SECTION 140. 1. Each officer of the Board shall annually consider the classification and salaries of clerks and stenographers employed in his office, and shall recommend to the Board such changes in classification and salaries as in his opinion are expedient. These recommendations shall be in writing and shall specifically state the reasons for the changes desired, and be particularly specific if the promotion of an individual is retarded or a demotion involved. Such changes shall take effect on the first day of February or at such later date as the Board may determine, and shall continue for a period of one year. Such classification and salaries having once been established for an ensuing year shall not be changed during that year.

The motion passed.

In connection with the foregoing, Mr. Sullivan offered the following statement:

This amendment is purposed to preclude the necessity of special orders on salaries of assistants, Administrative Offices, such as were offered by me and passed by this Committee at its meeting on June 16, 1924.

The organization of this Board for effective service is very unsatisfactory. Hence my amendment to abolish it. The amendment itself embodies its own appeal and argument. Each officer should be the judge of the respective abilities of his clerks and stenographers and should make his recommendations directly to the School Committee. These recommendations should be made at the first meeting in February. If the School Committee has occasion to question such recommendations my amendment enables the members to deal directly with the responsible officer, instead of with an indifferent salary board.

The School Committee should fix the maximum salary of each class, and instruct its officers to keep their recommendations within such maxima salaries.

The passage of this amendment will eliminate in great measure individual reactions against classifications in salaries of assistants.

The statement was placed on file, and the substitute order laid over.

The order laid over at the meeting of June 23, 1924 (see p. 131), amending section 151, paragraph 5 of the regulations, relative to the term of the evening schools, was taken up and passed.

The order laid over at the meeting of June 23, 1924 (see p. 132), amending sections 154, 253, 261, 281, 290, 291, 292 and 300 of the regulations, was taken up.

The Superintendent offered the following:

That section 253, paragraph 1; section 281, paragraph 1; and section 290, paragraph 6, as presented at the previous meeting be further amended to read as follows:

Sect. 253. 1. The librarian and the secretary of The Teachers College of the City of Boston shall be required to be on duty from 8.30 o'clock A. M. to 4.30 o'clock P. M., with one hour intermission for luncheon, on all regular school days during the year; on all other days throughout the calendar year on which courses for teachers are conducted; and on such other days as the principal may direct.

Sect. 281. 1. Teachers in day elementary schools shall consist of one principal holding the rank of master for each district; sub-masters in charge; masters' assistants in charge; sub-masters; masters' assistants; assistants; masters' assistants, special classes; assistants, special classes; assistant in charge of speech improvement classes; assistants, speech improvement classes; assistant in charge of classes for conservation of eyesight; assistants, classes for conservation of eyesight; masters' assistants, prevocational classes; and prevocational assistants.

Extension Classes.

Sect. 290. 6. In the Trade School for Girls, extension classes, assistants in charge; assistants; and second assistants may be appointed.

The amendments to the original orders amending the rules and regulations, as presented at the meeting of June 23, 1924, were accepted, and the order as amended was passed.

The order laid over at the meeting of June 23, 1924 (see p. 142), amending section 125, paragraph 1 of the rules, relative to the membership of the Board of Apportionment, was taken up.

In connection with the foregoing, Mr. Sullivan offered the following statement:

The Board of Apportionment as at present constituted consists of the Superintendent, two Assistant Superintendents and the Business Agent. My proposed amendment would increase the membership of this Board to include all Assistant Superintendents when salary schedules and important budgetary matters are presented for consideration and deliberation.

When we realize that the School Committee in 1923 expended in salaries the impressive sum of $8,393,835.85, and when we recall the recent furor attendant upon salary adjustments, the vital import of salary schedules is evident.

It is my belief that the School Committee would be in a better and stronger position to pass on proposed salary changes when such have been considered and determined for reference by the Superintendent, Business Agent and all the Assistant Superintendents.

Criticism of that part of my amendment which reads "important budgetary matters affecting the school system" is offered for the alleged reason that there would be no authoritative definition of what "important budgetary matters" are. This objection is immaterial and must fall, because my amendment in respect to "important budgetary matters" presumes the proper exercise of discretion by the Superintendent and places the responsibility for such in him.

This amendment is proposed in no spirit of hostility, but rather in the interests of effective organization and sound progressive administration.

The statement was placed on file, and the order passed by the following vote:

YEAS—Messrs. O'Hare, Scannell and Sullivan—3.

NAYS—Dr. Bogan and Miss Curtis—2.

Mr. O'Hare offered the following:

That section 125, paragraph 1 of the rules be further amended by adding the following at the close of the paragraph:—In case of a tie vote in any matter considered by the board of apportionment, the chairman of said board shall report impartially the facts in the case involved to the Board.

Laid over.

The order laid over at the meeting of June 23, 1924 (see p. 142), amending section 85, paragraph 1 of rules, relative to the period of validity of certificates of qualification, was taken up and passed.

The order laid over at the meeting of June 23, 1924 (see p. 143), establishing the rank and salary of Louise Kane and Helena W. McMahon, employed in the administrative offices of the Board, was taken up and passed.

The order laid over at the meeting of June 23, 1924 (see p. 143), establishing the salaries of ten assistants employed in the administrative offices, was taken up.

On motion of Mr. O'Hare, the order was amended by inserting the name of Frances Kenealy in Class A group, compensation to be at the rate of $35 per week.

Question came on the passage of the order, as amended, and the order failed of passage by the following vote:

YEAS—Messrs. O'Hare and Sullivan—2.

NAYS—Dr. Bogan, Miss Curtis and Dr. Scannell—3.

The four orders laid over at the meeting of June 23, 1924 (see p. 133), making changes in certain ranks, were taken up and passed.

The order laid over at the meeting of June 23, 1924 (see p. 143), relative to the establishment of September 1 as the anniversary of newly appointed teachers, was taken up.

A roll call being requested, the order failed of passage by the following vote:

YEAS—Mr. O'Hare—1.

NAYS — Dr. Bogan, Miss Curtis, Messrs. Scannell and Sullivan—4.

The order laid over at the meeting of June 23, 1924 (see p. 143), relative to the establishment of September 1 as the anniversary of those teachers who were on the ten-payment plan, was taken up.

The order was lost.

The petition from the Class of 1923, Normal School, relative to deductions from salaries during the first year of service, laid over at the meeting of Jan. 28, 1924 (see p. 241), was taken up, and placed on file.

The communication from the Boston Elementary Teachers' Club, laid over at the meeting of April 7, 1924 (see p. 58), relative to computation of salaries in change from the ten-payment to the twelve-payment plan, was taken up and placed on file.

The Superintendent offered the following:

That Marion B. Foster, assistant, Washington Irving Intermediate District, be granted leave of absence on half pay for the school year 1924-25.

In connection with the foregoing, Mr. Sullivan offered the following:

I deplore the Committee's extravagant leniency to a deliberate discrimination and I refuse to join in it.

This teacher is alleged to have made rank racial and religious references. In a fair trial lasting several hours, with her attorney present, specific allegations were made and sustained by competent witnesses. She, herself, was her own worst witness. To the charge that she had ridiculed and slandered a great race that has struggled and suffered for centuries in the cause of liberty and a great Church that has carried on for centuries for human-kind, her only answer was a plea of ignorance.

It is not my present purpose to enumerate lest by repetition I aggravate the scandal already accomplished. Just one glimpse into this admitted ignorance which is as assumed and feigned as it is appalling.

A teacher for eleven years! Yet she has never heard of the Spanish Inquisition to which she is alleged to have made slurring reference and remark.

An educated woman! Yet she denied all knowledge of Martin Luther whom, as is alleged, she eulogized and proclaimed as the greatest figure in history, though she admitted teaching Luther's Christmas carol in class.

Her definite Nordic mania was well established in the trial.

To all this and more, this teacher has offered no adequate answer.

No defence. No justification. No extenuation. Such is the situation. I say there is no room in our public schools for any propaganda conceived in bigotry, prejudice, malice and ignorance. A substantial suspension is the only sanction that can adequately express and safeguard this primary American principle.

The statement was placed on file, and the motion was lost by the following vote:

YEAS—Dr. Bogan and Miss Curtis—2.

NAYS—Messrs. O'Hare and Sullivan—2.

NOT VOTING—Dr. Scannell—1.

The following was offered:

That Marion B. Foster, assistant, Washington Irving Intermediate District, be suspended from service with loss of pay for a period of five months, namely, September, 1924, to January, 1925, inclusive.

The motion was lost by the following vote:

YEAS—Messrs. O'Hare and Sullivan—2.

NAYS—Dr. Bogan and Miss Curtis—2.

NOT VOTING—Dr. Scannell—1.

The following was offered:

That Marion B. Foster, assistant, Washington Irving Intermediate District, be removed from tenure, and that she be directed to take leave of absence on half pay for study for the school year 1924-25, and at the conclusion of such year's leave that she be transferred to some other district.

The question came on the passage of the motion, and the motion was lost by the following vote:

YEAS—Dr. Bogan and Mr. O'Hare—2.

NAYS—Miss Curtis and Mr. Sullivan—2.

NOT VOTING—Dr. Scannell—1.

Mr. Sullivan asked to be recorded as opposed to the granting of leave for study, believing the order as presented does not adequately express the purpose of the Board.

The following was offered:

That Marion B. Foster, assistant, Washington Irving Intermediate District, be removed from tenure, and that she be directed to take leave of absence on half pay for the school year 1924-25, and at the conclusion of such year's leave that she be transferred to some other district.

Passed by the following vote:

YEAS—Dr. Bogan, Messrs. O'Hare and Sullivan—3.

NAYS—Miss Curtis—1.

NOT VOTING—Dr. Scannell.

There are also within the City limits 964 acres of Metropolitan parks and parkways under State control, chief of which is Stony Brook Reservation in West Roxbury, containing 464 acres of wild forested hill and dale with many rocky knolls

AREA OF BOSTON.

Area to ward lines (26 wards), 30,598 acres (i. e., 47.81 square miles), 2,944 acres being filled land, 1,143 acres water area and 1,484 acres flats. Land area only 27,971 acres (i. e., 43.70 square miles). Included in the latter are 154 acres of filled flats added to the land area of South Boston in 1919 and 1920 and 133 acres to that of East Boston. Original Boston contained about 780 acres of land. Of the twelve leading American cities, eight are larger in land area than Boston, viz., Los Angeles (365.7 sq. miles), New York (318), Chicago (199.4), Philadelphia (129), Baltimore (91.9), Detroit (80), Cleveland (56.6) and St. Louis (61.25). The only city in Massachusetts with larger land area is Taunton (50 sq. mi.).

If Boston should expand by annexations as New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and others have expanded, its total area, in case of including the 39 cities and towns within the 15-mile radius, would exceed the largest, viz., Los Angeles, the present land area of "Greater Boston" being 409.5 square miles.

AREA OF UNITED STATES, NEW ENGLAND, ETC.

Total of the 48 states in square miles, 3,026,719; Alaska, 590,884; making grand total of 3,617,603 sq. m. or 42.11 per cent of continent of North America and 6.32 per cent of the earth's land area. The six states of New England, 66,424 sq. m., i. e., Maine, 33,040; Vermont, 9,564; N. H., 9,341; Mass., 8,266; Conn., 4,965; R. I., 1,248. Land area of New England, 61,976 sq. m.; of Mass., 8,093 sq. m.

Total area of U. S. (inclu. Alaska) 112,000 sq. miles less than total of Canadian provinces, but total population is over 12 times as many.

NEW CHELSEA SOUTH BRIDGE WORKING PERFECTLY AND PROVING BOON TO BOSTON-NORTH SHORE TRAFFIC VIA CHARLESTOWN.

STRUCTURE IS 365 FEET LONG AND 61 FEET WIDE—OPERATED BY ELECTRICITY IT IS ONE OF THE MOST PERFECT BRIDGES IN NEW ENGLAND.

NEW CHELSEA SOUTH BRIDGE ALREADY ADDING VALUE TO CHARLESTOWN AND ADMINISTRATION IS BEING PRAISED FOR COMPLETION..

When the paving along Chelsea street in Charlestown has been completed, with the new Chelsea Bridge over the South Channel, Mystic river, in use, Boston citizens may well take pride in the traffic artery leading to the North Shore. The new bridge is working well and is a decided improvement over the one it replaces and the temporary bridge which has been in use for a number of years.

The length of the new bridge is 365 feet and the width is 61 feet. The bridge consists of a steel superstructure with a concrete floor slab and granite block paving, resting on masonry piers. The draw span is of the bascule type, composed of four leaves opening up on trunnions and provides for a channel 75 feet wide as against the existing width of 48 feet. This width of 75 feet is sufficient to take care of the largest naval colliers now built.

The channel depth is dredged to 25 feet instead of the existing depth of 22 feet and the piers are carried to such a depth (one of the channel piers being carried to 45 feet below low water) that the channel may be ultimately dredged to 35 feet at mean low water.

The draw span has a wood block surface and the leaves are operated by electricity. A type of roadway gate new to this section of the country is provided. It is a yielding barrier and is designed to allow an impact of an ordinary touring car going at 30 miles an hour and provides for stopping the car in a distance of about 17 or 18 feet without undue jar. In connection with the gates, electrically operated warning bells and warning lights are installed. The gates and drawbridge are so interlocked that the drawbridge cannot be opened until the gates are lowered in position.

There were about 20,000 cubic yards of dredging required for the new bridge; about 4,000 cubic yards of concrete; about 450 cubic yards of granite masonry and about 1,000 tons of steel. The contract price was approximately $521,000.

MAYOR CURLEY REFUSES TO INVOLVE CITY IN HARVARD BRIDGE RECONSTRUCTION MATTER—ADHERES TO HIS ORIGINAL DECISION.

Mayor Curley sent the following communication August 7:

MR. JAMES A. BAILEY, Chairman, Metropolitan District Commission, State House, Boston, Mass.

MY DEAR MR. BAILEY,—I beg to acknowledge receipt this day of communication with copy of opinion submitted by the Attorney General of the Commonwealth in the matter of repairs to Harvard Bridge.

Replying thereto, I beg to state that at no time have the officials in charge of highways of the City of Boston been consulted with reference to the proposed improvements. The specifications were drafted and the contract was awarded without consultation by your commission with either the officials of the City of Boston or the Boston and Cambridge Bridge Commission.

Under the circumstances, notwithstanding the opinion of the Attorney General, I have instructed the Public Works Commissioner of the City of Boston to disregard the ruling of the Attorney General and now desire to serve notice on the Metropolitan District Commission, through you as chairman, that the City of Boston proposes to adhere to its original position.

So far as the City of Boston is concerned, I believe that the entire responsibility for reconstruction and safeguarding of the bridge rests with the Metropolitan District Commission, who, by legislative act, are charged with the work. You are at liberty, therefore, to either provide the necessary protection or close the bridge, so far as the City of Boston is concerned.

Respectfully yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

O Boston, fair City enthroned like a radiant queen,
From thy hills looking down on the ship-teeming plain of the ocean,
May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,
Ensured by thy sons' and thy daughters' unselfish devotion!"

NATHAN HASKELL DOLE.]

MAYOR APPEALS FOR NAVY FLOTILLA TO HONOR G. A. R. DURING CONVENTION.

The Mayor sent the following telegram August 7:

HON. CURTIS D. WILBUR, Secretary of the Navy, Washington, D. C.

The Fifty-eighth National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will assemble in Boston on Monday, August 11, and will be featured by notable ceremonies. I regret to advise that we have no appropriate representation of the United States Navy for the Encampment although the veterans of the Kearsage and Alabama Battle will be present beside many other notable visitors.

Can you not immediately assign torpedo boat destroyers and submarines to report at Boston Navy Yard in honor of the veterans as this will be the last opportunity Boston will ever have to welcome them. Wednesday, the 13th instant, has been set aside as Navy Day, when Admiral deSteigner and other naval officers will honor the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic.

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

THANKS MAYOR HYLAN FOR INVITATION TO JOIN NEW YORK OLYMPIC TEAM RECEPTION.

Mayor Curley received a very kind invitation from Hon. John F. Hylan, Mayor of New York, to serve on the committee of reception to the victorious American Olympic Team, who returned on the S. S. "America," and who were met at the quarantine station in New York Harbor by a distinguished national committee, who were infor such service. Application may be made to this department for information regarding the public baths and gymnasiums maintained by the city, and with regard to municipal indoor concerts and band concerts; also information relative to Mt. Hope, Evergreen, Fairview and other public cemeteries owned by the City of Boston.

To THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE, 15 Beacon street, for information relative to the operation of the schools of the city.

To THE SCHOOLHOUSE COMMISSIONERS, Room 1007, City Hall Annex, for information as to the construction and repair of school buildings.

To THE BOARD OF EXAMINERS, Room 1001, City Hall Annex, for information regarding the licensing of persons having charge or control of the work of construction, alteration, removal or tearing down of buildings.

To THE WIRE DIVISION OF THE FIRE DEPARTMENT, Fire Department Headquarters, 60 Bristol street, for all information relative to the erection of poles, the building of conduits, the installation of all overhead and underground construction and electrical apparatus, as well as for general information relative to the entire division. To Room 906, City Hall Annex, for permits for the installing of wires and electrical apparatus within buildings in the City of Boston, and for the payment of fees incident to the granting of the privileges above named, and which must be paid in advance.

vited to greet the victors upon their arrival, by Mayor Hylan.

A municipal steamer of the City of New York was to convey the committee, first, to quarantine to greet the athletes, and then to Pier A, New York City, where a large delegation, representing the various athletic activities of the United States, greeted the American Olympic Team, and, under escort, proceeded to City Hall where a reception was tendered and medals presented the winning athletes.

Mayor Curley, by reason of the pressure of service incident to the 58th National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic was unable to visit New York and telegraphed Mayor Hylan as follows:

HON. JOHN F. HYLAN,
Mayor of New York,
New York, N. Y.

Absent from city when your kind invitation to serve on the reception committee for the returning victorious American Olympic Team was delivered. Greatly regret that the pressure of service incident to the forthcoming fifty-eighth National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic precludes my acceptance. Kindly express to the victors returning from the most notable triumph in the international history of athletics my hearty congratulation and every good and sincere wish for their mutual happiness and welfare.

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

MAYOR TELLS ORGANIZED LABOR TO BATTLE ON FOR NATIONAL CHILD LABOR LAW AND OLD AGE PENSION.

WELCOMES STATE BRANCH OF A. F. OF L. TO BOSTON FOR CONVENTION AND POINTS WITH PRIDE TO ACHIEVEMENTS OF ORGANIZATION FOR BENEFIT OF TOILERS OF COUNTRY.

I want to say it is a very great pleasure, as Mayor of Boston, to come here to extend the hospitality of the city to this splendid organization whose existence means so much to every single individual in our own Commonwealth and whose existence nationally means so much to every individual in the entire country. I trust that your deliberations may be useful and beneficial, not only to your organization, but your fellow men; that it may be conducted wisely and harmoniously, so that on the adjournment of the convention it may be possible, as it has been by every convention held by this organization, to write in large letters real progress.

I want to say personally it is a source of pleasure to come here and congratulate organized labor on the real worthwhile achievements that have been made through its existence in this country of ours.

I want to say that we have many institutions in our city in which we take pride, for there is no city in our section of the world that is comparable in its institutions to our own City of Boston, and when we desire something to conjure with, we always conjure with the traditions that speak of Bunker Hill, the old North Church, Faneuil Hall and the scene of the Boston Massacre; but when in our day we desire to point to some monument that attests the progress of the material and moral welfare of the people, we point to this institution here,—organized labor,—a monument to the unity, solidarity, prosperity and progress that man has made through the instrumentality of organized labor in this nation of ours.

I rejoice in every single bit of progress that labor has made, for I realize that it may be traced to organizations such as yours. It is true that in America all men enjoy the same measure of equality under our laws, and each and every individual enjoys equal power in the matter of the selection of public officials who make the laws; but without an organized movement in all probability we would have been required to wait for half a century longer before the worker in America would have enjoyed the blessings and advantages that are his today in larger measure through the American Federation of Labor than any or all other agencies combined. Sometimes I feel a little bit disheartened about the lack of speedy progress in America; yet, after all, it has been constant, steady progress. We have evolved from the serfdom of the twelve-hour day to the eight-hour day; and neither of the political parties dominant in the nation are responsible for their realization. Organized labor is responsible; it has kept up the fight and made it single-handed from the beginning. The adoption of the Workingmen's Compensation Act cannot be credited to either one of the political parties. It was the force of organized labor that compelled the adoption of this humane legislation that gave to the women and the children the protection long denied in this nation of ours. It is inconceivable that we, who call this state progressive, waited in this state until 1913 before adopting the Mothers' Aid Act; but we would have been required to wait for half a century longer if it were not for the fight of organized labor, standing in the forefront, the only organization that did the work neglected by every other organization in America, the American Federation of Labor. When the Child Labor Law in America becomes a reality, as it must and will become, no organization will have a larger share in the honors of that victory than the American Federation of Labor. What is true of the protection of the child, is equally true of the protection of the worker, broken down in industry, and as I want to see that your child labor law becomes a reality, so I want to see an old age pension act adopted in America.

Some things have come out of the World War. First, the emancipation of the mind of the Negro; the old serf mind remained even if the Civil War had freed the body; but the opportunity for an enlarged perspective, the opportunity for association with men, the opportunity for travel, freed the Negro mind as the Civil War freed the body. The migration of more than two million Negroes north since the close of the World War means a progress made that is reflected even in our own city, and every other city, through the purchase by Negroes in Boston of more than a million dollars in realty in the last five months. They do not burn Negroes at the stake any longer in the South, and they do not lynch them. They are discovering they are an economic necessity and unless treated as human beings they migrate to some section of the country where they receive the treatment that American citizens are entitled to enjoy. The freedom of the Negro's mind and the stabilization of the saving wage that came out of the World War, were, in my opinion, two major achievements as far as mankind is concerned.

We have been very insistent in Boston to preserve and stabilize the saving wage through increasing the salaries this year of nearly ten thousand persons in the employ of the City of Boston. Stabilizing that saving wage means that you cannot go back again; and we should not go back, because the improved health of the nation, in my mind, can be traced to the better wage standard as the new method of combatting disease, the economic method of combatting disease, by giving the worker sufficient money to buy the necessary nourishing food and the necessary warm clothing to protect the health of the family. That came out of the World War and must be preserved. There are agencies that would destroy it. We find these agencies active, even in our Commonwealth.

With the shoe industry in a condition of depression, within the last year we find the President of the United States approving a measure calling for an expenditure of $26,000,000 for the establishment of a shoe manufacturing plant at the Leavenworth Prison, to put the labor of the convicts in competition with the labor of free men in America. We find mills closed down in the towns of New England, shut down for a long period of time and we find contracts awarded to firms in England for the manufacture of cotton cloth for the men in the army and the navy; and in our own Commonwealth, with a short-sighted policy of economy we find a recommendation for the establishment of a printing plant at Charlestown State Prison. I do not know just what that printing plant will cost but I am inclined to believe I will wreck it about the second week in January if installed.

So in all these fights for humane legislation, we find agencies that are helpful, agencies that are broad of vision, agencies that consider something of the present day and beyond their own personal welfare on the one hand, and other agencies whose vision is restricted, whose perspective is limited and who see only their own personal welfare and the accumulation of the almighty dollar regardless of the happiness or welfare of their fellow man. Every thoughtful citizen interested in our common country and in the progress and advancement of the human family can do nothing other than wish every success for the American Federation of Labor.

Mayor Curley, who had received an invitation to attend the notification exercises of the Hon. John W. Davis has sent the following reply:

MR. SAMUEL R. BENTLEY, Chairman, Clarksburg Chamber of Commerce, Clarksburg, W. Va.

MY DEAR MR. BENTLEY,—I am in receipt of your courteous invitation to be present in Clarksburg, W. Va., when the Hon. John W. Davis is formally notified of his nomination by the Democratic party as its candidate for the Presidency of the United States.

I regret very much that I cannot be present at that interesting ceremony; but as the 58th Annual Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will be in progress on that date and the veterans are the guests of the City of Boston, the duties of official hospitality will preclude me from honoring the candidate of our party and deprive me of the pleasure of offering my personal congratulations to one who became a member of Congress on the same day I did, April 11, 1911.

I desire to say that I hold Mr. Davis in high esteem. I have a deep respect for his character and a warm admiration for his talent, ability and devotion to public duty; and I am of the opinion that his patriotism, courage, sincerity and knowledge of the temper and needs of the country will commend him to Americans of all shades of political opinion and ensure his election in November.

Thanking you for your courtesy and trusting that you will convey my good wishes for his success to my honored friend and our distinguished candidate, I remain,

Very sincerely yours,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

PRAISES BOSTON PUBLIC GOLF LINKS.

Mayor Curley has received communications highly indorsing his interest in the recent New England Public Golf Tournament held at Franklin Park, from D. S. MacCallum, secretary and treasurer of the New England Public Golf Association, Hartford, Conn., and Thomas P. Varley, secretary of the Scarsboro Golf Club, as follows:

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—In behalf of the New England Public Golf Association I wish to thank you for the splendid time you provided for the visiting golfers from Hartford, Worcester and Bridgeport, as well as the local Boston golfers. You have a wonderful golf course at Franklin Park and we were afforded every courtesy possible by the attendants at the park.

Thanking you again for your interest in public golf.

Yours sincerely,

D. S. MACCALLUM.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—The New England Public Golf Tournament which was held at Franklin Park on Saturday, August 2, was a most successful event, and we wish to thank you very much for making this event such a good time for all who took part.

First of all we wish to thank you for giving us the use of the golf links for that day, then we wish to thank you for your very nice lunch which was served on the roof of the locker building and then we wish to thank you and the Park Department for the souvenir medals which each player received.

It might interest you to know that the full list of 100 players took part in the tournament and we had about 140 at lunch. I hear much favorable comment on the condition of the links and the reception we gave the visiting boys, and you may be sure they will all be glad to come to Boston again.

We had one motor cycle officer on duty that day and the way in which he took care of the crowd on the golf course was a treat for all the visiting boys; they had never seen a course that was so free from outside interference.

Again thanking you for this and all the past favors that you have given us golfers at Franklin Park, I beg to remain,

Yours truly,

THOMAS P. VARLEY,
Secretary.

LABOR REPORT FOR JULY.

The figures for the month of July show that business at the Massachusetts Public Employment Office at 23 Pearl street declined as compared with the preceding month, likewise when compared with July, 1923.

There was a decrease of 19 per cent in the number of employers' orders as compared with June and a decrease of 28 per cent when compared with July, 1923. The number of people wanted decreased proportionately, 21 per cent less than June and 27 per cent less than July, 1923. The number of placements made was 28 per cent lower than June and 16 per cent lower than July, 1923. The number of applicants showed but a slight change, minus 988, or 40 per cent, as compared with June, 1924, and plus 1,464, or 7 per cent, as compared with July, 1923.

The number of service men applying for positions decreased 186, or 13 per cent, as compared with June and shows a slight increase over July of 1923, plus 338, or 4 per cent. The number of positions offered these men was minus 8, or 4 per cent, compared with June and plus 64, or 56 per cent compared with July, 1923. There was a decrease of 24, or 14 per cent, in the number of service men placed as compared with June, but an increase of 50, or 54 per cent, as compared with July, 1923.

In the men's skilled department a major portion of the orders were for building tradesmen, such as plumbers, painters, paperhangers, carpenters, masons and plasterers. The demand for painters was comparatively light and there was a good supply available throughout the month. The printing trade was the only other line to show any consistent activity. Compositors, pressmen and feeders were called for and the supply was ample. There was little or no demand from the metal trades and but few orders for engineers and firemen. A few rubber factories hired some general factory lumpers.

Heavy laborers, milking farmers and culinary workers comprised the demand in the men's unskilled department. The supply was sufficient, excepting for the milking farmers.

Boys were very plentiful as is usual at this season, but there were few orders received.

In the women's skilled department the orders were for waitresses, chamber maids and a few stitchers and general factory workers.

These orders were readily filled.

Housework girls, day workers, cooks, kitchen and laundry help made up the business in the women's unskilled department. With the exception of housework girls, the supply was quite sufficient to care for the orders received.

The number of people called for by employers was 1,089 as compared with 1,498 in 1923; 1,383 in 1922; 1,147 in 1921; 2,016 in 1920; 2,145 in 1919.

The number of positions reported filled was 861 as compared with 1,010 in 1923; 936 in 1922; 894 in 1921; 1,285 in 1920; 1,672 in 1919.

AUTHORITY TO DO WORK.

The Mayor has approved the request of the Public Works Department for authority to repair macadam roadway in Bourne street, West Roxbury, from Pelton street to Catherine street, with division force, without advertisement, the estimated cost for labor and material being $3,000.

BOSTON TO TAKE OVER BABY
HYGIENE ACTIVITIES.COMMUNITY HEALTH ASSOCIATION, PERFORMING NOTABLE AND AP-PRECIATIVE CHARITY WORK IN NEED OF AID.

The Community Health Association of Boston, which has been conducting district nursing, baby hygiene, mental hygiene, prenatal and preschool work during the past thirty-eight years, have submitted a request in effect that the City of Boston through its Health Department conduct the baby hygiene activities after September 1, 1924, in Charlestown, East Boston, North End, South End and West End Districts.

This work, which has been conducted by the Community Health Association for upwards of a quarter of a century and which has been such a contributing factor to the conservation of the health of the public generally, has been supported by voluntary contributions which of late have not been received in the volume anticipated and as a consequence the submission of the request.

The annual cost of conducting baby hygiene activities in the five districts enumerated, namely, Charlestown, East Boston, North End, South End and West End Districts, is approximately $5,000 annually but in view of the fact that it is customary in some of the other American cities for municipalities to conduct these activities the city gladly assumes the expenditure entailed for the conduct of these activities and after September 1 the baby hygiene activities in the districts, Charlestown, East Boston, North End, South End and West End, will be conducted under the direction of the Boston Board of Health.

His Honor the Mayor expresses the sincere appreciation of the people of Boston for the painstaking and unselfish character of service rendered by the Community Health Association and more particularly to the officials in charge who have been both self-sacrificing and hard-working:

President, Mr. William Arthur Dupee.
Vice Presidents: Mrs. Robert L. De-
Normandie, Mr. Malcolm Donald.
Secretary, Mrs. Morton F. Prince.
Treasurer, Mr. Ingersoll Bowdoitch.
General Director, Mary Beard, R. N.
Director Nursing, Florence Pattenson,
R. N.
Medical Director, Director Child Hygiene, Robert D. Curtis, M. D.
Director Vital Statistics, Mac Chapin,

MAYOR DEMANDS COURTESY FOR PUBLIC BY ALL CITY EMPLOYEES.

Mayor Curley has issued the following circular letter to heads of departments:

To the Heads of Departments:

From complaints received and other sources of information I have come to the conclusion that there is considerable room for improvement in the attitude of the employees of certain of the departments in dealing with the public.

I desire you to impress on the various employees of your department who meet the people doing business with the city that they are the servants of the citizens and not autocrats or czars, and if they are obliged by some provision of law to disapprove an application or refuse a privilege it should be done in a courteous and gentlemanly manner and with a reasonably full statement of the cause for the disapproval.

Every reasonable request of a citizen for a right or privilege that can be granted should be granted speedily and cheerfully and not grudgingly or churlishly, and where a doubtful question is involved it should be decided in favor of the citizen if possible.

It is apparent that some city employees conceive it is their office to find reasons why legitimate rights should not be granted to the public and to raise hair-splitting technicalities and unnecessary obstacles, and this attitude wherever it exists must be speedily corrected or I will correct it in a drastic manner.

This criticism is not as yet directed to any particular employee or employees or department, and does not apply to those employees who have a proper conception of their duty.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

VETO, JITNEY LICENSES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 18, 1924.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I beg to return herewith, without my approval, orders adopted by the City Council granting licenses for operation of jitney busses as follows:

John F. G. Eichorn, from Copley Plaza Plaza Hotel to Worcester.

A. L. Weiner, from Copley Plaza to Providence.

Conway Tours, Inc., from Boston to Providence, R. I.

Frank J. Buckley, from Boston to Providence, R. I.

These contemplated bus lines would enter into direct competition with the railroads which now furnish an adequate service, and would undoubtedly only operate during the season of favorable weather, leaving the railroads to bear the burden at the time when operating expenses are the highest.

The prosperity of Boston and New England is dependent in a large measure upon the efficiency and prosperity of the railroads, which now contribute an amount in excess of $2,000,000 in taxes to the city, and I do not believe it wise to allow or encourage a form of competition which undoubtedly will reduce their revenue, tend to impair the value of their property, and possibly result in an increase in rates for suburban service.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.
Placed on file.

COUNTY APPROPRIATION ORDER.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 28, 1924.
To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I beg to submit herewith supplementary appropriation order for the County of Suffolk departments.

In connection herewith I beg to present certain facts relative to the injustice of the present system of apportioning of cost of administration in Suffolk County.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

STATEMENT ON SUPPLEMENTARY COUNTY BUDGET.

The largest supplementary county budget of recent years, totaling $150,165.38 will be submitted to the City Council on Monday. The various items of expense making up this document may be grouped (according to origin or cause) as follows:

Due to Acts of the General Court..... $83,000
Due to increased population at County Jail and House of Correction..... 39,000
Due to increased business of courts and county offices 28,000

The first item listed above represents the cost for the balance of the year of salary increases granted to jurors and county officials by the Legislature of 1924. In this connection it is interesting to note that while the Legislature is very careful to limit the expenditures of Boston, through fixing the tax limit for strictly city purposes, it exercises no such care when fixing the expenses and salaries of county departments and officials, which must be paid by the city and enter into its tax rate.

Under the provisions of chapter 111 of the Acts of 1924 it is estimated that $75,000 additional will be required during the balance of the year for the payment of jurors in both branches of the Superior Court. This act provides for an increase of $2 per day in the pay of all jurors, together with a travel allowance of 5 cents per mile for each day's service as compared with the old custom of paying traveling expenses only at the beginning and end of each week's term of service. These increases mean an approximate increase of 50 per cent in the allowance of jurors. For the past three years the total spent for jurors in both the civil and criminal branches of the Superior Court has been approximately $250,000, hence this act of the Legislature will mean an additional annual expense in the future of between $100,000 and $125,000.

At the present time the population at the two county correctional institutions is approximately 50 per cent in excess of the figures of a year ago. This increase necessitates additional appropriations for food, clothing, bedding, care of dependents, additional officers and increased toilet facilities.

There seems to be no reduction in the number of cases being handled in the Superior, Municipal and District courts, hence additional monies are requested for masters' fees, temporary help, stationery and office supplies, and office furniture and equipment. The Registry of Deeds reports the greatest amount of business in the history of the office necessitating the hiring of additional help and requiring additional appropriations for the printing and binding of records and the purchase of stationery and office supplies.

As the years go by the expense of supporting the various county departments is becoming ing a heavy drain on the city treasury and a powerful influence in preventing a reduction in the tax rate of the city. It is unfortunate that the Legislature cannot be made to realize this fact. During the present administration three pieces of legislation have been submitted each year for the consideration of the General Court, which if approved would have tended to relieve the burden which the City of Boston now has to bear. These proposals were as follows:

1. Apportion expenses of the county between Boston, Chelsea, Revere and Winthrop.
2. Increase fees of Registry of Deeds and other county offices rendering services for which fees are established by statute.
3. Removal from Suffolk county trial lists of all cases not originating within the county.

LIGHTING CONTRACT EXPENSES.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 28, 1924.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen,—I beg to forward herewith order, communication and bill submitted to me by the Corporation Counsel in the matter of Edison Electric Illuminating Company lighting contract and respectfully recommend the adoption of the same.

Respectfully,
JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,
Law Department, July 15, 1924.
Hon. James M. Curley,
Mayor of Boston:
My dear Mr. Mayor,—I am in receipt of a bill for $10,000 from Mr. Arthur D. Hill for professional services rendered by him as special counsel for the City of Boston in the Edison rate investigation. This bill is inclosed herewith. The balance of the Edison appropriation is inadequate to meet this bill. It will be necessary, therefore, for your honor to ask the City Council to make an additional appropriation.

Since the tentative settlement of this case is now abandoned I assume that it is the will of your Honor and the City Council that the Edison investigation be resumed and brought, if possible, to an early close. If this is to be done the city should make adequate provision for the employment of engineering and stenographic services and other incidental expenses by the appropriation of a further sum of $15,000, this in addition to the $10,000 above referred to.

I am hopeful that the city's case with the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company may be soon ended. In that event your Honor may reasonably expect this department to resume the Edison case without the assistance of outside counsel; and for that reason I do not at this time suggest that any provision be made for the employment of extra counsel.

I do, therefore, recommend that your Honor submit to the Council at its next meeting an order providing for an appropriation of $25,000 for the Edison case.

Very truly yours,
E. MARK SULLIVAN,
Corporation Counsel.

Ordered, That an additional sum, not exceeding $15,000, be authorized to be expended for the purpose of meeting charges for expert services, stenographic services, additional legal assistance and other necessary and proper expenditures in connection with the hearing on the request for arbitration under the street lighting contract between the City of Boston and the Edison Electric Illuminating Company, dated December 7, 1914, and under the petition for a reduction in the prices of electricity filed by the Mayor with the Public Utilities Commission, said amount to be charged to the Reserve Fund. All expenditures shall be subject to the written approval of the Mayor and the Corporation Counsel.

Referred to the Executive Committee.

ADDITIONAL MONEY FOR FINANCE COMMISSION.

The following was received:

City of Boston,
Office of the Mayor, July 28, 1924.
To the City Council.
Gentlemen,—Chapter 369 of the Acts of 1924 provides for an increase of $10,000 in the appropriation of the Finance Commission.

I am in receipt of the attached communication from the chairman of the Finance Commission requesting that this additional sum be made available.

I accordingly submit the accompanying order for the consideration of your honorable body.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

EASEMENT OF CITY LAND.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, July 28, 1924.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I transmit herewith a communication from the Commissioner of Public Works, enclosing a notice to the City Council that so much of the rights acquired in the taking of land for sewerage purposes near the corner of Corinth and Cohasset streets, West Roxbury, by an instrument of taking, recorded with Suffolk Deeds, Book 2009, page 197, as would prevent the erection of a building as shown on a plan approved by the Commissioner of Public Works of the City of Boston and dated July 21, 1924, is no longer needed for public purposes, and that one hundred (100) dollars is a fair and reasonable amount for the easement to erect, construct and maintain said building, and I therefore recommend the passage of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

To His Honor the Mayor.

Dear Sir,—In accordance with the provisions of section 15 of chapter 40 of the General Laws of Massachusetts, I enclose herewith notice to the City Council that the land taken for sewerage purposes near the corner of Cohasset street and Corinth street, in that part of Boston called West Roxbury, by an instrument of taking recorded with Suffolk Deeds, Book 2009, page 197, will not be interfered with or damaged by reason of the building over the same in accordance with the plan approved by the Commissioner of Public Works of the said City of Boston, dated July 1, 1924, and I therefore notify you that so much of the rights acquired by said taking as would prevent the erecting of the building, as shown on said plan, is no longer required for public purposes.

J. A. ROURKE,
Public Works Commissioner.

Ordered, That his Honor the Mayor be and he hereby is authorized, in the name and behalf of the City of Boston, to sell at private sale to Rudolph Dunkel of said Boston for the sum of one hundred (100) dollars the right to erect, construct and maintain a structure or building over a portion of the land taken for sewerage purposes by an instrument of taking recorded with Suffolk Deeds, Book 2009, page 197, in accordance with a plan approved by the Commissioner of Public Works, dated July 21, 1924, and on file in the office of the Sewer Department of said City of Boston; and to execute and deliver in the name and behalf of the City of Boston a deed of said easement in said premises to said Rudolph Dunkel, satisfactory in form to the Law Department of the City of Boston. The said easement shall be so limited that no building or structure shall be erected or placed upon said premises which shall in any way interfere with the use and maintenance of said sewerage works or be placed or rested upon any part thereof; that no structure or building shall be placed or erected upon the said premises which shall interfere with the right of the City of Boston to enter upon the said premises or any part thereof for the purpose of maintaining, constructing or reconstructing said sewerage works as they are now located or may hereafter be located.

COMPLETION OF COURTHOUSE, ETC., WEST ROXBURY.

The following was received:

City of Boston,

Office of the Mayor, July 28, 1924.

To the City Council.

Gentlemen,—I am in receipt of the accompanying communication submitted by the Acting Superintendent of Public Buildings requesting an additional amount in the sum of $10,000 for the completion of reconstruction and alteration of the courthouse and police station at West Roxbury.

I find under original appropriation for Public Buildings Department unexpended balances totaling $7,262.90, and in all probability, despite their request for $10,000 additional, it may be possible for the department to complete the proposed improvements for this amount, and accordingly I recommend the adoption of the accompanying order.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

City of Boston,

Public Buildings Department, July 28, 1924.

Hon. James M. Curley,

Mayor of Boston:

Dear Sir,—I wish to advise you of the following facts pertaining to the Courthouse, West Roxbury, Remodeling:

The contract was awarded for the remodeling of this building to the Joseph Rugo Construction Company in the sum of $99,200.

As the work proceeded it was discovered that it would be necessary to make certain corrections, alterations and revisions due to the old framing of the building, the renewing of the old heating plant, plastering and painting throughout the old police station, to replace the old lead plumbing supply with brass, to install concrete foundations under all brick walls in the basement, additional shoring, etc.

These facts make it absolutely necessary that a further appropriation be made for this building in order to meet these requirements.

I most respectfully request that an additional appropriation to the amount of $10,000 be provided for the Courthouse, West Roxbury, Remodeling.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN H. MAHONY.

Acting Superintendent of Public Buildings.

COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE OF C. J. VANDENHECKE.

Coun. WATSON offered the following:

Ordered, That his Excellency the Governor, or in his absence the Lieutenant Governor, be requested to grant a stay of the court order to electrocute C. J. Vandennecke during the week beginning July 27, in order that those interested in said Vandennecke may properly prepare their case that the death sentence be commuted to life imprisonment.

Ordered, That a copy of this order be sent to the Governor, Lieutenant Governor and the members of the Executive Council.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, if I followed my own personal interests I perhaps would refrain from making any remarks regarding the order that you have just read, but I believe the circumstances are such that publicity is absolutely necessary in order that a man whom I believe to be innocent of the crime for which he is sentenced to the chair may have proper time to prepare his defense and apply for commutation of the sentence or a new trial. It may be said, and properly so, that the City Council of Boston has nothing to do with this particular case, but I see an opening by which I think I may properly argue that the City Council of Boston has a right to intercede in the way that I suggest. First of all, the Charlestown State Prison, where electrocution takes place, is within the confines of the city. It is true that it is state property, but, nevertheless, it is within the borders of the municipality. I am absolutely opposed to capital punishment, but that question is not before the Governor. The question before the Governor is, whether or not a man of whom there is good reason to believe he is innocent shall be given an opportunity through his attorney to present to the Governor's Council reasons for a commutation. I presume that no member of this Council aside from myself has ever had the proud privilege of being one who was in part instrumental in saving a human life. Twenty years ago a Roxbury boy was taken up in an affair in New York City where a death took place. The man who passed away was a brother of a detective sergeant of the New York Police Department. The death took place at a resort in New York where the then Chief Devery hung out. The man was at the edge of the gallows or of the electric chair five times. I will not use his name here, but Coun. Lane knows the man as well as I. The Governor of the State of New York was Theodore Roosevelt, and through the intercession of myself and another, and of Abraham Levy, an attorney, and a reporter of the New York World, we prevailed on Governor Roosevelt to commute the sentence to the electric chair to life imprisonment five hours before the man was to go to the chair. Later the man was pardoned from Ossining, and today he walks the streets of Roxbury a free man, pardoned by the Pardoning Board of New York State, because he was innocent of the crime for which he nearly went to the chair. Therefore, I have the proud distinction of being somewhat instrumental in saving a man from an untimely death. But that is not my only reason for taking the position I do in this matter. I am thinking of the children of that man now in the death chamber at Charlestown. I am thinking of his wife in Lawrence. I am thinking of his friends, who don't know the ways of this country and who are unable to act in his behalf. I am thinking also as a Christian. One of the commandments is, "Thou shalt not kill," and from my point of view the Government has no more right to act as agent to take a man's life than I have, under that Christian commandment. There is a commandment which says also, "Thou shalt not steal," but, nevertheless, we know that right under the Government there is grafting and thievery going on, and those guilty are not prohibited from doing it because they are high in official life. My experience with the Governor's office in the absence of Governor Channing H. Cox, who is away in the Provinces on a hunting trip, leads me to believe that the secretary of the Governor is the Governor de facto and that Channing H. Cox is merely a little piece of machinery operated by Herman A. MacDonald, the secretary to his Excellency. I wrote on July 23 a letter addressed to "His Excellency the Governor," and, of course, I meant by that either Governor Cox or Acting Governor Alvan T. Fuller, as under the law of our Commonwealth the duties of the Governor in his absence from the Commonwealth devolve upon the Lieutenant Governor, who is Governor in fact in every particular and takes on the official rights and duties of Governor Cox. But this man, Herman A. MacDonald, writes me a letter stating that he has nothing to do with the matter of capital punishment, that that is a matter for the Legislature. Why, the nunny! I know that. I know more about law—and I am no lawyer—than Herman A. MacDonald, the Governor's secretary. Herman A. MacDonald should have turned my letter over to Alvan T. Fuller, the Governor of the Commonwealth in the absence of Channing H. Cox. But he does not do that. I then wrote him another letter, which I will put into the record without reading, and that has never been answered. I will have this correspondence put into the record, if there is no objection. Let me read for the benefit of the Council the closing lines in the letter written by this colossal mental giant, acting as Governor in the absence of Channing H. Cox:

"If you have any information as to the facts of the case I am sure the Governor will be very glad to hear you. The question, however, as you will readily understand, is not whether one is opposed or in favor of capital punishment. That question is for the Legislature to settle. The Governor has to enforce the law as it now stands."

Then, in the last paragraph of his letter of July 24, he says,

"For your information, I may say that I am confident that the only things the Governor will want to hear are facts which will establish the innocence of this man or change the degree of the crime for which he has been sentenced."

Just think of that! Herman A. MacDonald, the secretary of the Governor, says that the Governor can abrogate the law of Massachusetts. What does he know about law? Nothing. I then wrote a further letter to Alvan T. Fuller, the Governor of the Commonwealth in the absence of Channing H. Cox, and sent it Saturday by special delivery to Rye Beach, so that it might get immediately into the hands of the Lieutenant Governor, who would thereby be able to act immediately, asking that this man, whom I believe to be innocent, might have a chance to have his case proven in the proper way. I have taken altogether too much of the time of the Council. I am tired. I do not earn money by politics. I have to work for a living. I have been working since half past seven o'clock this morning at my daily work, besides attending to my Council duties. I might go on indefinitely in this case, but I saw now that I do not request the Governor of the Commonwealth to give further time to this matter I do not ask the Governor to save this man from the sentence of the court; but I demand of Governor Fuller, if he is acting as Governor, or of Governor Channing H. Cox, if he arrives home, that there be a stay in the carrying out of the sentence to electrocute Cyril J. Vandennecke, a man without friends or influence. I demand it, and, Mr. President, with these words I trust that there will be sufficient publicity to awaken the decent people of this community to the fact that if the man whose name I have mentioned passes to the Great Beyond without some action being taken the Governor of this Commonwealth will be guilty of murder, and the man who touches the switch that takes his life will, in my opinion, be as guilty as the blackest murderer who ever went to the chair in the United States of America. I ask, Mr. President, for a suspension of the rule in order that this order may go upon its passage at this time, and I ask, furthermore, that a special messenger take a copy of this order immediately to the office of Governor Cox or Governor Fuller, in order that it may get there in proper time.

The rule was suspended and the order was passed.

President DONOGHUE—I will request the Clerk to see that a copy of the order is taken to the Governor's office by special messenger.

Following is the full correspondence referred to by Coun. Watson in the course of the debate:

July 22, 1924.

To his Excellency the Governor, State House, Boston.

Dear Sir,—During the week of the 25th the prisoner is to be electrocuted. In 1910 while in the Legislature I advocated then the abolition of capital punishment. My views on the subject are just as strong today.

I respectfully ask you to arrange to give me and such others as may care to appear to protest against this electrocution a hearing.

Statistics in this country and in Europe prove that capital punishment is not a deterrent to murder. I can prove that.

Kindly advise me when you will grant a hearing on the above matter and oblige,

Respectfully yours,

JAMES A. WATSON.

July 23, 1924.

To his Excellency the Governor, State House, Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir,—I sent a letter to you July 22d and I wish you would kindly consider this letter an amendment to the same.

My purpose in writing you was to have you and the Governor's Council grant to me and others a hearing on the question of commuting the sentence of electrocution on Cyril J. Vandennecke to life imprisonment.

Trusting that I have made plain my purpose in writing this and the letter I have mentioned above, I remain,

Respectfully yours,

JAMES A. WATSON.

July 23, 1924.

Hon. James A. Watson, Boston City Council, City Hall, Boston, Mass.

My dear Councilor Watson,—In the absence of Governor Cox I beg to acknowledge receipt of your communication of July 22, asking for a hearing in protest against the electrocution of Cyril Vandennecke, and I shall be glad to call your letter to the Governor's attention upon his return to the executive offices.

If you have any information as to the facts of the case I am sure the Governor will be very glad to hear you. The question, however, as you will readily understand, is not whether one is opposed or in favor of capital punishment. That question is for the Legislature to settle. The Governor has to enforce the law as it now stands.

Very truly yours,

HERMAN A. MACDONALD,
Secretary to the Governor.

24th July, 1924.

Mr. James A. Watson, Council Chamber, City Hall, Boston, Mass.

My dear Mr. Watson,—I have your letter of July 23d and shall be glad to call it to the Governor's attention together with your letter of July 22, relative to the sentence of death of Cyril J. Vandennecke.

For your information I may say that I am confident that the only things the Governor will want to hear are facts which will establish the innocence of this man or change the degree of the crime for which he has been sentenced.

Very truly yours,

HERMAN A. MACDONALD,
Secretary to the Governor.

July 26, 1924.

Hon. Alvan T. Fuller, Lieutenant and Acting Governor, State House, Boston, Mass.

My dear Governor,—I have written two letters addressed to Governor Cox which were sent to the State House and acknowledged by his secretary. Will you kindly refer to them and consider the contents of this letter.

In the absence of Governor Cox from the state I believe that you have the powers that he has as Governor, by law delegated to you. I ask you, in the event of Governor Cox not acting, to stay the execution of Cyril J. Vandennecke, who according to a sentence meted out to him by the courts, is to be electrocuted some time in the week of July the 28th. This unfortunate individual evidently is without influence and without legal protection, and for further reason that I am opposed to capital punishment, I wish you would stay the carrying out of the court's order until I can communicate with those who are nearer to him than I am.

Respectfully,

JAMES A. WATSON.

STATEMENT AS TO KU KLUX KLAN.

Coun. WATSON—Mr. President, in view of the fact that there has been a great deal of talk recently in the press and otherwise about the Ku Klux Klan, let me say that I have here a statement which I received today in the mail, in a paper called "Our Sunday Visitor, the Harmonizer," published in Huntington, Indiana, July 27, 1924.

It contains a wonderful article on the Ku Klux Klan by Aldrich Blake, of Oklahoma, and is entitled, "A Temperate Talk on the Ku Klux." I think the City Council of Boston, the city where liberty was born, could not perform a greater act of Americanism than to print this as a city document. Therefore, I move that the article in the "Sunday Visitor, the Harmonizer," of Huntington, Indiana, under date of July 27, 1924, by Aldrich Blake, entitled, "A Temperate Talk on the Ku Klux," be printed as a city document.

The motion was carried.

HEARING ON CHARLESTOWN GAS CONTRACT.

The Council gave a hearing on the question as to whether a contract should be made with the Charlestown Gas and Electric Company for lighting Charlestown under practically the same arrangement that now exists with reference to other parts of the City of Boston under the contract recently concluded with the Boston Consolidated Gas Company. The Commissioner of Public Works, Joseph A. Rourke, Alexander Macomber of the Charlestown Company, Senator William F. Francis of Charlestown, Maurice J. Power of Charlestown, and School Committeeman William J. O'Hare were heard. The hearing was closed, subject to be reopened if the Council so decides.

RECESS TAKEN.

The Council voted at 3.30 o'clock, on motion of Coun. WALSH to take a recess subject to the call of the President.

The members of the Council reassembled in the chamber and were called to order by the President at 6.15 o'clock p. m.

The report was accepted and the question came on the passage of the order.

Coun. DONOGHUE.—Mr. Chairman, this is the order to which I referred at the meeting of the Executive Committee whereby the Republican Legislature, for the first time in the history of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, has taken away from a Democratic Council in a Democratic city, the right to redistrict our city and placed the same in the hands of a committee of legislators which is dominated by the Republican interests in the City of Boston, the chairman of which is Senator Clark of Dorchester, and the vice chairman of which is Representative Keniston of Ward 7 in our city, seven Republican members and four Democratic members. So that on the very face of it it shows that the Republicans intend to "gerrymander" the City of Boston as they have "gerrymandered" the State of Massachusetts, their purpose, of course, being to deprive Democratic Boston of its rightful representation in the matter of representatives and senators to the Great and General Court. And I feel that, in view of these things which have been saddled on to Boston and these things which have been passed by this Republican Legislature, we should not appropriate any money to help them carry out this most iniquitous scheme of the Republican leaders in our city. I think that no one has the right to grant the freedom of this chamber to this committee unless they receive the sanction of this City Council; and I have been given to understand that an arrangement has already been entered into whereby this Council chamber has been placed at the disposal of this committee for the purpose of depriving Boston of its rightful representation in the General Court of Massachusetts. I say that no one has the right to do so unless this Council gives them the right; I do not believe that this Council will give them the right; and I do not feel that this Council will appropriate $3,000 in order to aid in any way their chance to "gerrymander" Boston. Under the recent ruling of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts, which has defined that a legal voter must be a registered voter, the Republican machine in our city and in this Commonwealth is going to attempt to deprive our city of its rightful representation in the General Court, and I feel that we should in no way aid them but, rather, should impede them and obstruct them in every way that we possibly can, and I will not vote to appropriate any money for this purpose. This redistricting rightfully belongs to this Council, and they, in taking it away from us, have established a precedent which has never before occurred in the entire history of the State of Massachusetts. I think that it is about time that we in this Council stood up, ready to defend not alone our own rights, but the rights of Democratic Boston. I have made speeches here for some years pleading for "home rule" for Boston, and still we see, year after year, bills introduced by Democratic mayors of our city into a Republican Legislature, which practically never see the light of day, asking that the expenses of Suffolk County be apportioned between the cities of Chelsea, Revere, Boston and Winthrop, and every year they are refused by the Republican Legislature. Then the Democratic mayor of our city goes to their body every year, practically as a mendicant, with his hat in his hand, begging to increase the tax limit so that Boston might be able to pay the debts which it owes, and every year there is a most vicious fight in the Legislature before Boston is even given sufficient money to live on, because of the fact that ours is a Democratic city, and for no other reason. And then, on top of that, we have seen the spectacle today of this Republican Legislature saddling at the expiration of the Great and General Court, the additional expense of $150,000 in connection with the Suffolk County expenses, onto the backs of the citizens of Boston. They do not take into consideration the special acts of legislation which they have passed compelling, practically, the City of Boston to pay those bills when we go there asking for the right which is given to every other town and hamlet in this Commonwealth, of establishing our own tax limit, but they establish the tax limit for the capitol city of the State of Massachusetts. I am making this contest here at every opportunity, even singling out the one man whom I did today, a resident of Chelsea who is receiving pay from our city. I say that that job does not belong to a Chelsea resident so long as the city of Chelsea does not contribute to the expenses, or help to defray the expenses, of Suffolk County; and until such time shall arise when the Legislature deals fairly with our city in the apportionment of those expenses, until the day shall arise when the Legislature allows the City of Boston to have that measure of "home rule" which it gives to every other small town and hamlet throughout this state, until that day arrives I am going to contest every one of those special pieces of legislation which come before this body. If the men in this Council, elected to represent Boston's citizens, elected by the citizenry of Boston, by the votes of Boston's men and women, vote to pay moneys to those who are not residents of our city without any protest, then we are never going to receive relief. They are going to continue to saddle expense onto our backs just so long as we are going to stand for it. And until we stand up in our shoes and refuse to appropriate one penny for anyone who is not a resident of our city, and a bona fide resident, then, and not until then, are we going to be enabled to receive any relief from this Republican Legislature. I feel that the day is here now when this fight that I am making, even though it might be a lone one, meets with the approval of the rank and file of our citizenry. It meets, in my opinion, with the approval of every father, and it meets with the approval of every mother in our city. They expect that their children should have the right to be employed in our city rather than employ those who live in Gloucester, Beverly, Ipswich, Brookline, in preference to their boys and to their girls. We have passed legislation providing that war veterans be given the preference in positions in all the cities and towns in this Commonwealth; but, if we look through the pay roll book of our city, we will find that there are innumerable instances where men who are not residents of our city have received from the highest-paid jobs in our city to the lowest-paid jobs under every administration I have ever known of since I have become interested enough to know what politics meant. Everyone who has ever, in my opinion and within my hearing, been a candidate for the highest office in this city has always said that he believed that Boston was entitled to home rule and that every position in Boston belonged to a Boston boy or girl; and never have I seen anyone live up to what they preach; never have I seen anyone who had the temerity to stand up against the mandates of Supreme Courts, or Superior Courts, or anyone else, in order that they might further the things to which they pledged themselves when they sought the votes of the electorate of Boston. I feel that the time has come when this Council should take the initiative and refuse to appropriate one penny for the payment of the salary of any one who is not a resident of our city; that this Council should now refuse to appropriate one penny to pay the expenses of this creature of a Republican Legislature, acting under the guise of a committee appointed by the Great and General Court to redivide the City of Boston into wards but, in reality, a scheme of Republican leaders in our city to disenfranchise the Democratic voters of our city; and I feel that this Council, even if in its dying days, which has been legislated out of office because they knew we could not be controlled, they knew that we stood for the rights of our people as against the mandates of any bosses, and they legislated this Council out of office without even any referendum to our people as to whether or not they believed in this or some other form of government. It is going to be the same until we stand up and are counted, and I think that the men in this Council are possessed of sufficient calibre and sufficient red blood and American manhood to stand in their shoes and refuse to be dictated to by these machine politicians of the Republican Party who are attempting to drive wedges into the Democrats so as to divide and disrupt them as they have done in the past, and as they will do in the future if we are not alert and on the job. We are here to protect Boston's interests; we are not here to aid or abet any sinister schemes of sinister politicians. And when we think of the scandals in Washington by the Republican Party which have degraded the American nation as it has never before been degraded, if we dare to vote for these things that are sponsored and fostered by them, then we are giving aid and counsel to a party which has been degraded in the eyes of the American people, and which, in my opinion, is going to meet with an everlasting disgraceful defeat at the next election, and once more democracy, which is the hope of the plain and honest-thinking, right-thinking people, will be in the ascendancy. We have but to look back a few years to see that the most progressive, humanitarian legislation that was ever placed upon the statute books of our country, of our city or of our nation, has always been sponsored and fought for by the Democratic party, and we must live up to those traditions if our party is to continue. I feel that there are a great many men following the Republican banner in national affairs who, in our city, first of all are Bostonians, who believe that Boston is entitled to home rule, who believe that we have been discriminated against unfairly and unjustly, and who, in my opinion, will resent the insults of an imbecilic Legislature which has dared to pass the legislation which was enacted last year on Beacon Hill. I hope that this matter will fail of passage, as I hope that every other matter of a special nature which is passed by a Republican Legislature to saddle additional expense of our city will be defeated by this body by our failure to appropriate moneys which we have. Then let them do as they see fit. We have been whispered to death that they are going to get whatever moneys they want to, at any time they want to, but let us see if they can get them. Let them get the moneys if they can, but don't let them get it with our votes. Let us stand up against such legislation as that. Let us first think of the obligations which we owe to the people who have elected us, and then, when we fulfill those obligations, our consciences are clear. I hope that the matter will fail of passage. The question came on the acceptance of the committee's report and the passage of the order. The roll was called, with the following result:

Yeas—Coun. Lane.

Nays—Coun. Brickley, Donoghue, Gilbody, Healy, Purcell, Walsh, Watson.

The order was rejected.

11. Report on message of Mayor and order (referred today) for use of City Council chamber in connection with redivision of city of Boston into wards—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted and the order was rejected, yeas 2, nays 7, Coun. Healey and Lane voting yea.

PUBLIC LANDS.

Coun. WATSON, for the Committee on Public Lands, submitted a report on message of Mayor, communication and order (referred today) for use of city land in West Roxbury—that the order ought to pass.

The report was accepted and the order was given its first reading and passed, yeas 8, nays 0.

The order will take its final reading not less than fourteen days from date.

GENERAL RECONSIDERATION.

Coun. BRICKLEY moved a general reconsideration on all business transacted at the meeting, hoping that the same would not prevail. Lost.

MOTION TO ADJOURN.

Coun. WALSH—Mr. Chairman, I move we now adjourn to one week from today.

Chairman WATSON—I would like to suggest, before the motion is put, that we have here several orders which are very important—for example, City Hospital improvements.

Coun. BRICKLEY—Mr. Chairman, a motion to adjourn is always in order.

Chairman WATSON—The Chair has the power to put the motion or not as he sees fit.

Coun. BRICKLEY—No, I do not think he has.

Chairman WATSON—The Chair desires to make a statement. The Chair desires to say that there are nine orders on the calendar, many of which call for action this afternoon, and particularly one with respect to the City Hospital. If the member who made the motion to adjourn desires to press it the Chair will put the motion, understanding that there are very important matters here. Does the Chair understand Councilor Walsh to desire pressing his motion?

Coun. WALSH—Mr. Chairman, I do not think a week will hurt to hold these matters over.

The question being put, the Chair doubted the vote and the roll was called, with the following result:

Yeas—Coun. Donoghue, Gilbody, Lane, Purcell, Walsh—5.

Nays—Coun. Healy, Watson—2, and the Council stood adjourned at 6.40 o'clock p. m., to meet on Monday, August 4, at two o'clock, p. m.

UNDERGROUND RAPID TRANSIT IN BOSTON.

The Boston Transit Commission, consisting of five members, two appointed by the Governor and three by the Mayor, began its official existence, July 1, 1894, and ended it July 1, 1918, after seven extensions of the original term. It constructed, under the authority of Acts of the Legislature, the following subways and tunnels, the ownership of which is vested in the City of Boston, and all costs to be covered by revenue from same, not by taxation; Tremont Street Subway, from Broadway and Tremont street, South End, to North Station, and from Boylston street, near Charles, to Park street, 1.68 miles, open to Park street, September 1, 1897, and to North Station on Sept. 3, 1898, costing with subsequent alterations, \$4,416,000, the first transportation subway in the United States; East Boston Tunnel, from Maverick square, East Boston, under Boston Harbor and State street to Scollay square, Boston Proper, 1.42 miles, opened December 30, 1904, costing \$3,336,000, the first all-concrete under-water transportation tunnel in the world; Washington Street Tunnel, from Ash street, opposite Nassau, South End, to Traverse street, near North Station, 1.16 miles, opened November 30, 1908, costing \$8,496,700 (including \$2,850,000 land damages); Cambridge Connection Subway from under Park street station of Tremont Street Subway to Grove street near Cambridge Bridge, 0.47 miles, opened March 23, 1912, costing \$1,465,000; Boylston street subway, from Commonwealth avenue, near Kenmore street, Back Bay, to Tremont Street Subway, near Charles street, 1.5 miles opened October 13, 1914, costing \$5,485,639; East Boston Tunnel Extension, from Scollay square to North Russell street, 0.41 miles, opened March 18, 1916, approximate cost, \$2,450,000; Dorchester Tunnel, from Park street, Boston Proper, to Andrew square, South Boston, 2.26 miles, opened December 3, 1916, as far as South Station; on December 15, 1917, to Broadway, South Boston, and on June 29, 1918, to the Andrew Square terminal. Trains of four or six cars are run in the Washington Street Tunnel, continuing on elevated track to Forest Hills, also in Dorchester Tunnel from Andrew square, South Boston, connecting with Cambridge Tunnel, to Harvard square, Cambridge, while only single or double street cars are run in the other tunnels and subways; amount borrowed to 1922 for the Dorchester Tunnel, \$10,750,000. Total gross debt for all subways and tunnels, \$37,558,700 (incl. loans of \$1,210,000 for new Arlington Station of Boylston Street Subway, opened on November 13, 1921), against which a sinking fund of \$6,369,630 has been accumulated from the revenue, payable mostly in 40 years from date of each loan (loans since 1911 payable in 45 years), annual interest averaging 3.8 per cent. These underground ways, about 8.9 miles in all with total of 19.27 miles of single track were leased to the Boston Elevated Railway Company (which furnished the equipment) for term of 25 years (except Tremont street, 20 years) at annual rental of $4\frac{1}{2}$ to $4\frac{7}{8}$ per cent of net cost (except East Boston Tunnel which was at $\frac{1}{3}$ of one per cent of all annual gross receipts of said company). In accordance with Chapter 741, Acts of 1911, the various leases were extended to July 1, 1936, the rental to be $4\frac{1}{2}$ per cent of net cost after expiration of the first-term leases.

By Chap. 185, Special Acts of 1918, the powers of the Transit Commission, whose term expired that year, were transferred to the Mayor, Commissioner of Public Works and City Treasurer, or such person or persons, not exceeding three, as the Mayor might appoint. By Chap. 3, Ordinances of 1918, the Transit Dept. was established as a regular City department, to be in charge of three commissioners.

BOSTON MAKES FIFTY-EIGHTH ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT OF G. A. R. MOST MEMORABLE EVENT EVER HELD.

CITY AND CITIZENS OPEN ARMS AND HOMES TO NATION'S BEST LOVED HEROES AND MEN AND WOMEN OF '61 ARE FETED TO SURFEIT. MAYOR CURLEY GIVEN UNSTINTED PRAISE FOR CITY'S HOSPITALITY.

PORTRAIT OF GEN. GAYLORD M. SALTZGABER, NATIONAL HEAD OF G. A. R., PRESENTED TO HIM BY CITY OF BOSTON THROUGH MAYOR JAMES M. CURLEY.

Boston, with its characteristic warm-heartedness and hospitality has taken into her arms for a final embrace the members of the G. A. R. and kindred organizations who have been here for the 58th annual last encampment, in this city. Boston wept with them in the joy of having them with her. She laughed with them for the spirit they showed in warding off the years and retaining their youth in such a way as to enjoy her hospitality and she has cheered them at every turn both for the past and the future.

Remembering that there are but a few years left to any of them not a citizen but opened heart and home to these old grizzled and halting heroes who by their lives and sacrifices set the example of patriotism that has ever been the model of the youth of the land. The convention has come and gone but the memory of these marching, laughing, trudging hosts who were the city's guests for the week will ever linger in the minds of those who took part in any of the many exercises or shook the hand of one.

From the presentation of the large oil painting of Gen. Gaylord M. Saltzgaber till the last veteran was placed on his train for home nothing has been too good for Boston to offer these old, loving and loveable heroes, the pets of the entire nation. They were welcomed to the city at Symphony Hall on Monday night by his Honor Mayor James M. Curley, and after a week filled with activities sent on their way to the next convention with a heartiest "God Bless You," from the bosom of us all.

Boston officially gave the veterans and their allied organizations automobile rides, dinners, banquets and general good times that concluded Thursday evening with a fire works display that was voted the greatest ever held, and a trip to Plymouth on Friday. Interspersed with these were dedications of tablets and the planting of trees for famous generals and in honor of encampments in the various states.

Tribute was paid to the nurses and the women of the G. A. R. as well as to the heroes themselves. As a token of the esteem in which these old heroes will be ever held keys to the city have been distributed to show that Boston will ever open her hearts to them and treasure their visits. As the result of their coming Boston cherishes a deeper and a warmer regard for them and they have left the city with a deeper love for the city of historic things than ever before. Every citizen wishes that this city might be the home of the veterans until the last one of them has answered the final bugle call.

MAYOR CURLEY JOINS WITH G. A. R. IN UNVEILING TABLET TO LINCOLN ON PROVINCE STREET.

On the site of the only building in this city which is known to have sheltered Abraham Lincoln—the old Washingtonian Hall at the corner of Bromfield and Province streets—a bronze tablet to the Great Emancipator was dedicated Monday afternoon, August 11, with impressive patriotic ceremonies in which Gen. Gaylord M. Saltzgaber, commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, participated, along with Mayor James M. Curley.

The tablet, which is upon the side of a building now under construction at the corner of the widened Province street, was dedicated by the commission on historical sites, of which Judge David A. Lourie is chairman, and was accepted in behalf of the city by Mayor Curley.

May thy future be bright, thy skies beam with light all serene,

TREES FOR NOTED GENERALS ARE DEDICATED ON COMMON DURING G. A. R. EXERCISES.

Fully one thousand persons Monday evening watched the dedication of forty-eight trees on the Common in and around G. A. R. circle, by members of that body, the Women's Relief Corps, and Mayor Curley.

Four trees were set aside in honor of outstanding figures of Civil War days. Three of them are set at the corners of a triangle of lawn at the foot of Monument Hill toward Tremont street. They honor Lincoln, Grant and Sherman. The fourth, nearby, is in memory of Sheridan. The other trees are in recognition of each of the forty-four state departments of the G. A. R. and were dedicated by delegations from those states.

The main exercise was at that tree named for Lincoln. It was dedicated by Mrs. Flo J. Miller of Illinois, past national commander of the Women's Relief Corps. She was introduced by Mrs. Belle W. Bliss, also of Illinois, and present national commander, who in turn was introduced by Mayor Curley, who was the principal speaker at the observances.

Commander George A. Hosley of the Kearsage Naval Veterans presided, and after the Mayor's talk, called on Gen. Gaylord M. Saltzgaber, commander in chief.

Following this the other main trees were in turn dedicated, the ceremonies being performed by Judge James A. Willets, past commander in chief, and Mrs. Leura C. Inman, national patriotic instructor. Here, also, the exercises were in charge of Mr. Hosley, who is chief of staff to Gen. Saltzgaber.

The official party marched on the Common and over to Monument Hill from Boylston street with firm tread behind the life and drum corps of the Department of Michigan, led by their state commander, M. C. Barney.

The sharp manner in which they rolled drums, and swung arms in time to every note coming true from fifes, gave little sign of the three-score years which have passed since first they slung drum straps over shoulders and placed pipes to lips. When they did stop for breath, the Massachusetts Glee Club of the Women's Relief Corps, led by Mrs. Flora Chapin, carried on with patriotic and army songs, which swelled to a great chorus with hundreds of younger voices.

ASKS CITY TO DECORATE FOR G. A. R.

The Mayor issued the following proclamation August 8:

To the Citizens of Boston:

The Fifty-eighth Annual Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will open next Monday, August 11. The city and state are hosts of this historic patriotic body to which the country owes so much and which Americans delight to honor.

Their presence in Boston should be made a gala occasion; and I ask that the citizens of Boston show their appreciation of the service and sacrifice of these honored veterans by freely decorating their homes and houses with national flags, bunting and other evidences of their good will.

They served and saved the nation in its hour of peril. Hang out your banners today that the old heroes may know that Massachusetts and Boston do not forget.

Do it now.

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF G. A. R. PAYS NOTABLE TRIBUTE TO MAYOR CURLEY.

SINGS PRAISES OF BOSTON FOR HAVING SUCH AN HOSPITABLE, ENERGETIC AND BIG HEARTED CHIEF EXECUTIVE TO CARE FOR VETERANS AND THEIR ALLIED BODIES. PRAISES CONTRIBUTION TO CONVENTION AND EXPENDITURE OF $200,000 FOR PRESERVATION OF FANEUIL HALL.

Comrades.

The commander in chief gives you a cordial greeting and bids you welcome to the Fifty-eighth National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

My wish is that each of you may have unloaded his cares and anxieties at home and that you may derive the greatest enjoyment from this renewed association with your comrades and friends.

We all have the feebleness of old age and its attendant maladies. Let us, however, with the confident spirit that carried us forward in battle for the preservation of our glorious Union, respond once more to the fanfare of the trumpets, the music from the bands, and the martial music from the fife and drum, carry ourselves proudly and happily during the days of this reunion.

The first thought that occurs to me is one of thankfulness to the splendid Mayor of the great City of Boston, who only seven years after we had been in Boston before, with patriotic ardor invited us back to share the great city's hospitality.

On the occasion of the visit to Boston by officers and members to make arrangements for the encampment, the Mayor with unbounded cordiality greeted and cared for us. He has been Chairman of the General Committee of Arrangements and has done everything within his power to make the present meeting of the members of the Grand Army of the Republic, their auxiliary, and allied societies a most joyous occasion. We owe him a great debt of gratitude.

The City of Boston has shared with its Mayor every evidence of hospitality, and great esteem of our noble order. Its officials, representing the patriotic sentiment on the part of its citizens, have voted $25,000 for our entertainment, and have otherwise made great preparations to show their appreciation of that Grand Army which preserved national integrity and destroyed forever human slavery in America.

Boston has shown its wonderful spirit, and the depth of love conferred on America by past generations, in restoring to its original state at a cost of $200,000 that shrine of American liberty, Faneuil Hall, in which the distinguished men of Boston kindled the fires of freedom and gave birth to the cherished doctrine that "all men are created equal," and have certain "unalienable rights, among which are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

Dear old historic Boston! Every American citizen ought to be proud to repair to its sacred precincts and here learn the lesson of our republic's birth and man's freedom from oppression. Let our ears be open to the story of the sacrifices and achievements of the fathers who founded a union of states, a union of hearts, and a union of hands which they hoped would be indissoluble, and here let us thank God that we were the instruments in the hands of Divine Providence to recement more firmly the ties of union which rebellious subjects to save the wicked institutions of slavery, sought to destroy. Let us count this a pilgrimage to this birthplace of the American spirit, and while we enjoy its gracious kindness and generosity, let us here pledge anew our allegiance to the free institutions of America.

His Excellency, Channing H. Cox, Governor of Massachusetts, has nobly seconded the efforts of Mayor Curley and, largely through his influence, this great state has also voted the sum of $25,000 to provide for the enjoyment of the comrades and their friends at this encampment.

Thoughts of Boston and Massachusetts are inseparable, and our hearts will beat with gratitude for the kindness of the Governor of the Commonwealth, its General Court, and indeed all of its citizens.

I believe it is my duty to herein acknowledge the kindness of the managers of the passenger traffic lines all over the United States in giving favorable rates to the members of the Grand Army of the Republic, members of their families, members of their auxiliary, and allied organizations.

For several years a rate of one cent a mile was allowed us, but the expense of operating railroads has increased enormously and perhaps they are justified in the present charge. However, we are allowed a great reduction from the ordinary rate and for this I am sure all of those who avail themselves of the privilege, will be very grateful.

The commander in chief visited as many state encampments as he was able. It is a matter of extreme regret that so many of them are held at the same time, or so close together at widely distant places that it is impossible for the commander in chief to meet with them all.

From the hearty welcome extended to me on the occasion of my visit at every state encampment I assume that the comrades in each department are glad to have the commander in chief with them on the occasion of their meetings. No scheme of itinerary has even been worked out so that department encampments may be conveniently arranged to follow each other in succession.

In addition thereto, the various orders including the auxiliary and allied organizations should all have their meetings at the same time and place; thus it would be easy not only for the commander in chief but also the national heads of the other orders to be in attendance all together at the meetings. Greetings back and forth are highly appreciated and thus could have ample opportunity afforded.

I bear testimony to the magnificent spirit shown at the state encampments. I visited them as far north as New York and New Hampshire and as far south as Arkansas and Georgia. Although aged and infirm and with scant purses to pay their way, comrades, the auxiliary and allied orders all bore themselves proudly and greatly enjoyed the privilege of getting together. On each occasion there was the usual routine, the rivalry for office, and the transaction of necessary business, to all of which comrades called up again the vigor of their youth and the wisdom of experience. These meetings wherever held in the United States, with the old heroes clad in their blue uniforms, upon the lapels the bronze buttons, and over their hearts the insignia of our grand order; with their parades; their martial music; addresses by comrades and others at their meetings; the general observance of Memorial Day; work in the schools; the gifts of flags to schools with the appropriate exercises by the Woman's Relief Corps; the gifts of pictures of Lincoln by the ladies of the G. A. R.; the splendid spirit of co-operation by every committee where the meetings were held, all tended to radiate patriotism through every part of the republic.

These patriotic events give birth to and keep alive that wonderful love of country which in our young manhood filled our own hearts and induced us cheerfully to enlist and suffer the vicissitudes of a long and terrible war to save the union.

There can be no question about the far reaching influence of these encampments. They preserve and enlarge that love of our precious institutions which under all circumstances is the best bulwark of the nation's defense.

Too high praise cannot be given to our great auxiliary, the Woman's Relief Corps, and its contribution to the welfare of the Grand Army of the Republic, so magnificent and so great that without it the finances of many state encampments might be in a deplorable condition. Even our national organization has felt the quickening impulse of its munificent gifts.

Its labors extend beyond the Grand Army and find opportunity for patriotic undertakings in other directions. I believe that during the period of the World War its growth was at a standstill, but recently it has given evidence of a quickening impulse, added numbers, and increased activities, and the Woman's Relief Corps now numbers roundly two hundred thousands members, a great company of workers.

There is no reason why it should not have a million members at least, because its objects are so good, and the qualifications for membership so broad, that it should rapidly recruit its strength until its numbers will wield a wonderful power for blessing others.

Its national president, Mrs. Bell W. Bliss, has shown great ability and wise management in the administration of her high office. My association with her has proven her worthy of hearty commendation.

The society's very able secretary, Eliza Brown Daggett, because of her long experience and capable endeavor, is worthy of praise without stint.

The Ladies of the G. A. R., Sons of Veterans, Daughters of Veterans, and Sons of Veterans Auxiliary, are each and all entitled to very high praise. They give cheerful allegiance to the Grand Army of the Republic, and also afford aid and helpfulness. They each have a restricted eligibility for membership and consequently their growth is not numerically as great as that of the Woman's Relief Corps. The Grand Army is under obligation to them for favors shown, and in the conduct of their affairs they inculcate the virtues of patriotism and good deeds. We have reason to be proud of each and all of them.

The only suggestion I have to offer is that the women should be all together in one organization. They would then be an increased power for doing good with no rivalries or antagonism.

The commander in chief expresses himself as under great obligation to all of those on his official staff. Every officer connected with the Grand Army performed each duty cheerfully and ably, and all are to be highly commended.

Care should be taken in the selection of members on the Committee on Resolutions. In past years so-called resolutions were adopted without care in editing, and considerable trouble was experienced by reason thereof. I recommend that the Committee on Resolutions be empowered to employ a stenographer to put in proper form such resolutions, the passage of which the committee recommends.

With the reports of officers is given in full the report of the Committee on Incorporation, together with a copy of the law adopted by Congress incorporating the Grand Army of the Republic. This has been sought for years and the efficient members of this committee, namely: Robert W. McBride, John M. Williams, and David F. Pugh, are each entitled to the thanks of the National Encampment for the judicious manner in which they endeavored to secure this legislation and have finally succeeded. Inasmuch as action of members of the encampment thereon is required, the law should be carefully considered.

John N. Stewart, a member of George G. Meade Post 444, Department of Illinois, G. A. R., was charged with being guilty of conduct unbecoming a soldier and gentleman in his relations with members of the Grand Army of the Republic. He was also charged with being guilty of conduct prejudicial to good order and discipline. Specifications were filed. He was tried by a post court martial in October and November, 1923, and found guilty as charged and sentenced to be dishonorably discharged from the Grand Army of the Republic. This occurred on the 5th day of November, 1923.

An appeal was taken by the accused to the Department Commander of Illinois, William J. Lioberton, who on the 12th day of December, 1923, approved the action of the court martial.

From this an appeal was taken to the commander in chief, who on January 5, 1924, after an examination of the charges, specifications, record of the trial, argument, findings, and sentence, did find that there were some technical errors but none which affected the substantial rights of the accused, who was present and took part in the trial, and did adjudge that said John N. Stewart was guilty as charged and determined, and that the findings and sentence should be and were thereby approved.

Comrade Stewart complained that the decision of the commander in chief was premature and filed arguments so called, after which on April 30, 1924, the commander in chief informed him that the appeal dated April 30, 1924, in the matter of the so-called court martial by George G. Meade Post 444, Department of Illinois G. A. R., had been carefully considered, and upon further consideration of all the facts in the so-called appeal on the part of John N. Stewart, the commander in chief saw no reason why he should change the conclusions at which he formerly arrived; that the appeal was not sustained; and that the action of the court martial was approved.

Certain documents which purport to be a record of the charges, specifications, trial, findings, and a judgment of the Court, approval by the commander of the Department of Illinois, and afterwards by the commander in chief, are filed with the adjutant general for such action as the National Encampment may choose to take.

The penalty of treason is death.

The last Congress passed a law to aid in the construction of a statue to Jefferson Davis and other confederates, and President Coolidge signed the same. It is as follows:

An Act to authorize the coinage of 50-cent pieces in commemoration of the commencement on June 18, 1923, of the work of carving on Stone Mountain, in the State of Georgia, a monument to the valor of the soldiers of the South, which was the inspiration of their sons and daughters and grandsons and granddaughters in the Spanish-American and World Wars, and in memory of Warren G. Harding, President of the United States of America, in whose administration the work was begun.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That in commemoration of the commencement on June 18, 1923, of the work of carving on Stone Mountain, in the State of Georgia, a monument to the valor of the soldiers of the South, which was the inspiration of their sons and daughters and grandsons and granddaughters in the Spanish-American and World Wars, and in memory of Warren G. Harding, President of the United States of America, in whose administration the work was begun, there shall be coined at the mints of the United States silver 50-cent pieces to the number of not more than five million, such 50-cent pieces to be of the standard troy weight, composition, diameter, device, and design as shall be fixed by the Director of the Mint, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, which said 5-cent pieces shall be legal tender in any payment to the amount of their face value.

SECT. 2. That the coins herein authorized shall be issued only upon the request of the executive committee of the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental Association, a corporation of Atlanta, Georgia, and upon payment by such executive committee for and on behalf of the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental Association of the par value of such coins, and it shall be permissible for the said Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental Association to obtain said coins upon said payment, all at one time or at separate times, and in separate amounts, as it may determine.

SECT. 3. That all laws now in force relating to the subsidiary silver coins of the United States and the coining or striking of the same, regulating and guarding the process of coinage, providing for the purchase of material and for the transportation, distribution, and redemption of coins, for the prevention of debasement or counterfeiting, for security of the coin, or for any other purposes, whether said laws are penal or otherwise, shall, so far as applicable, apply to the coinage herein authorized: Provided, That the United States shall not be subject to the expense of making the necessary dies and other preparations for this coinage.

I believe this is the first time in the history of the republic that the government of the United States has been called upon to aid in the construction of a monument to those who were leaders in the Great Rebellion against it. The statues are those of Jefferson Davis, Robert E. Lee, Stonewall Jackson, and other confederates.

It is plainly to be seen that the title of the act is a cunningly woven fable with intent to deceive. The project was conceived and carried forward by those who practice a cult of glorifying the lost cause and idolizing the heroes thereof. It was begun more than six years ago and why mention Harding's administration when it had nothing to do with it?

What has become of the boasted pride of the Southerner who would to the length of his purse build monuments to his leaders but would scorn to ask the aid of the government against which they fought? Would it be proper to suggest to the Secretary of the Treasury who is to determine the matter, that upon one side of the coin should be the face of Jefferson Davis, surrounded by his name and the words: "The head and front of the Great Rebellion," and on the opposite side the words: "The United States of America thus does honor to treason?"

Undoubtedly the great majority of Congress would have voted against the law if they had known of its real purport. We do not object to the Confederates building monuments to their heroes but is it not time to draw the line when the United States Government which they sought to destroy is asked to help build them?

We are still glad of the magnanimous treatment accorded by Lincoln and Grant to the Southern soldiers and there is no stint in our friendship for those who are within the limits of the former confederacy, but is it not going too far when the governments aids in extolling treason and builds monuments to those who were chief conspirators against it?

Should we not express our own sentiments on the subject and inform the patriotic citizens of our nations of this crime against loyalty? From sunrise to sunrise again we will be true to our love of America, but never! so help us God, never! shall we pay homage to treason.

I thank all of the comrades who had anything to do with giving me the office of commander in chief. I have regarded it as the highest office to which a Union soldier can aspire. Although the duties have been onerous I have derived much pleasure in the performance of them. It has given me the opportunity of visiting dear comrades in their home states and mingling everywhere with the members of the Grand Army whom I esteem as the heroes of a great conflict in which they were victorious and by which, under the providence of God and the leadership of Abraham Lincoln, they preserved intact and undivided the greatest republic that ever blessed mankind.

GRAND ARMY EXHIBITION AT THE LIBRARY.

CIVIL WAR MANUSCRIPTS, AND OLD PRINTS, PHOTOGRAPHS, LITHOGRAPHS, ETC., SHOWN.

In honor of the Grand Army veterans an exhibition on Civil War manuscripts, old prints, colored lithographs, engravings, photographs, etc., has been arranged at the Boston Public Library. Hundreds of veterans visit the library daily, and their curiosity—as they bend over the showcases—is not less than that of their grandchildren who are with and around them.

From the "View of Fort Sumter" (a pale lithograph) to the "Surrender of General Lee" many a battle is commemorated on these quaint colored old prints. On the engraving of the "Surrender" (with the figures of Grant and Lee under the big apple tree, and with the long lines of their respective armies stretching away in the background) the publisher modestly announces that "This memorable event terminated the 'Great Rebellion.' Memorable event surely a perfectly safe statement.

The battles of Bull Run, Spottsylvania, Antitam, Chattanooga, Gettysburg, the Battle of the Wilderness, etc., the Siege of Atlanta, capture of New Orleans, Sheridan's ride—all the memories of those stirring years are here depicted in the good romantic fashion with white horses and tasseled saddles, flying banners, glittering sabres and here, also, are the bodies of the slain lying in the fields. Some of these prints are respectfully dedicated by the publisher "to the Gallant Officers and Men whose valor and skill secured the Victory." Then there are other pictures showing the drills and exercises in the camps. Evidently, at the "Encampment at Neponset, Dorchester," a great many Massachusetts volunteers got ready for the southern fields. The "Independent Boston Fusiliers" in their red jackets and blue trousers seem to us so far removed in the past; and yet perhaps some of these very soldiers are with us today.

The naval battles are not less commemorated. An engraving depicts the first conflict between iron-clad vessels. The "Merrimac" and the "Monitor" are in the foreground; the other ships (with the "Rebel Tugs") are only half shown. The "Merrimac" itself is fully described on another print. We see the engine room, the wheel house, the wardroom, the turret machinery. And then prints of gunboats, the "Eutaw," "Manhattan," etc.

In the exhibition there are also to be found many posters ("Fall in Men! Recruits wanted, 50 good Men!") and photographs. The Public Library possesses hundreds of original photographs of the scenes and events of the Civil War. The Brady collection, which contains a large portion of them, in especially valuable today. Battlefields, photographed almost before the smoke had cleared, headquarters, tents, groups of officers and men, generals and their staffs. Above a small tent one reads the sign: "General post-office."

LETTERS BY LINCOLN AND HIS WIFE.

The Lincoln photographs themselves amount to hundreds. One especially catches the eye. Lincoln on the battleground of Gettysburg. In his long black coat and tall hat (which made still taller his gaunt figure) and with the necktie brushed to one side, there is something so simple and humane and touching in the whole picture, . . . this little snapshot is more eloquent than big volumes of pompous historians. Seeing this picture one needs not ask why Lincoln was one of the greatest figures of history.

These manuscripts are exhibited in the Barton Room. The letter of Lincoln to the "Honorable House of Representatives first attracts the attention. It was written on June 12, 1862, and informs the House on a matter of the California Circuit Court and its judge. Also little notes and autographs of Lincoln are shown. Next in the case is a long letter by Mrs. Lincoln (signed "Mary Lincoln"). "I am in need of two bonnets" begins the writing, and goes right on: "I do not wish expensive ones, but I desire them very fine quality and stylish. One, I wish, fine, very fine, black Neapolitan straw, pretty shape. This I desire, to be trimmed with black love ribbon, with pearl edge. I cannot have it without the latter. I send you a bonnet which I think would be a pretty style, perhaps mixed with the bow on top; some black sprays would not be amiss. . . ." And so follow the directions, one after the other. Pearls, ruches, face flowers, ribbons, through four full pages. And then it closes in the characteristically feminine way: "I am sure, I need not direct you, you will send me something comme il faut. . . ."

In the same case are photographs of Grant, Sheridan, etc., together with a letter of Grant written to his father. In the next case are photographs and manuscripts of Jefferson Davis, Alexander Stephens and others. The letter of Davis (written on September 23, 1863, in Richmond, Va.) transmits to the House of Representatives a communication from the Secretary of War "in further answer to the resolutions of August 21, about the reports of engagements with the enemy." A most interesting document is a manuscript of five pages; instructions of the Department of State (Montgomery, March 16, 1861) to the commissioners sent over to the European governments on the part of the "Confederate States of America."

Perhaps, the collection of war ballads reveals best the spirit of the time. From "Marching Along" to "Soldier's Farewell," hundreds of songs speak of the hundreds of moods of the people. It is enough to read the titles: "Stand by the Flag," "Rallying Song," "When this cruel war is over," etc. "Maryland, my Maryland," with its gallantry and tinge of sadness, cannot fail to move one even today. The confederates were disappointed in Maryland, but the poem remains one of the most beautiful among all the songs of the period. But why speak of "disappointment"? Today, the songs about "Honest Abe" and "Jeff Davis" rest peacefully side by side, on the same page of the book. . . .

After the invocation by Rev. Charles L. Shergur, chaplain in chief of the G. A. R., Judge Lourie, who presided, made the formal presentation, explaining that the tablet's purpose is to commemorate the only visit Abraham Lincoln made to Boston, when, as a comparatively young man, in 1848, he addressed a rally of the Young Men's Whig Club in Washingtonian Hall on "Why Zachary Taylor Should be Elected President."

The tablet, which was executed in bronze by John Francis Paramino, was unveiled by Miss Hazel E. Lourie. It shows Lincoln's profile in bas-relief as he appeared in 1848, for an impression of his features was taken in plaster at that time and this mask was used by the sculptor in designing the memorial.

Under the likeness appears the inscription, "Abraham Lincoln first visited Boston in 1848. Spoke at a Whig rally September 15 in Washingtonian Hall which was on this site. Placed by the City of Boston, 1924."

Mayor Curley, in accepting the tablet, expressed the hope that it may prove an inspiration to future generations of Bostonians to give finer and finer service to the American flag. "The life and sufferings of Lincoln," declared the Mayor, "should prove an inspiration as long as the American republic exists, an inspiration for courage, for determination and for right living."

"During the Civil War the men who upheld Lincoln knew only one uniform, the uniform of blue. The uniform of the greatest moral force in the world—the Grand Army of the Republic! Two million eight hundred thousand persons made possible the preservation of the Union at that time. Who were they? Were they Ku Kluxers? The Ku Kluxers were not known during the Civil War or during the World War. They are never known during any war, but they are camp followers and scavengers. This un-American aggregation of mongrels must be destroyed for the good of America."

Permission to award contracts for work, materials and supplies, in accordance with recommendation of department heads, has been approved by the Mayor.

WITHOUT ADVERTISING.

The Mayor has approved the following contracts awarded without advertising; requests of heads of departments to do the work with the department forces without advertising; additions to and deductions from contracts.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

Upon August 5 the Mayor approved a contract with the Wedlake-Lamson Company for repairing eight Christie motors. A communication from Theodore A. Glynn, Fire Commissioner, was as follows:

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—I have received a proposal from the Wedlake-Lamson Company, 795 Hackensack Plank road, North Bergen, N. J., quoting a figure of six thousand, one hundred forty-five (6,145) dollars for repairing eight (8) Christie motors. This price includes all shipping charges and all labor and material necessary to put these motors in first-class condition.

I request permission to award the contract for doing this work to the above named concern, without advertising, for the following reasons:

The prices quoted are cheaper than we can have the work done in local shops.

The Wedlake-Lamson Company succeeded the Front Drive Motor Company, builders of Christie tractors, and is in a position to furnish better service at a much lower price than any other outside concern on this particular work. They have the machinery and forms for doing this work, and are practically the only concern equipped for doing it.

Yours very truly,

THEODORE A. GLYNN, Fire Commissioner.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT.

Upon August 5 the Mayor approved a contract with the Library Bureau for new furniture for the Water Department. A communication from John H. Mahony, Acting Superintendent of Buildings, was as follows:

BOSTON, August 1, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Among items enumerated in the budget for the Public Buildings Department for the fiscal year of 1924-25 was the sum of $2,500 for new furniture for the Water Department, same having been placed there with the explicit understanding that they would assume the obligation, but the Public Buildings Department would purchase same. Accordingly, the Water Department has submitted to me a request to furnish seven special desks and chairs which will aggregate an expenditure of $1,628.55.

This is a special desk and as I understand it is only manufactured by one concern. In consideration of the foregoing facts, I respectfully request permission to award a contract without the usual form of advertising to the Library Bureau, 89 Federal street, for furnishing this furniture in the sum of $1,628.55.

Respectfully yours,

JOHN H. MAHONY,
Acting Superintendent of Public Buildings.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Artificial Stone Sidewalks).

Upon August 5 the Mayor approved a contract with Edward J. McHugh & Son for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

BOSTON, August 1, 1924.

To the Mayor of Boston.

Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Edward J. McHugh & Son, 944 Saratoga street, East Boston, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; second, the expense of construction is divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon August 5 the Mayor approved a contract with Bond Brothers for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

BOSTON, August 4, 1924.

To the Mayor of Boston.

Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to Bond Brothers, Everett, Mass., is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; secondly the expense of construction is divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon August 7 the Mayor approved a contract with R. H. Ward for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks. A communication from Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

BOSTON, August 6, 1924.

To the Mayor of Boston.

Permission to award a contract for the construction of artificial stone sidewalks in the public streets, without advertising, to R. H. Ward, 11 Glenway street, Dorchester, is hereby requested on the ground that this contractor is not selected by the city in the first instance but by the abutters; secondly, the expense of construction is divided by the city and abutters; also because such contracts vary greatly in amounts and seldom involve one thousand (1,000) dollars.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT (Paving Service).

Upon August 5 the Mayor approved a contract with M. F. Gaddis for paving several downtown streets. A communication from Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

BOSTON, August 5, 1924.

To the Mayor of Boston.

On July 30 bids were opened for paving Congress street, from Franklin street to Atlantic avenue; High street, from Federal street to Summer street, and Kingston street, from Summer street to No. 24. The bids were as follows:

M. F. Gaddis, $19,765.10; B. E. Grant

Company, $20,171.50; Coleman Brothers, Inc., $20,624.80; M. H. Loonie, $21,650.10.

The Edison Company was supposed to have completed its work on Congress street, but they have now filed plans for a duct line in that street from High street to Franklin street, which we cannot approve until their work on Pearl street is completed so as to take care of traffic; hence it is inadvisable to award the contract to include Congress street.

South street, from Kneeland street to Summer street, is on our paving program. The Edison Company, with the exception of building services, has practically completed its conduit work in the street, and the paving work involved is identical with that on Congress street but exceeds it in quantity; so that at the unit prices bid for Congress and the other streets, the total bids for paving High, Kingston and South streets will be $25,906.40.

As the season is getting far along and we do not desire to have too many streets downtown opened up at the same time, your approval is respectfully requested to the award of a contract, without advertising for bids therefor, to M. F. Gaddis for paving High street, Kingston street and South street at the identical unit prices on the bids opened July 30 and which included Congress street. The total amount of this contract will be $25,906.40.

Yours respectfully,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

Upon August 5 the Mayor approved a contract with M. F. Gaddis for repaving over water pipe trench in Columbus avenue. A communication from Joseph A. Rourke of the Public Works Department was as follows:

BOSTON, August 4, 1924.

To the Mayor of Boston.

Your approval is respectfully requested to the award of a contract without advertising, for repaving 250 square yards over water pipe trench in Columbus avenue, at the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad bridge, with granite blocks, concrete base and grout joints and repaving 250 square yards between the car rails with granite blocks on the existing base, with grout joints, to M. F. Gaddis, 2A Victoria street, Dorchester, at an estimated cost of $2,750.

Due to the very heavy traffic on this street, it is very desirable to do this work in the very shortest period and with a minimum of interference to said traffic. A period of delay to allow for advertising and preparations for advertising the job would, in this particular case, be very inadvisable.

Respectfully yours,

JOSEPH A. ROURKE,
Commissioner of Public Works.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

Upon August 5 the Mayor approved a contract with George McQuesten Company for furnishing hard pine to the Bridge Service of the Public Works Department. A communication from Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

BOSTON, August 1, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract to George McQuesten Company, without publicly advertising for same, for furnishing to the Public Works Department, Bridge Service, approximately 28,000 feet of hard pine at $67 per M. in the following sizes: 2 by 4, 1 by 6, 4 by 8, 4 by 10, 6 by 6, 6 by 8, 8 by 8, 10 by 10, plus an additional charge of $5 per M. feet for planing, plus an additional charge of $3 per M. feet for cutting to length.

Inasmuch as this lumber is to be used on an emergency job in flooring the Meridian Street Bridge, and as the George McQuesten Company are the best equipped in Boston to take care of this order, I trust that the permission asked for will be granted.

Yours respectfully,

FRANK P. ROCK,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Upon August 5 the Mayor approved a contract with J. C. Coleman & Sons Company for furnishing 100,000 granite paving blocks. A communication from Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

BOSTON, August 4, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without advertising, to the J. C. Coleman & Sons Company for furnishing 10,000, more or less, second-hand granite paving blocks at a price of $95 per M. delivered on the work. These blocks have been examined by the Commissioner of Public Works and the division engineer of the Highway Division, and have been found satisfactory for use in that department.

At the present time the price of new blocks is in excess of $140 per M. and I feel that by purchasing these blocks, that are practically new, a considerable saving will be effected.

In view of this I trust the permission requested will be granted.

Yours respectfully,

FRANK P. ROCK,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Upon August 5 the Mayor approved a contract with the Ingersoll-Rand Company for furnishing to the Sewer Service, Public Works Department, one gasoline engine-driven compressor unit. A communication from Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

BOSTON, August 1, 1924.

HON. JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award a contract, without publicly advertising for same, to the Ingersoll-Rand Company of New England for furnishing to the Sewer Service, Public Works Department: One 7 by 6, Type 20, portable gasoline engine-driven compressor unit with Massachusetts standard air receiver and mounted on steel wheels and axles, delivered at $2,627.50.

The Public Works Department have examined various makes of machines, and find that this particular type best meets the requirements of their department.

ment, and I therefore trust that the permission requested will be granted.

Yours respectfully,

FRANK P. ROCK,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Upon August 5 the Mayor approved a contract with McKinney Brothers for furnishing the Street Cleaning and Oiling Service, Public Works Department, ten draft horses. A communication from Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

Boston, August 4, 1924.

HON JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award contract, without advertising, to McKinney Brothers of Brighton for furnishing to the Public Works Department, Street Cleaning and Oiling Service, ten draft horses at a price of $350 each, making total amount of contract $3,500.

This permission is requested owing to the fact that it is impossible to advertise for horses, and selections of all horses purchased are made by the veterinarian of the Public Works Department, Dr. P. J. Cronin, who has selected these ten horses as being best suited for the work of the Public Works Department.

Trusting that the permission requested will be granted, I am,

Yours very respectfully,

FRANK P. ROCK,
Superintendent of Supplies.

Upon August 5 the Mayor approved a contract with the Brandegee estate for the purchase of 37 bay trees. A communication from Frank P. Rock of the Supply Department was as follows:

Boston, August 4, 1924.

HON JAMES M. CURLEY,
Mayor of Boston.

DEAR SIR,—Permission is respectfully requested to award contract, without advertising, to the Brandegee estate, Allandale street, Jamaica Plain, for the purchase of thirty-seven bay trees at a total price of $2,000, delivery to be made to the Park Department.

This request is made owing to a quarantine law which prohibits trees of this nature from being shipped into this country, and as the trees in question are the finest that could be obtained, I respectfully request that the permission asked for be granted.

Yours respectfully,

FRANK P. ROCK,
Superintendent of Supplies.

CONTRACTS AMENDED.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

Joseph A. Singarella has been allowed to amend his contract for grading addition to yard at the Dillaway School in the Roxbury District, Washington street, by striking out the words and figures, "May 1, 1924," on page 12, Section 3, and substituting therefor the words and figures, "June 1, 1924," so that the beginning of the last paragraph of said Section 3, on page 12, shall read: "The work is to be commenced on or about December 11, 1923, and is to be completed on or before June 1, 1924."

LAND-TAKING IN WEST ROXBURY.

The Mayor has approved the order of the Board of Street Commissioners for the taking of land for a public improvement, consisting of the laying out and construction of an extension of Landseer street, West Roxbury district, as a highway, from La Grange street to Centre street, bounded and described as follows:

An extension of the highway named Landseer street is hereby laid out, from La Grange street to Centre street, and ordered constructed.

Said highway and the land, exclusive of trees or structures standing upon, or affixed thereto, in which an easement for street purposes is hereby taken, is bounded and described as follows:

Betterments are to be assessed for the making of the aforesaid improvement.

Ordered, That this Board estimates that the abutting lots of land on both sides of said extension of Landseer street, from La Grange street to Centre street, will receive benefit or advantage other than the general advantage to the community, from the improvement herein ordered, each of the particular lots to the amount respectively set against it herein; said lots and the supposed owners thereof being shown on a plan marked "City of Boston, Landseer Street, West Roxbury, Assessment Plan, May 28, 1924, William J. ADDITIONS TO AND DEDUCTIONS FROM CONTRACTS.

The following additions to and deductions from contracts have been approved:

PARK DEPARTMENT.

Samuel J. Tomasello has been ordered to do the following additional work in contract for concrete surface on terrace around refectory building, Franklin Park. Break off and dispose of approximately 75 granite trellis posts below grade of concrete surface. Cut through granite coping of terrace wall for four (4) outlets to take care of drainage, excavate to greater depth for concrete surface near terrace wall than called for in the contract. Estimated cost of this work $175.

SCHOOLHOUSE DEPARTMENT.

Long Motor Sales Company have been ordered to deduct from their contract price the sum of $120 for the omission of eight automobile tires on the two Bay State roadsters delivered as per letter dated August 8, 1924, and the amount of $120 will be deducted therefor, making the account as follows: Contract price, $3,000; total deduction, $120; amount of contract, $2,880.

The Mayor approved the following request from the Schoolhouse Department:

The Board of Schoolhouse Commissioners respectfully requests the approval of your Honor to the issuance of an order of addition to the contract of J. Slotnik Company, for erecting and completing the new Dorchester High School for Boys, in an amount of approximately four thousand (4,000) dollars.

At the time the specifications for this building were written, the Board had not determined the merits of the type of flooring now desired. The matter has since been investigated, and it has been decided that Carter "Bloxonend" flooring is the most suitable for use where heavy service will be required.

John Bowen Company have been granted an addition, in an amount of approximately $2,000, to the contract for the erection and completion of the Theodore Lyman District School, including dampproofing treatment for ceilings, changes in kalamein partitions, extra depth of caisson piles, additional granite curb and change from wooden to wire fence.

MAYOR MOVES TO TAKE OVER BABY HYGIENE WORK.

Mayor Curley on August 11 sent the following communication to the City Council:

GENTLEMEN,—The Community Health Association of Boston, a private organization supported by public contributions, has been interested in the work of district nursing, baby hygiene, mental hygiene, prenatal and preschool work for a period of thirty-eight years.

The Community Health Association of late have been experiencing the same difficulty that has confronted similar organizations in the matter of the raising of funds for the conduct of the particular activities in which they are interested.

The situation has become so acute that they have served notice that they desire the City of Boston to conduct the baby hygiene activities after September 1, 1924, in the following districts: Charlestown, East Boston, North End, South End and West End. The conduct of the baby hygiene activities in these districts will represent an increased expenditure by the Boston Health Department of $25,000 for the remainder of the fiscal year. This work, in my opinion, should be conducted by the City of Boston direct, through its Health Department and in all probability unless the philanthropic impulse of those who have aided in the past is supplemented by financial aid the City of Boston will be required to conduct similar activities in every section of the city.

Under the circumstances it becomes the duty of the city to provide the necessary money and I accordingly recommend the adoption of the accompanying order, the adoption of which will provide sufficient funds for the conduct of these activities from September 1, 1924, to February 1, 1925.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

EXTENSION OF CONTRACTS.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

Martino De Matteo has been granted an extension of the time of completion of the contract for building sewerage works in Hallowell street between Oakland and Newcastle streets, and outlet in private land from Favre street to Hallowell street, Dorchester, from July 26, 1924, to August 12, 1924, seventeen days.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT.

The Davis Foundry Company have been granted an extension of the time of completion of the contract for furnishing castings to the High Pressure Fire Service, from July 1 to December 1, because of the fact that the firm had to perfect and manufacture testing apparatus which would successfully withstand the pressure demanded under the contract, which consumed considerable time and also due to the fact that the concern has had some foundry troubles.

CONSTRUCTION WORK.

The Mayor has approved the request of the Public Works Department for the following construction work:

A sanitary sewer of 12-inch earthen pipe in Jamaicaaway, between a point 100 feet southwest of Pond street and a point 106 feet southwesterly in the West Roxbury district, at an estimated cost of $290.

PETITIONS ALLOWED.

The Mayor has approved the following petitions received from the Board of Street Commissioners:

New England Telephone and Telegraph Company and Charlestown Gas and Electric Company, Wall street, Ward 3, erect three poles.

New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, Westford street, Ward 26, erect one pole.

Edison Electric Illuminating Company, Castleton street, Ward 14, erect three poles.

Edison Electric Illuminating Company, Woodville street, Ward 12, erect four poles.

Edison Electric Illuminating Company, Pond street, Ward 11, erect one pole.

MAYOR GRANTS LEAVE TO ALL G. A. R. MEN.

Mayor Curley issued the following letter relative to G. A. R. men in city departments.

Boston, August 9, 1924.

To the Heads of Departments.

The National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will take place in Boston during the week of August 11-15, inclusive, and it is desirable that every member of the Grand Army of the Republic in the employ of the City of Boston be afforded an opportunity to join with his comrades in the observance of this great patriotic gathering which in all probability will be one of the last to be held in New England.

You are accordingly directed to grant leave of absence without loss of pay to all members of the Grand Army of the Republic in your department.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. CURLEY, Mayor.

AUTHORITY TO DO WORK.

The Mayor has approved the request of the Public Works Department for authority to repair woodwork and iron work, etc., at north drop, North Ferry, Boston, work to be done by Murray Engineering Company, without advertisement, the estimated cost of labor and material being $3,000. This company has a shop adjacent to the North Ferry and is qualified to do the work expeditiously.

The Mayor has granted the request of the Public Works Department for authority to drive piles, block up ferry bridges, remove machinery, etc., and do certain other work at North Ferry, Boston side, north drop, in connection with repairs to bridge and pontoons. Work to be done by W. H. Ellis & Son Company, without advertisement, the estimated cost or labor and material being $1,000. This contractor already has a contract for pile work at this ferry and the work can be done by him without interfering with his contract work. Any other contractor's equipment would cause interference.
